RADZIWILL-DEACON WEDDING POSTPONED

Large Crowd Was at London Church Yesterday, but No Bride or Bridegroom Appeared.

TO TAKE PLACE SATURDAY

According to Statement Made—Delay Said to be Due to Absence of a Necessary Witness.

Special Cables to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 22.—Considerable surprise was occasioned in London to-day by the discovery that the wedding of Prince Albert Radziwill and Miss Dorothy Deacon, daughter of the late Edward Parker Deacon of Boston, would not take place as arranged.

The ceremony was to be performed at St. Mary's Roman Catholic Church, Cadogan Square. A large number of persons assembled in the church, and a special staff of police was in attendance. No bride or bridegroom appeared, however, and beyond the statement that the wedding would not take place to-day no information was forthcoming at the church. Other inquiries were made by THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, and the hitch is said to be due to the fact that an important witness cannot be here before Friday. At present it is intended that the marriage shall take place on Saturday morning. It will be a quiet affair, with no guests.

The bride-to-be and her mother are staying at the Cavendish Hotel, Jermyn Street. Prince Albert Radziwill's position makes it essential that all due formalities to make the marriage legal be observed.

There are several branches of the Radziwill family, both Prussian and Russian. It may be recalled that Prince Albert's kinsman, who was for some years at the Russian Embassy in London, left here chiefly on account of a fracas with a member of the German Embassy.

Miss Dorothy Deacon is not as well known in London as her sister, Miss Gladys Deacon, who is credited with having retired from English society in order to follow her own mode of life in Paris. Her devoted admirer is said to be the husband of an American wearer of the strawberry leaves, who no longer lives with her ducal husband.

The bride-elect of Prince Radziwill is a very lovely girl, and the young couple are desperately in love. The bridegroom-elect is only 24 years old.

Inquiry late to-night at the Cavendish Hotel elicited the reply that no statement would be made regarding the matter, which was purely a family affair, and that the wedding would take place on Saturday at St. Mary's Church. The proprietor of the Cavendish Hotel said the delay was due to the bridegroom's failure to get some necessary papers. It is said that Prince Albert went to Paris last night, returning here at 7 o'clock to-night and going straight to the Cavendish Hotel, where he dined with Miss Deacon and her mother.

PARIS, June 22.—American society here is keenly interested in the engagement of the younger daughter of Mrs. Edward Parker Deacon and young Prince Radziwill, the scion of a famous Russian house.

The couple are the hero and the heroine of a romance the developments of which have been followed with the deepest interest by those acquainted with their respective families. Miss Deacon, like her sister Gladys, is a very beautiful and charming girl, and Prince Radziwill's courtship is understood to have been extremely fervent. The members of the Prince's family, however, are bitterly opposed to the match.

FATAL ROBBERY IN GERMANY.

City Hall Shattered and Bank Looted —Boy and Thief Die.

FRIEDBERG, Hesse, June 22.—A desperate attempt at robbery which occurred here late this afternoon resulted in two deaths and the wounding of several persons.

A bomb was exploded at about 4:30 o'clock in the City Hall. The roof, doors, and windows were shattered and the staircases destroyed. The officials, who still were at their desks, marvelously escaped being killed and they made their way out of the building by means of ladders.

In the meantime a black-masked robber entered the adjoining branch of the Imperial Bank and attacked the manager, who resisted. The robber then drew a revolver and shot the manager in the neck. He seized a quantity of banknotes and some gold and fled. Having gained the street he mounted a bicycle and dashed off in the direction of Nauheim.

A great crowd, attracted by the explosion, pursued the desperado, who repeatedly fired. One boy was killed and two others were wounded. The police jumped into an automobile and sped after the man, finally overtaking him. Finding that he could not escape, the robber sprang off his bicycle and fired his last shot into his temple, falling dead in the street. He was recognized as a chauffeur named Barkenstein, who was suspected some time ago of placing a bomb in front of a prominent banker's house in Frankfort.

HUGHES TO VISIT ROOSEVELT.

Latter Denies That He Is Opposed to Direct Nominations.

ALBANY, June 22.—Gov. Hughes has accepted an invitation from Theodore Roosevelt to visit him at Sagamore Hill in the near future.

When asked to-night concerning the former President's invitation the Governor said it had given him great pleasure to accept. He added that no date for the visit had been fixed.

Col. Roosevelt's declaration in New York to-day that reports that he was opposing Gov. Hughes's direct nominations policy were "entirely without justification," caused a stir at the capital, but there were no important developments in the much muddled primary reform situation.

To say that the Roosevelt denial has created gloom among the leaders who have been fighting the Governor on the direct nominations issue would be to put it mildly. They realize that the former President's statement will undo all they have accomplished in the last two or three days in the way of winning over members by convincing them that Mr. Roosevelt had given the word to defeat the Governor's reform.

In his interview with reporters in The Outlook office yesterday Col. Roosevelt announced that he expected to see Gov. Hughes in the near future, having invited him to visit Sagamore Hill. The date was not made public.

At the same time Col. Roosevelt formally denied that there was any justification for the story circulated in Albany that he was opposed to Gov. Hughes's direct primary plan.

"It is entirely without justification," he said, "and this is the first I have heard of it."

ROOSEVELTS TRY AN ALIAS.

Wedded Pair Vainly Register at Chicago Hotel Under Assumed Names.

CHICAGO, June 22.—Theodore Roosevelt, Jr., and bride registered at the Congress Hotel here to-day as "William Throop Rogers and wife, Philadelphia," but the newly wedded husband eventually admitted his identity.

A tall Iowan who came on the Pennsylvania special with the bride and bridegroom revealed who they were.

"Know who that couple is?" he remarked to the clerk, pointing to them.

"Sure; William Throop Rogers and wife, Philadelphia, Suite B13."

"William Throop your grandmother! That's T. R., Jr., and better half. I came on the same train with 'em, and she did not call him Bill—she called him Theodore."

Reporters could not obtain an answer from B13, nor could they locate the couple about the hotel. Presently a telegram was received stating that the directory of Philadelphia did not contain the name "William Throop Rogers." Then the assault was renewed on the "Rogers" suite.

For half an hour, despite repeated rappings on the door, there was no reply. Then a young face, lit up by a prodigious grin, projected itself through the slightly open door.

"I'm Roosevelt, all right," he capitulated, "but I can't talk to you now."

Mr. and Mrs. Roosevelt, Jr., are on their way to San Francisco, their future home.

BREEZE TEMPERED THE HEAT.

But Three Deaths Were Reported in the City as Due to It.

An eight-mile breeze tempered the heat and there was less humidity yesterday than on the previous day, so New York suffered less than on Tuesday on the fourth day of the present heat wave. Taken altogether, it was a hot, sticky day, which drove thousands to the seashore. There is no immediate relief in sight. The cooler weather promised to-day by Forecaster Scarr got sidetracked somewhere out near the Rocky Mountains.

The highest temperature recorded was 88 degrees at 3 P. M. The mercury started climbing early in the day. At 8 A. M. it was 79 degrees, and at noon it had reached 86 degrees. The humidity at 9 A. M. was 54, which was 8 degrees lower than that recorded at that time on Tuesday. The forecast is for continued warm weather.

Three deaths were reported as due to yesterday's heat. In addition to this one man was killed by a fall from a fire escape, his death being indirectly due to heat. A number of persons reached the hospitals as the result of accidents met with in trying to cool off. During the day 24 heat prostrations were reported.

To escape the heat John McCrorken of 135 West Ninety-second Street, a student in the College of Physicians and Surgeons, got on the fire escape to sleep. Early this morning he rolled through the opening, fell three stories, and was killed. His mother discovered the body.

Mena Corsina died yesterday in St. Mary's Hospital, Jamaica, from the heat. He was employed in the hospital. Patrick Mulligan, a street sweeper, was overcome by the heat while at work. He reeled into a saloon at Thirty-seventh Street and Tenth Avenue and died before the arrival of an ambulance from Flower Hospital.

While at work in the fertilizer plant on Barren Island, John Blast was overcome by the heat. He was removed to Canarsie and died on his way to St. Mary's Hospital. Franz Clause, a laborer, died of heat prostration at 225 Bowery.

It was a great day for the free baths, especially after school hours. At the bath in Allen Street, near Rivington, in the afternoon there was one line of boys and another of girls, each line extending for two blocks.

Unable to sleep in his room, Fred Winkel of Mills Hotel No. 2, went early in the morning to the foot of West Thirty-eighth Street and fell asleep on the stringpiece. He rolled into the river. Unable to swim he clung to a pile for fifteen minutes crying for help. Finally Policeman Campbell of West Thirty-seventh Street rescued him with a rope.

James Gaffney lay down on the roof near an airshaft in his home, 317 East Seventy-third Street. He rolled over while asleep and was picked up at the bottom of the airshaft with injuries from which he may die. He is in the Presbyterian Hospital.

CLOAKMAKERS OUT IN ADVANCE

Without Waiting for Strike Orders 10,000 Employes Quit Work.

Without waiting for orders, thousands of cloakmakers poured out of many factories yesterday, where the proprietors were starting several weeks before the season to manufacture Winter cloaks. The walkout of the workers continued until about 10,000 were on strike up to last evening, and more are to go out to-day. In each case the strike was for advances in wages ranging from 10 to 15 per cent.

SYNDICATE AGREES TO END THEATRE WAR

Managers May Now Book Attractions in the Independent Houses.

SAVAGE AS THE PEACEMAKER

Makes Contracts with Both Sides for a Long Term—Fight Started Ten Years Ago.

The war that has been raging in the theatrical world is about to come to an end. Peace is hovering on the outskirts of the opposing camps of "independents" and syndicate, and the meetings are being held under an armistice looking toward an agreement that will be a capitulation for neither side, but a reconciliation of personal differences for the sake of the general good.

In fact, there was a very definite rumor current yesterday that the peace had already come, and that an agreement had been reached whereby Klaw & Erlanger would permit syndicate producers to book their attractions in independent theatres in such towns that do not have syndicate houses. It was said that a meeting had been held yesterday afternoon, at which such a statement was made to a number of managers, but no official confirmation could be obtained. That conferences were being held looking toward the establishment of a working agreement between syndicate managers and the Theatre Owners' Association was acknowledged, but it was stated that the actual agreement had not yet been made.

One syndicate manager, however, Henry W. Savage, made a definite statement that he would book his attractions in both syndicate and independent houses. His announcement said:

Savage with Both Sides.

"Henry W. Savage yesterday entered into contracts with the National Theatre Owners' Association and with Messrs. Klaw & Erlanger which provide that for a term of years Mr. Savage's productions shall appear in the theatres owned or controlled by them. Mr. Savage's numerous productions will thus be offered in every city and town of theatrical importance in the United States, playing Klaw & Erlanger houses wherever they exist and those of the independent forces in the smaller cities and towns.

"By this arrangement the differences between the syndicate and the independent forces are abrogated in so far as concerns the Savage productions, and those living in no important portion of the theatrical map will be compelled to miss the attractions of this producer."

From the offices of the National Theatre Owners' Association a statement of like import was sent out. It said:

"This arrangement fulfills the object for which John Cort and those affiliated with him have been fighting; that of bringing all producing managers into an agreement such as will allow them to play their attractions independently. It does not prohibit Savage or any others form placing their offerings in syndicate city theatres, as that would be a violation of the policy of the association, but it does allow them to play in all 'open-door' houses.

Others for the Open Door.

"Several other syndicate managers have declared for the independent movement. These men, for certain reasons, have refrained from announcing their intentions, but they will play the territory in 'open-door' theatres."

Although no official statement could be obtained from Klaw & Erlanger last night, it is understood that they are satisfied with the arrangement made by Col. Savage. Joseph Brooks, who is close to "K. & E.," said that peace was about to be declared in the whole theatrical war.

"It is to be peace in the theatrical business in the country," he said. "Conferences are being held for the purpose of coming to some working agreement between the syndicate and others, by which theatrical affairs can be conducted to the best advantage of all concerned. At present, so far as I know, the agreement has not been reached, but it may come at any time."

The syndicate was formed about 1896 by Klaw & Erlanger, Nixon & Zimmermann of Philadelphia, Charles Frohman, Al Hayman, and others. Its purpose was to organize the theatrical business in the country by the acquiring of agreements with theatre owners and theatrical producing managers. The first definite opposition was made by Mr. Fiske, who contended that he had not been treated fairly in regard to a route selected for Mrs. Fiske. Other opposition came up from time to time, but vanished. Mr. Fiske stuck it out. Later on David Belasco also became an open opponent of the syndicate, or the "Theatrical Trust," as the opponents liked to call the organization.

Both Fiske and Belasco continued as bitter enemies of the syndicate, with occasional assistance from other managers. They played their attractions in such theatres as they could find open to them. Then came the Shuberts, headed by Sam S. Shubert, who conceived the idea of independent theatres.

Beginning of the Shuberts.

Just as he was beginning to start his plan in action he was killed in a railroad wreck. His brothers, Lee and J. J. Shubert, took up the idea and began to acquire theatres in different parts of the country, inviting independent managers to join them. Fiske and Belasco and some others responded, and for several years concerted opposition to the syndicate was carried on.

Then Klaw & Erlanger made a venture into the field of vaudeville, and the Shuberts joined with them, providing some city theatres for the new venture. This lasted only a short time, but before it ended the Shuberts had made booking contracts for a number of independent attractions in syndicate houses.

In May, 1909, Fiske and Belasco announced that they had made arrangements to book their attractions with the syndicate, although they did not at that time desert the Independents. Mr. Fiske adhered to his original position of freedom with the consent of both factions.

Early this Spring a new phase of the war developed. Instead of it being a contest between producing managers and the syndicate the theatre owners came into the efight. Within a week nearly all of the small "one-night-stand" theatre circuits in the United States announced the adoption of the "open door" policy of independence. Headed by John Cort of Seattle, up to that time a syndicate theatre manager, the managers of these circuits organized the National Theatre Owners' Association and stated that they would book any meritorious attraction without regard to affiliations.

Savage Leads the Way.

This was followed by a partial disruption of the National Association of Producing Managers, a number of whose members were syndicate managers. Henry W. Savage, one of the most influential of the list and a large producer, was in Europe when this came about. He returned to New York last week, attended a meeting of the Producing Managers' Association, listened to arguments, waited until he had heard all sides of the question, and then brought about the plan for peace as indicated in his statement of yesterday.

SYRIANS FIGHT DUEL IN BATTERY PARK

Five Hundred People Look on as Participants Exchange Shots and One Falls.

A CHASE FOR THE OTHER

It Is Said the Duel Was Formally Arranged to Settle an Old Feud Between the Two Men.

At least 500 persons in Battery Park last night, seeking relief from the oppressive heat, were involuntary witnesses of a duel in which blood was shed, one of the participants being carried away to the hospital. These same specators were then aroused into action by the start of a man chase, which extended half a mile, and ended in the capture of the other participant in the duel, gun in hand.

The grass sward, just to the north of the Aquarium, was the scene of the fight. The men and women and children on the benches were stirred by the clamor of a number of Syrians back of the wire fence which incloses the sward. Then all but two climbed back to the roadway.

The two remaining in the inclosure were Peter Habbe, aged 34, of 288 State Street, Brooklyn, and Mehong Melhon, aged 32, of 45 Washington Street, Manhattan. It was learned later by the police that they had a long standing quarrel. They met several nights ago in a Washington Street restaurant, and the feud between them was renewed. If the proprietor of the restaurant had not come between them at the time, it was said last night, one or the other would have been killed.

Their friends prevailed upon them to do nothing that night, but when some one proposed that they fight a duel both agreed. It is said, though this cannot be verified, that the formalities were carried out in minute detail, seconds being named, formal visits exchanged between seconds and principals, and weapons and the scene of the duel chosen.

Accordingly, the formalities over, the men met in Battery Park at about 7:30 o'clock last night, and finally were left alone in the middle of the green plot, each with a gun in hand.

Policeman Lodge of the Harbor Squad was standing near Pier A at that time. Happening to look in the direction of the park he saw the two men dodging for an advantage. This was not according to the code.

Lodge started on the run toward them and when half way up the asphalt path from the pier two shots rang out and the flashes told him that each man had fired one shot. This was afterward verified by an examination of the .32-calibre revolver found in Habbe's possession.

Melhon fell. Habbe stood still for a moment, and as the people who had been watching, spellbound, recovered their senses and started toward him, he fled. He vaulted over the wire fence, and ran across the park and through Pearl Street, with at least 300 people yelling at his heels. Into Pearl Street he darted and sought to hide in the darkness underneath the elevated.

The chase attracted the attention of Policemen O'Meara and Sayer of the John Street Station, who caught him, still carrying his pistol, at the corner of Bridge Street.

Meanwhile an ambulance from the Hudson Street Hospital, with Dr. Brown, came, and the wounded man was taken there, suffering from an ugly wound in the right hip. His revolver was not found. The police are certain that two shots were fired. When Habbe's revolver was examined at the John Street Station it was found that only one shot had been fired from it.

Neither of the men would tell what the shooting was about, taking refuge in their inability to understand English. Their friends, the seconds, and others who participated in the preliminaries to the duel disappeared as soon as the shots were fired.

RICH GIRL WEDS A CLERK.

Daughter of W. W. Butler, New York Steel Man, a Cincinnati Bride.

Special to The New York Times.

CINCINNATI, Ohio, June 22.—Miss Gladys Butler, aged 19, a Wellesley College girl, and daughter of W. W. Butler, a wealthy steel man of New York City, was married here this afternoon to Hurlbert Phillips, 21, a clerk in the office of a local printing company. The ceremony took place at the Sinton Hotel, and the couple left early this evening for the East on their honeymoon. They will return here and make their home with the bridegroom's parents for a short time.

The wedding was the result of a courtship which has been going on for many years, though Mr. Butler says that he met his son-in-law only last evening. Mr. Butler came to Cincinnati last evening from Montreal, Canada, in his private car. Miss Butler has been visiting at the home of relatives in Carthage, a suburb, for the last month.

Miss Butler had been engaged to wed Mr. Phillips for a year and her father knew of this engagement. It so happens that Mr. Phillips's people were great friends of the grandparents and parents of the bride, and since her mother's death in New York a few years ago she has been coming to Cincinnati to spend her Summers.

It was the intention of Mr. Butler to have his daughter married in their home in New York, but the bridegroom wanted it performed in Cincinnati, and he ruled. Mr. Butler said this evening that Mr. Phillips will continue to work here and that he has declined an offer to go to Canada to become an official of one of the big companies with which Mr. Butler is connected. Mr. Butler is one of the official family of the American Steel Foundries of New York.

Wilson W. Butler, who has offices at 30 Church Street, this city, is Second Vice President and a Director of the American Steel Foundries, Vice President and Director of the Dominion Car and Foundry, and the Dominion Steel Car Company, and an official in several other business corporations. His home is at 33 East Twenty-seventh Street.

MISS EDITH GAYNOR WEDS UNEXPECTEDLY

BRIDEGROOM WELL KNOWN

Special to The New York Times.

WILMINGTON, Del., June 22.—Miss Edith A. Gaynor, second daughter of the Mayor of New York City, was married here to-day to Harry Kermit Vingut, a broker, also of New York. They came here together by train this afternoon and were married quietly in the presence of a few friends.

The couple came to Wilmington by the noon train from New York accompanied by Mrs. Halstead Swan of New York. They were met at the station by Attorney General Gray, a son of Judge Gray, and went to his home to luncheon, afterward going to the office of the Clerk of the Peace, and taking out a marriage license.

The ceremony was performed in Attorney General Gray's private office, the Rev. Dr. George L. Wolfe of the First Methodist Episcopal Church, who is known as Wilmington's "marrying parson," officiating. Mr. Gray was best man, and Mrs. Swan matron of honor.

The bride's father and mother were not represented in the wedding party. The intended marriage, in fact, had been unannounced except to a few of their most intimate friends. It is understood here that, although there had been some talk of the attentions which Mr. Vingut had been paying to Miss Gaynor, their engagement had never been publicly announced, and few of their friends had any idea that an immediate marriage was in prospect.

Immediately after the ceremony the wedding party went to dinner at the Wilmington Country Club as Mr. Gary's guests. Then Mr. and Mrs. Vingut took the train to New York. They said they were on the way to Setauket, L. I., where they will spend their honeymoon at the old Vingut homestead, which has been in the family since 1689.

Mr. and Mrs. Vingut returned to New York last night and drove at once to the Plaza, where they had engaged a suite. They arrived soon after 10 o'clock, and denied themselves to visitors.

Mayor Gaynor spent the evening at a dinner at the Crescent Athletic Club, at Bay Ridge. He returned home just before midnight, walking, according to his custom. A TIMES reporter met him as he arrived at his house, and asked him for information with regard to the wedding. The Mayor did not appear surprised by news of the wedding, and listened to the reporter with his usual judicial calm.

"You will have to excuse me," he said. "I cannot say anything about it," and let himself into his house.

Miss Edith Gaynor, although she has never been formally presented to society, has been reported engaged on several occasions, and several men well known in society have been mentioned as probable successful suitors. She is only 19 years old. She is an excellent horsewoman and belongs to the Smithtown Hunt Club. Her husband in this particular shares her tastes to a marked degree.

He is a member of the Huntington set, and his place at Setauket is near to Mayor Gaynor's Summer residence at St. James, L. I. Mr. Vingut belongs to the Meadow Brook Hunt Club, and has devoted much of his spare time to the raising and training of thoroughbreds. Of these, two steeplechasers, Waterspeed and Black Bridge, have been the best known.

A few years ago Mr. Vingut made a wager at Belmont Park that a man not in training could ride 100 miles in twenty-four hours. He started out one morning at 4:40 o'clock, and changing his mount five times covered 25½ miles by 6:50 o'clock. At 8:10 he started again after breakfast, and rode till 12:45 o'clock, accomplishing in this time an additional 43½ miles, and riding at an average rate of 6 1-3 miles an hour.

After luncheon he set off again at 2:40 and finished the 100 miles by 5:30 o'clock. Altogether he had changed his horse nine times in the ride.

He is 40 years old, having been born in this city in 1870. He is of French-English descent, his parents having been George T. Vingut and Sarah A. Floyd. Mr. Vingut's brother, George Floyd Vingut, is now on a tour around the world. His sisters are Mrs. Bowen, wife of the American Minister to Venezuela, and the Countess d'Este.

Mr. Vingut is a Harvard man, having been graduated in the class of 1891. He belongs to the Racquet and Tennis Club, and is well known for the interest he takes in all sorts of sports besides riding.

Mayor Gaynor is the father of six daughters and three sons, besides Mrs. Vingut. His eldest daughter, Miss Gertrude Gaynor, was at one time engaged to Alexander Stewart Wetherel, a broker, but the engagement was broken three months ago. The others are the Misses Emily, Augusta, Helen, Marion, and Ruth, the last only 5 years old. The Mayor's sons are William, Norman, and Joseph.

GOLDWIN SMITH TO CORNELL.

His Residual Estate of Perhaps a Million Goes to the University.

Special to The New York Times.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 22.—Goldwin Smith, who died recently in Toronto, has left practically all of his estate to Cornell University. President Schurman in making the announcement at the annual meeting of the Associate Alumni this afternoon said he was unable to give exact figures, but that the sum would be large. The executors of the estate will not make their report to the Probate Court in Toronto until next week at the earliest.

Goldwin Smith was a Professor of History at Cornell University in its early days, coming to Ithaca when the university was still very young at the request of Andrew D. White and serving without remuneration for several years. The beautiful new Hall of Humanities at the university, dedicated a few years ago, is named in his honor.

Goldwin Smith's will bequeathes his residual estate to Cornell "absolutely to be used by the Board of Trustees for the promotion especially of liberal studies, languages ancient and modern, literature, philosophy, history, and political science, for which provision has been made in the new hall which bears my name and to the building of which my wife has contributed."

The document proceeds:

"In confirming this bequest my desire is to show my attachment to the university in the foundation of which I had the honor of taking part, to pay my respect to the memory of Ezra Cornell, and to show my attachment as an Englishman to the union of the two branches of our race on this continent with each other and with their common mother."

Goldwin Smith's fortune is estimated at $1,000,000.

BASEBALL KILLS POLICEMAN.

Catcher In a Department Game Dies of a Blow In the Abdomen.

Policeman Gregory Darcey of the West New Brighton Station, on Staten Island, died yesterday afternoon at the Smith Infirmary, New Brighton, as the result of a blow in the abdomen two weeks ago from a pitched ball.

His precinct was playing baseball with a team from the Union Market Station, and he was catching for his side. A pitched ball went through his hands, striking him in the pit of the stomach. He fell to the ground unconscious, but upon revival went on with the game. Two days afterward he reported sick, a case of erysipelas having developed.

Darcey was 28 years old, unmarried, and lived at 5 Prospect Avenue, New Brighton, with his father. He had been in the department five years.

SHOT HIMSELF ON A GRAVE.

Arthur H. Buchler Attempted to End His Life at His Father's Tomb.

Arthur H. Buchler, supposed to live in West 163d Street, went to his father's grave in Woodlawn Cemetery late yesterday afternoon and laid a wreath on it. A few minutes later George W. Clinchey, a special policeman employed at the cemetery, passing the grave in the Hemlock Plot, between Birch and Spruce Avenues, saw the young man kneeling there and sobbing bitterly. Such sights were common in the cemetery, so Clinchey gave the matter no further attention and passed on.

He had not gone fifteen yards when he heard a shot, and rushing back found the young man lying unconscious across his father's grave, with a small revolver beside him. Clinchey called Policeman Stevenson of the Wakefield police station, who summoned an ambulance from Fordham Hospital. The surgeon found that a bullet had penetrated the young man's right breast and shattered a rib. He was removed to the hospital, where the bullet was extracted. He refused to tell why he had shot himself, and was kept a prisoner on a charge of attempted suicide. He will recover.

DENIES RUMORED ABSORPTION

Arnold, Constable & Co. Not to Go Into Dry Goods Merger, Member Says.

A positive denial was given last night by Alfred G. Evans of the old-established firm of Arnold, Constable & Co. to rumors in circulation in the dry goods district late yesterday that the firm was about to be absorbed by the United Dry Goods Companies or its subsidiary, the allied Associated Merchants' Company, of both of which John Claflin of the H. B. Claflin Company is President.

"I do not know where this report came from," said Mr. Evans. "I suppose it is a result of the rumors about our neighbors, Lord & Taylor. There is absolutely no foundation for it."

None of the offices of the United Dry Goods Companies would discuss in any way last night any of their plans for the immediate future.

FIRST PASSENGER FLIGHT BY AIRSHIP

New Zeppelin Dirigible Makes a Splendid Journey from Friedrichshafen to Duesseldorf.

TRAVELS ON SCHEDULE TIME

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 22.—Fanned by favoring winds, the airship Deutschland, the latest Zeppelin vessel and the world's first aerial liner, executed a magnificent maiden flight of 250 miles from Friedrichshafen, on Lake Constance, to Düsseldorf, this morning.

Count Zeppelin, who will be 72 years old next week, was at the wheel, and there were twelve persons on board, including the crew.

The journey began at 3 o'clock this morning and ended at noon, the Deutschland having attained an average speed of twenty-eight miles an hour. The first stage of the flight, from Friedrichshafen to Stuttgart, was accomplished at the rate of forty-four miles an hour, and the distance between Mannheim and Düsseldorf was covered in four hours.

The two most important passengers were Privy Councillor Löwe, a well-known Berlin "captain of industry," and Commercial Councillor Vögerle of Mannheim, who represented the Directorate of the German Aerial Navigation Company, for which the Deutschland was built. The ten others on board were engineers, pilots, and mechanics of the Zeppelin dockyard at Friedrichshafen.

The Deutschland's passage through the valleys of the Main and the Rhine was watched by hundreds of thousands of enthusiastic onlookers. The vessel's time table was as follows:

Left Friedrichshafen, 3 A. M.; arrived Aulendorf, 3:40; Ulm, 4:30; Stuttgart, 6; Mannheim, 8; Bingen, 9; Coblenz, 9:50; Bonn, 11; Cologne, 11:20; Düsseldorf, noon.

Comparatively few persons were assembled at the landing place at Düsseldorf when the white leviathan, shimmering brilliantly in the midday sun, suddenly came into view. Within fifteen minutes the vessel had been securely anchored, and before Count Zeppelin had time to clamber out of the forward car the Burgomaster of Düsseldorf was assailing him with a speech of welcome.

Just before sundown the Deutschland executed an exhibition flight over the Rhine and a circular cruise around Düsseldorf.

The Deutschland will be regularly stationed at Düsseldorf. Its schedule of passenger trips will be issued a week ahead. The journeys will be made as often as the bookings warrant. A three-hour cruise costs $50, and a shorter trip $25.

Herren Löwe and Vögerle express themselves as delighted with the trip. The motors worked faultlessly and the panorama unfolded as the vessel sped through the beautiful valley of the Rhine was incomparably fascinating. They predict that aerial touring will forthwith become one of the most popular pastimes.

DUESSELDORF, June 22.—During the voyage of the Deutschland to-day the passengers occupied a mahogany-walled and carpeted cabin situated between the gondolas, from the windows of which they viewed the scenery as the aerial car swept along. Count Zeppelin steered for the greater part of the distance.

The route had been carefully marked out in advance for the guidance of the pilot and was followed exactly. There was no air stirring and the Deutschland made her way unhampered through a flood of bright sunshine.

The hour and minute of the probable passing of the various points had been bulletined ahead, so that not only the people of the cities on the line, who filled the streets, but the inhabitants of all the intermediate villages turned out and cheered enthusiastically as the immense torpedo-like structure, with its whistling screws, drove over their heads at a height from the surface of between 200 and 300 feet.

The Deutschland swung gently into her landing here at noon. The city had been gayly decorated in honor of the event. The promoters of the enterprise and their guests were entertained at a public dinner.

Regular trips will be made and many tickets have already been sold for the first few days. The airship is equipped with a restaurant which will supply the passengers with a buffet service, such as is afforded on parlor car railroad trains.

Count Zeppelin demonstrated the advantage of an air route in the section of the country traversed. The Deutschland cut the railroad time one-third between Mannheim and Düsseldorf, covering the distance in four hours, whereas the railway express time is six hours.

Gen. Count Ferdinand von Zeppelin presents one of the finest examples in history of effort concentrated on a single object, of failure after failure borne with courage, of refusal to give up, of final triumph.

The Count is about seventy-two years old. He has had a career which in the case of most men would have been regarded as sufficiently full of honor many years ago. He served in the American civil war as a cavalry officer on the Union side, becoming an intimate friend of the late Carl Schurz, and when he returned to Europe he took part in the Austro-Prussian War of 1866 and in the Franco-Prussian War of 1870.

On July 24, 1870, a few hours after the declaration of war, Count von Zeppelin, with four other young officers and seven troopers, was ordered to make a reconnoitring dash into French territory. With devil-may-care determination Zeppelin led his little band of horsemen into the enemy's country. The news of their invasion spread through the French troops massing in Alsace, and orders were given to surround the German riders and cut them to pieces.

Flying through the first French village, Zeppelin's horse was wounded by a French lancer. Zeppelin cut down his antagonist with a sabre, and jumped on the fallen soldier's own horse and made off.

Through Weissenberg, Worth and a dozen other towns and hamlets the little German column flew. At Reichshof they encountered the first serious resistance in the form of a squadron of chasseurs. Lieut. Winsloe of Zeppelin's squadron, was shot down—the first German officer to fall in the campaign. Two other officers and Zeppelin's seven dragoons were surrounded and compelled to surrender. Only Zeppelin escaped.

Zeppelin served with great gallantry during the rest of the war, but soon after it was over he was relieved of his military duties in order to become the plenipotentiary of his native kingdom of Wurtemberg in Berlin and the representative of his country in the Federal Council of the Empire.

He had long been interested in aeronautics—he made his first ascent in this country in a captive balloon sent up by the Federal troops. On his return to Germany he made many expensive and futile experiments with heavier-than-air machines, but it was not until 1891 that he began to experiment with the dirigible. Since then he has given his time, his fortune of $500,000, everything to the furtherance of the one object. Criticism, ridicule, the loss of his fortune, snubs from officials, references to himself as a semi-lunatic possessed of a "fixed idea"—he has withstood it all, finally to triumph, to become a popular hero of the German people, to be honored by the Emperor.

As late as 1907 such words as these could be written about Count von Zeppelin and generally regarded as describing him: "He has sacrificed half a century of time, his wealth, his estates, his reputation, his happiness, his family life in a futile attempt to solve the problem of flying. It is practically certain that after fifty years of unexampled perseverance Count Zeppelin is doomed to complete failure. There is something unspeakably tragic in the fate of this high-minded aristocrat."

His failures continued for some time after this verdict was written, but at length the world was startled by the splendid flights made by his dirigible "No. 4," and when that vessel was wrecked in August, 1908, the German Government and the German people combined to aid the old patriot and inventor to make good his loss.

Since then he has had a good deal of bad luck, but sufficient money has been forthcoming to enable him to build one airship after another. On May 30, 1909, he made a flight lasting nearly forty hours and covering 950 miles, and a year ago, with twenty-six men in his airship, he rose to a height of 6,000 feet.

The dimensions of the Deutschland are: Length, 485 feet; width, 46 feet. Its gas capacity is 24,852 cubic yards, and it carries three motors, having a total of 330 horse power. It was designed to maintain a speed of thirty-five miles an hour. Its lifting capacity is 44,000 pounds, of which 11,000 pounds cover the crew, passengers, and baggage. It is expected to be able to accomplish a continuous trip of 700 miles.

The shortest distance between Mannheim and Düsseldorf is approximately 136 miles, but the Deutschland deviated slightly from the straight line in order to pass over Coblenz and Cologne.

ROOSEVELT PUTS IN A STRENUOUS DAY

ISN'T OPPOSING HUGHES

Denies a Report That He's Against Direct Primaries—Dines with Robert J. Collier.

Ex-President Roosevelt came to town yesterday from Oyster Bay and put in a characteristically strenuous day and evening with his characteristic appreciation of its strenuosity. Here are some of the things he did:

Made a record trip by automobile in from Oyster Bay, beating the Long Island Railroad train by five minutes; received a delegation of the Hamilton Club of Chicago at The Outlook office, talked with many othtr callers, gave an interview to reporters, attended an Outlook editorial conference, held a conference with the Scribners about his forthcoming book, took luncheon with the Camp-Fire Club, where he spoke for more than an hour; was the guest of honor at a dinner at Sherry's by Robert J. Collier, and made another speech there. He spent the night with the Douglas Robinsons and went to bed late, showing not the slightest trace of fatigue.

It was the subject of some comment last night that the returning ex-President's host at his first dinner party was the proprietor of Collier's Weekly.

Col. Roosevelt's automobile made the trip from Oyster Bay in an hour and a quarter. He wore a gray suit and a panama hat. John Buckland Bishop and Mr. and Mrs. G. F. La Farge, who had been guests at Sagamore Hill over night, accompanied him in the automobile. Miss Ethel Roosevelt and Kermit came by the 8:15 train from Oyster Bay.

The Colonel reached The Outlook office shortly after 9 o'clock, and after going through a big pile of correspondence with his private secretary, Frank Harper, he received the fifty members and their wives representing the Hamilton Club. Col. John H. Batten, President of the organization, said they had come to New York to greet him on account of the friendship the club had for him dating back to the time of his return from the Spanish-American war. He and the members of the Hamilton Club invited the ex-President to come to Chicago. After shaking hands cordially with each member of the deputation the Colonel said:

"I am so glad to have you all here with your better halves and daughters of your better halves. I hope to be with you at the clubhouse in Chicago about Sept. 16 on my way back from Kansas City. I have received so many invitations that it is impossible for me to accept more than 1 per cent., but the Hamilton Club will be one engagement that I shall keep."

After the departure of the deputation Col. Roosevelt gave brief interviews in quick succession to Booker T. Washington, Col. Cecil Lyons, Chairman of the Republican State Committee of Texas; Mark Sullivan, General Manager of Collier's Weekly, and Leslie J. Tarleton and Claude Tritton, the two Englishmen who organized the expedition to Africa and came over with him on the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria.

In his interview with the reporters Col. Roosevelt appeared to be in the best of spirits. He shook hands with them and, incidentally, with the elevator starter and a diminutive office boy who did not expect it and wondered what it was all about. For a moment the surprised youth appeared to be about to weep, but he stifled his emotion by whistling a few bars from "Has Anybody Here Seen Kelly?"

In his greeting to the reporters Col. Roosevelt said:

"I have editorial duties now myself, boys, and I am very busy, but I am pleased to see you."

"Have you anything to say, Colonel?" he was asked.

"No; not a thing."

"Is there any truth in the published report from Albany this morning that you were opposed to Gov. Hughes in his direct primaries plan?" was the next question.

"It is entirely without justification," replied the ex-President, "and this is the first I have heard of it. Now, they must not crowd that club too much, as it is pretty full already and has a big waiting list," he went on to say, referring to the Ananias Club, and clenching both fists to emphasize his remarks.

"I suppose that shoals of reports such as this will crop up from time to time, and you may take it from me positively that when I have anything to say on important affairs you and the United States will know where I stand, for I shall say it over my own signature."

"Are you going to Harvard next week?" he was asked.

"Yes, I shall be there."

"Do you expect to meet Gov. Hughes there and discuss the primaries question?" he was asked.

"I am going to Harvard next week," the ex-President replied, with a smile, "and shall probably meet the Governor, but I have written and asked him to come to see me at Oyster Bay. He has accepted the invitation, but the date is not definitely fixed."

Col. Roosevelt met eighty-five men of note at the dinner given to him last night at Sherry's by Mr. Collier. Among the diners were Col. John Jacob Astor, Commander Peary, George Ade, Robert Bacon, R. Fulton Cutting, John Drew, Charles J. Bonaparte, Walter Damrosch, Finley Peter Dunne, John Hays Hammond, Charles Dana Gibson, Otto H. Kahn, William Loeb, Jr., George McAneny, Morgan J. O'Brien, Henry Watterson, Cornelius Vanderbilt, Gen. Roger D. Williams, Douglas Robinson, Kermit Roosevelt, Arthur H. Scribner, the Rev. Dr. Lyman Abbott, and John W. Alexander. There were no formal speeches.

The energetic ex-President stayed last night at Douglas Robinson's home, 422 Madison Avenue, and will be at his editorial desk at 10 o'clock this morning.

At 1 o'clock Col. Roosevelt will be the guest of the Rough Riders at the Harvard Club, at which none but members of the organization will be present. Col. Alexander Brodie, commander of the regiment, will preside, and among the guests will be Gen. Sumner, U. S. A., (retired,) and Gen. Cooper, U. S. A., (retired,) who are honorary members of the New York detachment of the Rough Riders. About 100 will be present.

Letters of regret were read from ex-President Charles W. Eliot of Harvard, Gen. Frederick D. Grant, and Cardinal Gibbons. After stating his deep regret at not being able to be present at the dinner the Cardinal said:

"We certainly owe him a large debt of gratitude for the many and singular evidences of his good-will toward us during his Administration as Chief Executive."

After taking luncheon with the Rough Riders, Col. Roosevelt will keep another appointment and go to Oyster Bay by the 4:20 train. Gifford Pinchot has been invited to accompany him and spend the night at Sagamore Hill.

ROOSEVELT RAPS FAKERS.

Tells Camp Fire Club Animals Don't Rely on Color for Concealment.

Col. Roosevelt took another whack at the nature fakers at the luncheon given to him yesterday at the Waldorf-Astoria by the Camp Fire Club of America, though this time his comments were comparatively mild. The object of his gentle attack were those who say that animals make large use of their coloring for concealment purposes.

One book that he referred to was G. Henderson Thayer's "Concealing Coloration," which is an exposition of the laws of disguise through color and pattern in the animal kingdom. This book is founded on Abbott Henderson Thayer's reports on the subject twelve or fourteen years ago to the Smithsonian Institution. He was the reputed discoverer of these laws and gained much credit from them.

The color protectionist, said Col. Roosevelt, goes too far on this theory. Most of the animals he saw in Africa, he said, depended so little on color and pattern protection that it could not be noticed. The ones he came to know there tried to conceal themselves behind material objects, just like a man would do, and if that couldn't be accomplished they took to their heels when they saw or heard him coming.

So much for the color protectionists in the animal kingdom. Col. Roosevelt said a great deal about the conservation of game. For more than an hour he talked, describing many of the incidents of his hunt. Several times in the course of his speech and at its conclusion members fired their revolvers to punctuate their applause.

The luncheon was an ambitious affair. It was held on the roof of the Waldorf-Astoria and 230 were present. The section of the roof devoted to the luncheon was arranged to look as much like a tent scene in the woods as possible. Encircling the space was a cordon of standards ten feet high, designed by Ernest Thompson Seton, President of the Club, having on them shields devoted to Boone, Crockett, Pike, Carson, Frémont, Audubon, Hearne, Mackenzie, Richardson, Lewis, Clarke, and Kenten. Above was stretched wire netting on which oak leaves had been sifted.

The other guests of the club, in addition to Col. Roosevelt, were Kermit Roosevelt, William Loeb, Jr., Arthur H. Scribner, Leslie J. Tarleton, and Claude H. Tritton.

The luncheon was private. The hotel detectives got gray hairs keeping reporters away from the roof. Mr. Seton, the toastmaster, said in the beginning, pointing to a long-stemmed American Beauty rose that hung over the guests's table:

"Gentlemen, I call your attention to this beautiful rose that hangs over the guest of honor as a reminder that it is both the written and unwritten law of this club that things said around our camp fires are always to be held in confidence. To-day, in particular, the address of our guest is to be regarded as spoken under the rose, for this is his own wish as well as ours. Here, if anywhere, may we feel a camper's freedom from restraint and speak our minds freely."

Mr. Hornaday, speaking of "Col. Roosevelt's Record as a Sportsman," gave a brief résume of the life of the guest of honor from the time he went to the ranch in the Bad Lands of the Little Missouri. He said Col. Roosevelt's book about "Hunting Trips of a Ranchman," dealing with this part of his life, struck a "new note in the world of sport."

Toastmaster Seton presented to Col. Roosevelt the Camp-Fire Club's gold medal for eminent service. The medal bore on its reverse side this inscription: "To Theodore Roosevelt, June 22, 1910. For his work in the protection of wild life and forests and for his contributions to zoology."

SKIFF SUNK, ACTRESS DROWNS IN HUDSON

Three Companions Are Saved After Clinging to the Wreck of Their Boat.

TUG UNABLE TO AID THEM

Suction from a Tow Threw Their Craft Against a Barge—Marion Taylor, the Victim, Lived in Kankakee, Ill.

Arthur Seymour, a theatrical manager, of 549 West 144th Street, started out in a St. Lawrence skiff last night with a party of three friends from Hay's Boat House, 149th Street and the Hudson River, to row up the river. With him in the skiff, an eighteen-foot rowboat with sails attached and pointed at both ends, was Wilton Farnum, also a theatrical man, of 236 West Thirty-ninth Street, and in the bow and stern of the pointed boat sat respectively Miss Gertrude Arden of 243 West Fifteenth Street and Miss Marion Taylor, an actress, whose real name is said to be Snyder, who had come from her home in Kankakee, Ill., to visit a sister-in-law at 526 West 124th Street.

When the boat reached a point in midstream opposite Fort Washington Point, at 176th Street, a tug towing two empty brick barges passed upstream about thirty feet from the skiff, throwing off huge waves that made it rock violently, and the suction drew it swiftly toward them. The two men pulled vainly at the oars, but the tide and the suction proved too strong for them. The boat was dashed broadside against the second of the two barges with a shock that rent it from bow to stern and threw all into the water.

Seymour, who is a good swimmer, struck out toward Miss Arden. He grasped her just as she was sinking. With her he swam back to the splintered boat, to which both clung. Farnum looked around for Miss Snyder, but she sank almost immediately and did not reappear. He then swam to the broken boat and held on with the two others.

At that moment he saw a launch of the Y. M. C. A., containing two men, named Annis and Dills, speeding toward the overturned boat. The launch reached them before he did, and took the three aboard, returning with them to the boathouse, whence they had started. There they were soon warmed and restored, and equipped with dry clothes by Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Geddus, who live near by.

Late last night the police and boatmen, dragging the river at the scene of the accident, had not recovered Miss Snyder's body. At the home of her sister-in-law, Mrs. Snyder, it was said that she was the daughter of J. W. Snyder, Superintendent of a large manufacturing concern at Kankakee. She had been on the stage two years, it was said, playing once in "Divorcons" and later in "East Lynne" under Mr. Seymour's management. Farnum was the leading man of the company.

NATIONAL AERO BODY FORMED AFTER FIGHT

Aero Club of America Beats Insurgents After Internal Strife Splits Its Opponents.

STILL INTERNATIONAL POWER

Also Will Name Chairman of New National Council of Affiliated Clubs of the Aero Club of America.

As a result of three different conventions held in this city yesterday among aeronautical clubs and societies, the National Council of Affiliated Clubs of the Aero Club of America was formed last night. Thirty-nine delegates, representing constituencies from Pasadena, Cal., to Boston, met at the Aero Club last night and perfected a temporary organization which will be made permanent at noon to-day.

The new organization will have supreme charge of contests, flights, record, and aviation meets of every character in 1910, and the Aero Club of America is to retain its representation in this country of the International Aeronautical Federation and to hold the international meet as it previously had arranged to do next Fall at Garden City, L. I.

Although a forecast of the situation among the clubs interested in aeronautics in this country had seemed to throw the balance of power against the Aero Club of America, the Aeronautic Federation of America was unable to take the lead as it had been expected to do. It did capture the convention of the American Aeronautical Association, in session at the Waldorf, which was formed among the ten aviation clubs once affiliated with the Aero Club of America, but later insurgent from that body, seating all of its delegates in the association's convention after a bitter fight yesterday afternoon, and thereby carrying the point which, it had been expected, would give it the command in aeronautical matters in the United States and result in the formation of the American Aeronautical Federation in which the Aero Club of America should have no part. But a sudden change in the mood of the delegates to the association convention, and also a shift among a considerable number of the delegates to the federation's convention so altered the situation that last night the Aero Club of America once more rode in the saddle as commander-in-chief of American aviation forces.

At the Aero Club meeting thirty-six clubs were represented, with a total membership of more than 3,300 individuals, composed of:

Aero Club of California, 225 members; Kansas City, 175 members; Kansas, 80 members; Dayton Aeroplane Club, 820; Philadelphia, 30; Saratoga Springs, 45; Illinois, 800; Minneapolis, 25; Aeronautique of Chicago, 150; South Bend, 25; Utah, 10; Springfield, 50; Pennsylvania, 175; Harvard, 385; Baltimore, 76; Dayton, 60; Pittsfield, 100; New England, 150; Canton, 100; Pasadena, 75; Washington, 114; Princeton, 18; Cornell, 14; Haverford, 18; Swarthmore, 10; Amherst, 40; Columbia, 20; Tufts, 50; Yale, 25; University of Chicago, 20; University of Virginia, 30; Purdue, 9; Boston Technology, 25; University of Pennsylvania, 65; Carnegie Technology, 20. Total—3,504 members.

Following the deliberations of these delegates this resolution was passed:

The Board of Governors of the Aero Club of America hereby authorizes the organization of the National Council of Affiliated Clubs of the Aero Club of America, but the Aero Club of America is confirmed as the representative of the International Aeronautical Federation. All matters relating to National affairs are referred to the said National Council. The National Council will be composed of one member from each affiliated club for the year 1910, and the National Council during the year 1910 will consider the organization on a basis of State representation.

The Chairman of the National Council shall be named by the Aero Club of America. The matter of the location of National races after the year 1910 will be vested in the National Council. A committee shall be constituted by the National Council to deal with questions involving the sanction of National meets.

Col. Jerome H. Joyce of the Aero Club of Baltimore, acting presiding officer of the temporary organization, then appointed this Committee on Plan and Scope, to report to the delegates of the thirty-six clubs at noon to-day, with a plan for perfecting the organization: From the Aero Club of America, J. C. McCoy and James A. Blair, Jr.; from the affiliated clubs, K. Duffy of the Aero Club of Kansas; Dr. J. C. Eberhardt of the Dayton Aeroplane Club, Dr. A. F. Zahm, Secretary of the Washington (D. C.) Aero Club, and Col. J. H. Joyce, ex officio.

Following the withdrawal of these thirty-six clubs from the convention of the American Aeronautical Association after its capture by the Aeronautic Federation of America the ten clubs remaining in the association perfected an organization, adopted a constitution, and elected the following officers: President—Hudson Maxim; Vice Presidents—Lyman J. Seely, Rochester Aero Club; George W. Clark, Jacksonville Aero Club; W. R. Kimball, Aeronautical Society; Oscar J. Needham, Aero Club of Dayton; Dr. J. C. Eberhardt, Dayton Aeroplane Club, and Thomas E. Eldridge, Aero Club of Philadelphia; Secretary—Thomas A. Hill; Treasurer—Dr. R. C. Northwood, West Side Young Men's Christian Association, and Supervisor—Lee S. Burridge.

The ten clubs now in the American Aeronautical Association are the Aero Clubs of Florida, Rochester, Philadelphia, and Canada, the Aeronautical Society of New York, the West Side Young Men's Christian Association of New York, the Aeronautique Society of New Jersey, the Southern Aero Club of New Orleans, the Philadelphia Aeronautical Recreation Society, and the Young Men's Christian Association Alumni.

Three hours after the American Aeronautical Association had been defeated by the Aeronautic Federation the delegates, representing thirty-six clubs, upon the reassembling of the convention at 8 o'clock last night withdrew their credentials, resigned their membership and turned over the association to the members of the federation, leaving them the victory, such as it was.

The Aeronautic Federation of America had held a convention of its own in the morning at the Hotel Astor and had adjourned to perfect an amalgamation with the American Aeronautical Association at the Waldorf. This movement was started at 1 o'clock.

For the next four hours charges and counter-charges filled the air. Members of the federation alleged that the credentials Committee of the association had confiscated, destroyed, or deliberately lost the credentials of properly accredited delegates to the association convention.

Finally the federation delegates took their seats, and then a motion to adjourn until 8 o'clock was passed. The members of the federation had arranged a slate of officers, and prepared for the passage of a tentatively arranged constitution and by-laws, sure of success in the possession of a majority, and entered the adjourned meeting in jubilation.

As soon as the roll had been called, however, George M. Myers of Kansas City, temporary President of the American Aeronautic Association and presiding officer at the afternoon session, resigned his office. Immediately Lee S. Burridge, Vice President of the Aeronautical Society and a leading spirit in the Aeronautic Federation of America, was nominated and elected to the chair by a unanimous vote.

The delegates to the Federation Convention took this move as a peace offering and prepared to take full advantage of it, but hardly had Mr. Burridge finished his speech of acceptance when Mr. Neely, representing the Aero Club of Pennsylvania, arose and said, "I hereby withdraw from membership in the American Aeronautical Association, both for myself and for the Aero Club of Pennsylvania. I ask that my credentials be given back to me and that the Secretary record my withdrawal and that of my club."

Without giving the Chairman or his friends a chance to recover from their surprise, Mr. Atherholt for the Aero Club of the University of Pennsylvania, Mr. Joyce of the Aero Club of Baltimore, Mr. Martin of the Harvard Aeronautical Society, Mr. Duffy of the Aero Club of Kansas, Mr. Blair for the Aero Club of New England, Mr. Miles of the Aero Club of America, Prof. Zahm of the Aero Club of Washington, Mr. McCoy of the Pittsfield Aero Club, Mr. Richardson of the Intercollegiate Aeronautical Association, Mr. Plew of the Aero Club of Illinois, and for the Aero Club of Minneapolis, Mr. Loughneed for the Aero Club of Utah, Mr. Post for the Aero Club of Dayton, Mr. Harmon for the Aero Club of Pasadena, and Mr. Eberhardt for the Dayton Aeroplane Club, that order, tendered their resignations as delegates to the convention, requested the withdrawal of their credentials, and notified the convention of the retirement from membership in the association of their respective constituencies.

Augustus Post of the Aero Club of America, who had been Chairman of the Committee on Credentials of the association convention, was the last to leave the room.

The charges that had been only half uttered in the afternoon as to the suppression or loss of credentials of the federation's delegates, were repeatd as he started out.

"You will either give up those credentials and all of them like a gentleman," said Mr. Tandy, the delegate from the Aero Club of Canada, "or you will give them up in the hands of a policeman. If you attempt to leave this room without giving them up, I'll stop you."

"I assure the gentleman that I have no credentials other than those now in my hand," said Mr. Post.

"Well, he's got a telegram from the Aero Club of Canada, naming me as its delegate to this convention," added Mr. Tandy, "and I want that telegram. I propose to hang it in a place of honor in my home, and I intend to make him give it up. He said this afternoon that he did not have it, but I gave it to him, and he has suppressed it. I demand that he be made to give it up. I want that telegram."

After a heated debate Mr. Post left the room, and then the remaining delegates proceeded to make permanent the organization of the American Aeronautical Association.

FOR AERIAL WAR FLEET.

Signal Corps Officers Preparing to Ask Congress for One at Next Session.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Officers of the Signal Corps of the United States Army, believing that recent great aerial flights accomplished have prepared the way for more generous recognition of the aeroplane as a factor in war, and will lead to the establishment of an aerial fleet by the United States Government, are gathering information with which to convince Congress of the utility of aeroplanes.

At the next session of Congress it is proposed to make a plea for an aeronautic fleet for experimental purposes and for actual service in scouting and carrying messages. The War Department has observed that in Germany an airship has been constructed to carry passengers and has information that Japan has been at work constructing an aeroplane fleet, and has one machine which can carry several men at a speed of sixty miles an hour.

Major Gen. J. Franklin Bell, who is to take command of the Philippine division next December, is quoted as saying: "To just what extent heavier-than-air machines can be utilized in carrying weight is impossible to foresee. But I have personally no doubt that aeroplanes will be perfected in ten years at the most, if not in five, that may be relied upon to carry from three to five persons and probably a small amount of explosives in addition."

HAMILTON FLIES IN DARK.

In the Air Eighteen Minutes Last Evening at Nashville.

NASHVILLE, Tenn., June 22.—Charles K. Hamilton this evening made another departure in aviation.

He took his biplane into the air after darkness had fallen, flying for eighteen minutes. The attempt was unannounced, and the 10,000 spectators hardly knew what was happening until the white aeroplane had shown itself far above the myriads of electric lights in the grounds and disappeared in the blackness.

Suddenly it reappeared and three times Hamilton thrilled the spectators by dipping in front of the grand stand until he almost touched the lights.

CITY BREVITIES.

The statement in yesterday's TIMES that the firm of W. J. Nixon & Co., bought out by alleged swindlers, had a Bradstreet rating was shown yesterday to be incorrect.

Rudolph Heig, for thirty-five years Superintendent of the Newsboys' Lodging House, tendered his resignation to the trustees at its meeting yesterday. His failing health was the reason he gave for his resignation, which was regretfully accepted, to take effect on June 30.

A strike of all the building mechanics on a twelve-story loft building at Thirty-fifth Street and Sixth Avenue was declared yesterday by the New York Building Trades Council against members of a union of electrical workers not recognized by the council. The contractors for the electrical work are the Charles L. Eidlitz Company.

DIRECT TAX PLANS.

Bills Introduced at Albany to Raise More Revenue.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, June 22.—Efforts by the legislative leaders to provide additional revenues held the centre of the stage to-day.

While Gov. Hughes in his message to the Legislature when the present extraordinary session convened pointed out that in his opinion it would not be necessary at the present time to fall back on direct taxation to meet the requirements of the sinking funds created to take care of the bonds issued for canal and highway improvement, a bill providing for the levying of a direct tax for that purpose bearing the names of Senator Hill and Assemblyman Merritt was introduced in both branches of the Legislature to-day.

This action has been the cause of much comment among the Governor's friends at the Capitol. They point out that nothing could be better calculated to impair the Governor's prestige among the farmers, from whom now emanates most of the pressure under which certain legislators have been compelled to pledge themselves to the Governor's primary reforms, than to have it go out that he is responsible for a return to the system of direct taxation, which was abolished during the terms of Gov. Higgins.

The bill provides for the repeal of Chapters 147 and 525 of this year's laws, the last of which has just been signed by Gov. Hughes and which provides for contributions from the general fund to the highway improvement and canal debt sinking funds, and the imposition of direct taxes at rates varying from .003 mill to .102 mill on each dollar's worth of real estate and taxable personal property in the State, the total tax being .2705 mill per dollar for these purposes. The amount appropriated this year for these funds was $2,655,600.

The constitutional amendments under which the $101,000,000 canal construction and the $50,000,000 highway improvements were undertaken provided that the money necessary for expenses and for the sinking funds should be raised by direct taxation. In 1904 an amendment was adopted on a referendum which provided that when the finances of the State so permitted the direct tax might be suspended by act of the Legislature and the Sinking Fund be supplied from the general fund. During the administration of Gov. Higgins a large surplus was piled up, and he accordingly recommended the passage of a bill in 1906 suspending the direct tax for canal and highway purposes.

Both branches of the Legislature held brief sessions to-day. In the Assembly there were 132 members absent without leave. Five Senators were in their seats when the Senate session opened. Two bills were introduced in the Senate, the Hill Direct Tax bill and one bill by Senator Kissell of Brooklyn making amendments to the primary law, which was defeated at the regular session. In the Assembly half a dozen bills were introduced, among them Mr. Dana's bill providing for a mixed commission to investigate legislative graft instead of a legislative committee. Mr. Dana offered the bill yesterday, but it was not received then.

QUEENS GRAFTERS CORNERED

Efforts to Oust the Present Grand Jury Are Unavailing.

Supreme Court Justice Garretson, who charged the present Queens County Grand Jury, and Henry T. Weeks, its foreman, in discussing the political crisis in Queens yesterday made it clear that efforts to shift the present course of the graft hunt will be unavailing. They said that considerations of vacations and the hot weather were inconsequential in comparison with the task ahead of the Grand Jury and that there would be no adjournments until the last graft reports had been considered. They are willing if necessary to remain on duty throughout the Summer.

In every part of Queens it was recognized yesterday that the borough is facing the most important political upheaval of its history, and that everything depends upon how the new tide sweeps in as the old order gives way.

With Commissioner Fosdick's last report, involving Borough President Gresser as the next case for Grand Jury consideration, disconcerting rumors spread rapidly yesterday to the effect that politicians were working to have a county Grand Jury sworn in to replace the Supreme Court Grand Jury, from which the administration forces have nothing to expect. It was these rumors that caused Justice Garretson and Foreman Weeks to announce the policy they intend to follow in seeing the present investigation to its conclusion.

The plan is for a Grand Jury meeting to-morrow, at which it is expected a report will be made on the investigation up to date, and the Gresser case taken up. Commissioner Fosdick said before leaving for his two weeks' vacation that his investigators had not yet touched the Bureau of Highways, concerning which there are many stories of fraudulent practices to be looked into, and that there was still a branch of the Sewer Department to be overhauled.

Again The Pianola's Supremacy Is Proved—This Time by Steinway and Sons

The annals of latter-day music record few occurrences of such profound significance as the recent arrangement which brought into being the Steinway Pianola Piano.

Two Unrivalled Instruments

During three generations, the house of Steinway has built up a prestige such as few firms ever attain. During a shorter period, The Aeolian Company, owners and makers of the Pianola, have become the largest and most important music house in the world.

As a piano, the Steinway has long been world-renowned. As a piano player, the Pianola stands without a rival to dispute its supremacy.

Based on Investigation

Steinway and Sons did not permit prestige alone to guide them in the choice of the piano player with which to link their splendid piano. Their decision was based on rigid, exhaustive investigation.

The Pianola has received the endorsement of more than 300 of the world's leading musicians. It has been sold to the Royal family of nearly every land. It has been selected by practically all educational institutions using piano players.

A Proof of Merit

But—as a proof of its superior musical powers—no single mark of esteem that the Pianola has earned exceeds in actual, tangible importance its adoption by the house of Steinway.

For no single purchaser can possibly choose with such expert judgment as they. And to no purchaser can the choice of the best player be so important.

Beyond question, the piano player chosen for the Steinway Piano is the best that the world affords.

Five Pianola Pianos

The Steinway is one of five pianos into which the Pianola is built. These five—and no others—are Pianola Pianos. It is well to remember their names:

—STEINWAY—WEBER—STECK—WHEELOCK—STUYVESANT.

Visit Aeolian Hall

Whether or not you are looking forward to the early purchase of a player piano, you are cordially invited to come to Aeolian Hall—to hear and to play the Pianola Piano.

The enormous volume of business here—the largest in the world—makes unusual values possible. And terms to suit your convenience are always gladly arranged.

A Splendid Pianola Piano can be purchased for $550. Moderate Monthly Payments if Desired

POSTAL BANK BILL ACCEPTED BY SENATE

Taft's Victory Complete and House Bill, Unchanged, Needs Only His Signature.

WANTED BY POOR, HE FELT

Hence He Forced It Through, Though Neither Bankers Nor Politicians Were Friendly—May Help Panama Bonds.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, D. C., June 22.—The Postal Savings Bank bill as passed in the House was to-day concurred in by the Senate under strong Executive pressure and sent to the President for signature. Thus the last legislative step is taken toward making the postal savings bank a fact, and President Taft scores another victory for his Adminstration programme.

Several amendments were voted down before the Senate decided by a vote of 44 to 25 to concur in the House amendments to the bill. The voting began at 5 o'clock and the bill was passed a quarter of an hour afterward. Most of the "insurgent" Republicans joined with the regulars in supporting the measure in the final action on it, but Senators Bristow, Cummins, and La Follette refused to yield and cast their ballots in the negative with the Democrats. Senator Chamberlain cast the only Democratic vote for the bill.

President Taft was naturally very happy this evening over the final passage of the measure. He explained to some White House visitors that one of the reasons why he had been so insistent in advocating it was his feeling that it represented the demand of a portion of the people who had small means of voicing their desires for Federal legislation. Among these are many foreigners, who do not even have votes, but who are saturated with suspicion of practically all institutions for the encouragement of money saving except those which have the direct sanction and backing of the Government.

The President feels that it is to these poorer people in the United States that the Postal Banks will appeal and that it will encourage the saving of money by them. He believes that the operation of the system will result in the accumulation and bringing into service of a large amount of new banking money, from which the whole country will benefit. It is admitted at the White House that there was no demand for the legislation from public men or politicians, or from the bankers or business men of the country.

Bearing on Banking Business.

Outside of its effect upon the saving proclivities of the poorer classes that the new act will have a considerable effect upon the banking business of the country and the system, enables the Government to act directly when Treasury financing is under consideration.

The act avowedly aims at keeping at least 65 per cent. of the postal savings deposits in the communities where they originate. To accomplish this the funds are to be deposited, from day to day, in the local banks nearest and most convenient to the postal depositories. Five per cent., however, is to be held in the Treasury as a reserve, and 30 per cent. may at any time be invested in Government securities. Moreover, if the President believes that "the general welfare and the interests of the United States so require," the remaining 65 per cent. may also be invested in bonds.

It was said at the White House this evening that when the problem of the creation of a central bank of issue comes up the postal savings funds would afford a decided help in the settlement of the question of retiring the National bank circulation and taking care of the 2 per cent. bonds, which now secure that circulation in great part. That is only one way in which the new act may assist the financial operations of the Government.

Another way would be in the refunding of the $65,000,000 of 1908-1918 2 per cent. bonds now subject to call. Under the operation of the Postal Bank law these bonds could be withdrawn and the new 2½ per cent. bonds issued in their stead.

A third way, and the one most likely to be called into use, is that of providing funds for the Panama Canal work. The Panama bonds now authorized can hardly be issued unless Congress takes action to equalize the circulation tax. But if they were issued at 2½ per cent, which is below an investment basis, the postal bank could take them and the great canal drain on the Treasury could be relieved.

All three of these possibilities were discussed at the White House this evening and were accepted as some of the benefits to the Government of the new law.

The Postal Savings Bank bill, as it goes to the President, provides for the designation of Post Offices as postal savings depository officers. The opening of such depositories is left to the discretion of a board of three Trustees, consisting of the Postmaster General, the Secretary of the Treasury, and the Attorney General. This board has complete control of the depositories and of their funds. As it will require considerable time for the board to prepare its regulations it is impossible at this time to predict when the postal banking system will be in operation.

In these depositories any person over 10 years of age may make deposit of funds amounting to $1 or multiples of that amount. Passbooks will be issued to depositors, and interest allowed at the rate of 2 per cent. per annum. No person is to be permitted to deposit more than $100 in any month, nor to be allowed to have exceeding $500 to his credit at any time. The withdrawal of funds is to be permitted at any time.

The postal savings funds thus accumulated are to be placed in State and National banks in the communities in which the deposits are made, and the banks are to be required to pay 2¼ per cent. interest. Five per cent. of the total deposits is to be held by the Treasurer of the United States as a reserve to guarantee the payment of depositors.

The Bond Features.

Banks are to be required to deposit security in the shape of public bonds to insure the safety of deposits. There is a provision authorizing the withdrawal of 30 per cent. of the deposits for investment in Government bonds, and depositors, as already noted, are permitted to transmute their deposits into bonds when they so desire, surrendering them in sums of $20 and multiples of $20 and receiving registered or coupon bonds drawing 2½ per cent. interest and payable in 20 years. The proceeds of these bonds are to be applied to the redemption at par of outstanding bonds of the United States subject to call, and the bonds are to be issued only when there are such bonds subject to call.

There also is a special provision authorizing the investment in bonds of the remaining 65 per cent of the savings funds, but this step is to be taken only when directed by the President in the interest of the general welfare.

Postmasters in fourth-class offices are to have additional compensation for their services in connection with the depositories, and postal savings accounts in the banks are to be kept separate from all other accounts. One hundred thousand dollars is appropriated to carry the proposed law into effect and to establish the first of the depositories.

It is expressly declared of the bill itself that "the faith of the United States is solemnly pledged to the payment of the deposits made in postal savings depository offices, with accrued interest thereon as herein provided."

Children's Society Needs Funds.

The New York Children's Aid Society is making an appeal for funds with which to carry on its programme of work during the Summer months. The society has almost twice as many children to care for this year as last, and the higher cost of living has depleted its resources. Contributions should be sent to the office of the society, 105 East Twenty-second Street.

BOND BILL PASSES.

House Reclamation Measure Accepted with One Amendment Only.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—In a burst of almost unprecedented activity the Senate to-day disposed of almost every bill standing between it and the adjournment of Congress. Three important Administration measures were disposed of, and the way now seems clear for adjournment not later than Saturday. The two items wiped off the slate to-day, besides the Postal Savings Bank bill, which was agreed to as it passed the House, were the Reclamation Bond Issue bill, reduced to the $20,000,000 limit decided on by the House, and the bill providing publicity of campaign contributions.

The votes on the three measures came at the close of a long day of dribbling debate on the Postal bill interspersed at intervals when the talk gave out with a dip into the calendar of smaller measures. Under a Senate order a vote on the Postal Savings Bank bill did not come until 5 o'clock, and it was in that hour that all three of the measures were passed.

The one effort made to stave off the publicity bill came from Senator Cullom of Illinois. When the time came for the bill to be called he made his favorite motion for escape from all legislative ills, moving that the Senate go into executive session. This motion is made regularly every afternoon by the Chairman of the Committee on Foreign Relations, and it is unheard of that it should fail of adoption. To-day, however, the Senate was in a mood for business, and to Cullom's own amusement his motion was overwhelmingly defeated.

The Appalachian bill remains the unfinished business of the Senate and as such will come up automatically until disposed of. There will be opposition to the measure. Mr. Burton of Ohio will speak at length against it, though in this weather there is hope that all speeches will fall and that a vote will be speedily reached.

DALZELL BALKS GOMPERS.

Refuses to Call Rules Committee to Consider Steel Trust Inquiry.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Representative Dalzell, the Chairman of the newly constituted Committee on Rules, to-day blocked the attempt to get a Congressional investigation of the United States Steel Corporation, the so-called Steel Trust. A resolution offered by Representative Stanley of Kentucky is pending before the committee calling for an investigation to be undertaken by nine members of the House, but thus far he has been unable to get a hearing or any opportunity to make a speech on the subject in the House.

To-day representatives of the American Federation of Labor and of the Anti-Trust League made a poll of the Committee on Rules to ascertain its attitude toward calling a meeting of the Rules Committee to consider the matter. All of the Democrats on the committee expressed themselves as earnestly in favor of such action.

When the question was put up to Chairman Dalzell he flatly refused to give the subject any attention, and refused pointedly to call the committee together "for any such foolishness."

MILITIA WILLING TO PARADE.

Mayor Denies Guardsmen Objected to Turning Out July 4.

Plans for a sane and safe Fourth of July assumed more definite shape yesterday. It was announced that exercises would be held at the City Hall in the Aldermanic Chamber and also on the steps of the building in the forenoon. Mayor Gaynor issued a statement denying reports that he had received protests from members of the National Guard against parading.

President John H. Finley of the College of the City of New York, whom Mayor Gaynor appointed Chairman of the General Celebration Committee, will speak in the Aldermanic Chamber. The Mayor is also expected to speak.

Col. W. D. H. Washington, a lineal descendant of George Washington, will read the Declaration of Independence from the steps of the City Hall in the outdoor exercises which will follow the exercises in the Aldermanic Chamber.

The committee announced yesterday that it expected there would be fully 40,000 paraders in line for the Independence Day parade, which will start at Madison Square and go down Fifth Avenue, through Washington Arch, through Washington Square, Fourth Street, and Broadway, to City Hall Park.

The paraders will include 8,000 members of the National Guard, two companies of the regular army, 500 naval militiamen, 200 firemen with fire apparatus, 1,000 members of the United Spanish War Veterans under Capt. Anthony Griffin, 600 high school boys led by Superintendent Maxwell, and 250 street sweepers in "white wings" uniform with their dump carts.

REPUBLICANS PRAISE TAFT AT HARRISBURG

Has Obtained More Important Legislation Than Any Other President in Same Time.

TARIFF LAW IS DEFENDED

Congressman Tener for Governor and Rest of State Ticket Are Nominated Unanimously.

HARRISBURG, June 22.—The Republican State Convention met to-day, and unanimously named the following ticket: Governor, Congressman John K. Tener; Lieutenant Governor, Congressman John M. Reynolds; Secretary of Internal Affairs, Henry Houck, incumbent; State Treasurer, former Congressman Charles F. Wright, incumbent.

Only one hour and fourteen minutes were consumed in the work of the convention. As only one candidate was named for each office, the Secretary cast the ballot of the convention in each instance.

The platform adopted indorses the National and State Administrations, and declares that the Tariff bill recently enacted is in accord with the Republican policy expressed in its last National platform. Of President Taft the platform says:

> He has, in his own way, carried forward and developed the policies of William McKinley and Theodore Roosevelt, while enforcing his own and those in favor of which the party has in National platform declared. With unwearying patience and gentleness of manner, but with great firmness of purpose and unyielding determination, he will, by the time the gavel falls at the close of the present session of Coongress, have succeeded in securing the enactment into law of more important recommendations than any other President has ever secured within so brief a time after his inauguration.
> Among this legislation may be mentioned the revision of the tariff, the bill for the more complete regulation and control of railroads, the establishment of postal savings banks, the creation of a Bureau of Mines, the punishment of the white slave traffic, the creation of a Tariff Board, the abolition of the immunity bath, the establishment of business methods in various Government departments, legislation for the conservation of our natural resources, the creation of a Commerce Court, providing for the investigation of railway accidents and monthly reports of the same, important legislation amending and extending the laws requiring the use of safety appliances for common carriers, the passage through the House of a bill providing a complete Constitution for the Government of Porto Rico, and conferring citizenship according to the promise of the party platform, and the addition of two stars to the flag.
>
> We call especial attention to his prompt and effective intervention to prevent the arbitrary increases of railway rates; his faithful and impartial enforcement of the anti-trust laws; his enforcement of the law against illegal dealing in stocks through the instrumentality of what are commonly termed "bucket shops"; the conviction of the perpetrators of the so-called sugar frauds upon the Government, and the indictment of those engaged in unlawfully cornering and artificially advancing the price of cotton and, necessarily, of cotton goods, which enter to so large an extent into the expenses of every American family.

Following is the declaration in regard to the tariff law:

> We believe that the Tariff bill recently enacted is in accord with the Republican policy expressed in its last National platform "to preserve, without excessive duties, the market against foreign competition to which American manufacturers, farmers, and producers are entitled, but also to maintain the high standard of living of the wage workers of this country, who are the most direct beneficiaries of the protective system."
>
> Since the passage of that bill the wages of employes in this country have been increased more than $500,000,000 per annum. In a few instances the tariff on luxuries was increased, but on other articles the revision was downward. No increase in the price of the common necessities of life can honestly be attributed to the tariff, for the duties upon them were not raised. We agree with President Taft that it "is the best Tariff bill the Republican Party ever passed."

Henry F. Walton of Philadelphia, a former Speaker of the State House of Representatives, was unanimously elected State Chairman.

United States Senator Oliver was unable to take part in the convention, a telegram from Washington having called him back, as his vote might be needed on the Postal Savings Bank bill. He left on the morning train for the National Capital. Senator Penrose was also summoned, but he arranged a pair and remained until after the convention.

ENGINE HITS AUTO; TWO DIE.

Two Others in the Car Save Themselves by Jumping, Then Disappear.

Special to The New York Times.

WOODBRIDGE, N. J., June 22.—An automobile containing four men was struck near here to-day by a "wildcat" locomotive at a crossing of the Port Reading Branch of the Philadelphia & Reading Railroad. Two of the men were killed and two escaped without injury. The dead are Thomas Gilfeather of Cincinnati, Ohio, and the chauffeur, A. Morris, of 1,352 Broadway, New York.

The identity of the men who escaped injury is not known. After the accident they disappeared. The body of the chauffeur, pinned beneath the automobile, which took fire, was burned almost beyond recognition. Gilfeather was thrown a considerable distance and his skull was crushed.

The accident occurred between Rahway and Woodbridge. At the point where the driveway crosses the railroad tracks there is a high embankment for a distance of about 125 feet. It was built for a trolley road several years ago, but never used. It completely shuts off the view of those approaching the tracks from either direction. There is no bell at the crossing.

The automobile was going along Woodbridge Avenue in the direction of Perth Amboy. The locomotive was running at a fast clip, southbound, in the direction of the Port Reading coal docks. According to the crew, just as they approached the crossing, the auto ran on the tracks and came to a stop. The engineer blew the whistle and applied the emergency brakes, but could not bring the locomotive to a stop. Just before it struck the automobile two men jumped out of the rear seat. Gilfeather and the chauffeur were in the front seat.

The locomotive struck the automobile squarely and threw it 175 feet. The gasoline tank exploded, and soon the wreckage was burning fiercely.

The identity of Gilfeather was established through letters in his pocket. He is thought to have been a traveling salesman. Several letters were addressed to him in care of Dougherty's café, West Forty-sixth Street, between Seventh and Eighth Avenues, New York. Other letters had been sent in care of the Central Park Taxicab Company and the Hotel Long Acre. Pinned on the chauffeur's coat was license No. 8,848, New York. A letter with the name Abraham Morris was addressed to 145 West 110th Street, New York.

The bodies were removed to the Morgue, where Coroner Garretson and County Physician Carroll, after hearing the stories of the engine crew and spectators, decided that an inquest was unnecessary. The locomotive crew were not arrested.

The automobile bore license No. 8,215, New York, and it had a temporary New Jersey number, 66,405.

AWAIT KIDNAPPED BOY.

Dr. Scimeta Was Expecting His Son Home Late Last Night.

There was a family feast at midnight last night in the home of Dr. Mariano Scimeta of 2 Prince Street, whose three-year-old son, Michael, was kidnapped on Tuesday as the climax of some fifteen Black Hand letters received in the last three years. The boy's return was expected at any moment.

Early yesterday morning Dr. Scimeta received a letter signed "Black Hand," demanding $8,000 as the price of the boy's return. He was warned not to tell the police about it, but the writer of the letter stated nothing as to time, place, or method of handing over the ransom.

Dr. Scimeta calmly showed the letter both to the police and reporters. He seemed cheerful and at ease as to what he would do. At noon he left the house. Several detectives saw him go, but when they were asked why they did not follow him they said it would be no use, and would only delay the boy's return. One detective said to Dr. Scimeta:

"You know who has your boy, and you know that we know. But we have not sufficient evidence to warrant an arrest."

"I prefer to manage it myself," answered the physician.

Thereafter some of the detectives spent the day cheerfully in a saloon near the boy's home.

Dr. Scimeta, it was said, went to the home of a brother, Dr. E. Scimeta, in Houston Street. When he returned at 2 o'clock the report spread that the boy's recovery was being engineered through the brother. Both Dr. Scimeta and his wife were cheerful. They said they expected the boy to be returned some time in the evening, and that it would have been brought about sooner if the detectives had not been on hand. They refused to tell, however, who had taken the boy, and merely shrugged their shoulders when reporters asked whether it had been done by relatives or a creditor.

The house was thronged with celebrating relatives all last night. More celebrant than any of them was Dr. Scimeta himself. He did not look like a man who was going to give up $8,000.

HARMON NOMINATED BY ACCLAMATION

Ohio Democrats Also Indorse Governor for Presidential Candidate in 1912.

HIS OBJECTION OVERRULED

Platform Denounces New Tariff, Secretary Ballinger, and Removal of Pinchot and Glavis.

DAYTON, Ohio, June 22.—The Democratic Party of Ohio goes into the State campaign this Fall with Judson Harmon as its candidate for Governor and for President. The Democratic State Convention, which completed its labors to-day, indorsed him in the strongest terms for the Presidency of the United States after it had renominated him for Governor by acclamation.

The belief held by many delegates that the Governor will resign shortly after the beginning of his new term in order to become a candidate before the next Democratic National Convention was voiced by former Governor James E. Campbell. He was introducing Atlee Pomerene of Canton, the nominee for Lieutenant Governor.

"Here is the man," he said, "who will be Lieutenant Governor for six months and Governor for a year and six months."

Gov. Harmon tried to induce the Resolutions Committee to omit the Presidential indorsement, saying he was making his present fight on State issues and did not want national issues injected into the campaign. He was told that it could not be prevented. The resolution as adopted by the convention was as follows:

> We invite the attention of the Nation to Judson Harmon and the work he is doing for Ohio. Two years hence it will have been completed; then we can spare him for larger duties. He believes that guilt is personal—is acting on that belief at home, and would act upon it in larger fields. A high sense of duty provides his only motive for official actions, and his sense of justice alone compels his judgment. Firmness and strength mark him the man to supplant vacillation and weakness. The Nation needs a real man, and the Ohio Democracy presents and indorses for the Presidency in 1912 Judson Harmon.

In his speech to the convention Gov. Harmon said:

"The voters of the country have often been imposed on by tariff taxes levied ostensibly for public revenue, but really for private profit. But they were never before fooled by a promise of substantial reduction of these taxes broken in their faces as soon as their votes were secured. A power so insolent in its control of the law-making powers must be overthrown without delay and will be if the American people have not lost their spirit.

"There can be no relief as long as the interests which profit through tariff laws are allowed to frame them, as thus far they have always done. It has just been shown, in the most striking way, that these have complete command of the Republican Party as an organization. Insurgency is merely a protest. They scoff at it. The only agency by which they can be dislodged is the Democratic Party.

"The election of State officers will turn, as it should, on the important home affairs which are now the chief concern of our citizens. I shall refuse to be drawn away from these. What the present Administration has done and tried to do is known to all, and the question is, shall it be approved or condemned?

"But good government means the same in Washington as it does in Columbus, and if the discussions which the State campaign involves shall help the voters to elevate the public service in both capitals at once I shall be doubly glad to have had a part in them."

Gov. Harmon referred to the honor accorded him by the democracy of Ohio and the renewal of confidence, and continued:

"I shall keep on trying to make the phrase 'serving the people' a true description and not a false pretense or a figure of speech. It expresses the vital idea of Democratic government.

"A Chief Magistrate does not serve the people who uses the powers intrusted to him to advance his own or any other than the public interest, or fails to use it to safeguard the general welfare whenever it is endangered by neglect, incompetence, wrongdoing, or the passage of unwise or unconstitutional laws.

"Efforts to continue reforms in the State will have a further effect this year. The need of reforms is still greater in the Federal Government, and it can be met in the election of Congressmen. The waste of public funds which, to the extent of $300,000,000, is openly confessed, is well worth looking after, especially now, when the people, who have to make it up, are everywhere struggling to meet the cost of living. And neither economy nor watchful regard for the common welfare is possible in Washington while the reign of the favored goes on and the practical genius of our people finds such small expression in the conduct of their public business.

The principal declarations in the platform are as follows:

> We demand the revision of the present unjust and oppressive tariff, reducing rates so as to lower the prices imposed on consumers; the need of revenue for the economical conduct of the Government must be the guiding principle instead of the demands of favored interests; and the chief burden of tariff taxation must be taken from articles of the cheaper grades where it was placed by the law of Payne, Aldrich, Smoot, and Cannon, which the President approves.
>
> We believe in the conservation of our natural resources, and we denounce the Administration, and especially Secretary Ballinger, for dismissing from the public service tried and true officers, whose only aim was the preservation to the people of such resources.
>
> Instead of protecting and defending grafters, as was the way of Republican officers, the present Governor is having them prosecuted and sued for the return to the State of the many thousands of dollars secured by fraud and wrongdoing. The Governor is handicapped in the task of purifying and improving the public service by the opposition of a hostile Legislature and Republican State officials.
>
> The platform also favors regulation of all other public utilities, as well as railroads, ratification of the Federal income tax amendment, election of United States Senators by direct vote of the people, and the initiative and referendum.
>
> Atlee Pomerene, who was a candidate against Harmon for the Gubernatorial nomination two years ago, almost angrily demanded that he be not compelled to make the sacrifice, as he termed it, of accepting the nomination for second place. Although he was not formally put in nomination, he had nearly enough votes on the first ballot to nominate him. He withdrew his name, but on the second ballot, before the roll call was completed, the nomination was made unanimous. He asked time to consider the matter, and after an hour's conference with his friends announced that he would accept.
>
> The proposition to indorse a candidate for United States Senator, which was suggested by William J. Bryan, was defeated, receiving but 254 out of the 1,000 votes in the convention. The Senatorial indorsement plan had been successively defeated in the State Central Committee, the Rules Committee, and the Resolutions Committee.
>
> A move of great importance in Ohio was made by the convention when it indorsed the proposal for a Constitutional Convention, a question that will be voted upon by the people this Fall.
>
> Following is the ticket that was nominated to make the race with Gov. Harmon:
>
> For Lieutenant Governor—ATLEE POMERENE, Canton.
> For Judges of the Supreme Court—MAURICE H. DONAHUE, New Lexington, and JAMES JOHNSON, Springfield.
> For Attorney General—TIMOTHY S. HOGAN, Wellston.
> For Secretary of State—CHARLES H. GRAVES, Oak Harbor.
> For State Treasurer—D. S. CREAMER, St. Clairsville.
> For Clerk of the Supreme Court—FRANK McKEAN, Cleveland.
> For School Commissioner—FRANK W. MILLER, Dayton.
> For Dairy and Food Commissioner—S. E. STRODE, Galion.
> For Member of Board of Public Works—J. A. STATES, Allen.
>

Talks on Teeth

BY

G. GORDON MARTIN

(INCORPORATED.)

Teeth Tell the Story

You know as well as we do that well kept teeth are a sure sign of a well kept body.

And a well kept body goes far toward insuring a well kept mind.

"Well groomed" was so apt a description of a well conditioned thoroughbred horse that mankind borrowed the phrase, and to-day we see it used in speaking of men and lovely woman, too.

But there are some who insist on presenting a mouth filled with teeth in various stages of decay or, worse yet, with one of those well styled "false plates" with a row of so-called "teeth" tacked to them, that are not even a delusion or a snare, but rather a nuisance and an offense against good manners.

Yes, teeth do tell the story.

What a relief it is to turn from the one picture to the mouth filled with beautiful, natural looking teeth!

Martinolar teeth which we put in for you will be solid and firm in your mouth and will have the appearance of your natural teeth as they were or should have been at their very best, and the work of installing them is not painful or tedious.

They are the sort of artificial teeth that people who are particular will welcome.

We invite you to call at our office for a free consultation and examination of your mouth and let us explain what we can do for you.

If you cannot call at once, send for our book,

"Martinolar Dentistry."

It is sent free on request.

The reading of this book has brought us patients from everywhere.

DETECTIVE BUREAU TO BE OVERHAULED

The Mayor's Reformatory Measures for the Police Will Strike There Next.

ALL "DEAD WOOD" MUST GO

Sleuths Ordered to Turn In Records of Their Work—"Joker" In the Plain-Clothes Transfers.

Following the transfer of every plain clothes man in the Police Department to precincts where they will be required to get out and do ordinary police duty, Mayor Gaynor in his plan to rehabilitate the force, it was learned last night, has ordered a general cleaning up of the Detective Bureau.

The first step in his plan of reform was to put the bureau in charge of Inspector Russell, who has a reputation as a disciplinarian and executive officer. Inspector Russell, under special instructions has been at work on them ever since he assumed charge of the Central Office. These instructions were to find out the capabilities of every detective in the department and show just what kind of a record each sleuth has been able to make since he has been terreting out crime.

With this object in view each detective received a blank form yesterday to fill out and turn in to the Inspector. On this form every man has to write his name, the time he was appointed to the force, the number of arrests he made in 1909 and so far in 1910, the number of convictions he procured, the number of his prisoners discharged, and the number of his cases that are still pending in the courts. There is also room for him to note what special work he has performed and the work on which he is now engaged.

A Record of Sleuths.

These blanks properly filled out must be returned by June 25. They will not only be used in determining the value of a sleuth, but will form the basis for promotion of the more capable.

In his detective bureau reforms, it is said, the Mayor has not worked very closely with Commissioner Baker, as it is the Mayor's opinion, it is said, that Commissioner Baker has his hands full in taking care of all the other branches.

After carefully digesting the contents of Commissioner Baker's special order issued on Tuesday night transferring them, the 203 plain clothes men yesterday did not think that their lot was cast along such hard lines as had appeared at first.

They found what they were pleased to term a "joker" in the proceedings, and when they appeared last night at the various stations, many in ill-fitting uniforms that had not done duty for years and others in garments with the crease of the tailor still on them, they winked at each other, grabbed their clubs, and started to their posts. They had found that instead of going to new inspection districts they were shifted only to different precincts. Thus the Inspectors whom many have served for long periods will continue to control their destinies. Under departmental rules an Inspector or Captain has power to assign a policeman to plain clothes duty for twenty-four hours, with the right to extend it another twenty-four. Should he want him fo reven a longer period all the Inspector or Captain will have to do is to apply to the Commissioner and give a good reason for the extension of the assignment.

The plain clothes men believe that when public interest in the transfers has died down they will take up their duties as formerly under the general term of "special orders."

Commissioner Baker did not seem to be greatly disturbed over this phase of his order when it was pointed out to him yesterday. He appeared to think that in carrying out Mayor Gaynor's orders literally as he had done in shifting the plain-clothes men, no matter for how short a distance, he had accomplished all that was necessary in the matter of reform.

The Commissioner feels that in transferring the men to separate precincts any grafting they might have been guilty of can now be stopped. The Commissioner also feels that in keeping the men in the same inspection districts he will eb able to make full use of their knowledge of conditions with which they are familiar. If they had been sent to remote districts they could not be called upon readily to give this knowledge.

License of Inspectors.

"There is nothing to prevent an Inspector from using his old plain clothes men in any way he sees fit," said a police official yesterday. "He has the power to assign them to plain clothes duty for forty-eight hours, and he can get this time extended indefinitely by simply applying to the Commissioner.

What should have been done was to have the plain clothes men scattered far from the scenes of their former work, so that if an Inspector needed a man to do plain clothes work he would have to pick one he was not intimately acquainted with. In no other way will it be possible to do away with the objectionable features of the plain clothes system."

Since Mayor Gaynor has gone on record as favoring the abolishment of the plain clothes system there was much speculation in the department yesterday regarding his probable attitude when he discovers the limitations of the orders as propounded by Commissioner Baker.

Commissioner Baker made public yesterday this letter from E. H. Gary, President of the United States Steel Corporation, praising the work of the Police Department during the Roosevelt reception last Saturday:

My Dear Commissioner Baker: I feel impelled to write you promptly an expression of my grateful appreciation of the splendid work done by the New York Police Department during the Roosevelt reception on Saturday last. For your personal and considerate attention to the subject matter, and your co-operation with our committee, and the ability, tact, and judgment shown, please accept my thanks. We feel very much indebted to you and your assistants for the services rendered and without which our success would not have been possible. Also please express to Col. Bugher the thanks of the committee.

I gave much attention to the work of the Police Department as exhibited at the various localities involved. It was simply magnificent. Every man was a gentleman, and his treatment was kind toward every one, and yet, at the same time, the greatest firmness and efficiency were displayed. I think New York has a Police Department which, for competency and merit, has never been excelled. I congratulate you and all under you. With kind regards I am yours very sincerely, E. H. GARY.

Mayor Gaynor, it is said, was also greatly pleased with the showing made by the police on this occasion.

BAKER MOVES FOUR CAPTAINS.

Palmer, Fennelly, Walling, O'Connor Shifted for "Good of the Service."

Commissioner Baker sent out an order last night transferring four police Captains and one Acting Captain for the "good of the service." Capt. Palmer goes from the Mulberry Street Station to the West Forty-seventh Street, replacing Capt. Fennelly, who is transferred to the Far Rockaway Precinct. Capt. Walling is brought back from Far Rockaway and put in the Mulberry Street Station. Acting Capt. O'Connor is shifted from the Leonard Street Station to Glendale, L. I., and Capt. O'Connor comes from Glendale to the Leonard Street Precinct.

Policemen were more puzzled last night by the transfer of Capt. Palmer than by any of the others. Under Commissioner Bingham Palmer made a record at Coney Island and he was considered "a Bingham man." The West Forty-seventh Street Station over which he takes command is known as the new Tenderloin and is looked upon as one of the "choicest" precincts in the city.

Capt. Fennelly made a rapid rise under Commissioner Bingham, who made him an Acting Captain and put him in charge of Brooklyn's Tenderloin. He made a record there as a reformer. He replaced Capt. Palmer in Coney Island. Capt. Walling got into disfavor with the Bingham régime over a controversy he had with a Deputy Commissioner, and was sent to Far Rockaway. His new post, Mulberry Street, is considered to be in the nature of a reward.

Capt. O'Connor was an Acting Inspector in Manhattan for a time under Commissioner Bingham, who put him in charge of the Second Inspection District, covering the lower west side. He was reduced later by Bingham and sent to Glendale.

NEW JERSEY ATTACKS RATES.

Attorney General Will Appeal to Inter-State Commission for a Suspension.

TRENTON, N. J., June 22.—As a result of resolutions adopted by the State Railroad Commission and a conference with Gov. Fort, Attorney General Wilson will go to Washington to-morrow and ask the Inter-State Commerce Commission to restrain the Pennsylvania, Jersey Central, Erie, and Lackawanna Railroads from raising the present commutation rates. He will seek the enforcement of the law recently passed by Congress authorizing the Inter-State Commerce Commission to suspend any proposed railroad increase pending an investigation.

This course has been adopted because most of the complaints filed by commuters have to do with inter-State traffic. In the case of the Erie a different course may be taken as a result of a merger of that road with the New York, Susquehanna & Western Railroad in 1898, which was authorized by the Legislature on condition that no increase in rates would be made. If this law is still in vogue the Attorney General will seek an injunction from the Court of Chancery restraining the Erie from advancing its rates. The Erie asserts the law is not in force now.

For several weeks there has been a cry from certain quarters to convene the Legislature in special session and give to the Utility Board power over rates.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Gov. Fort of New Jersey this afternoon notified the Inter-State Commerce Commission by telegraph that the State of New Jersey had forwarded complaints against various railroads alleging excessive commutation passenger rates and requesting that the commission suspend those rates until after full inquiry.

The increases in rates vary from 3½ per cent. to about 40 per cent., and they are to become effective on dates ranging from June 26 to July 5.

NEW PLEA BY COMMUTERS.

Raise Technical Objections to Central and New Haven's Increases.

After a meeting of Directors of the Westchester County Chamber of Commerce, held yesterday afternoon in the Transportation Club, it was announced that complaints had been filed with the Public Service Commission against the New York Central Railroad and the New Haven Road, raising legal points over the notice of increase in commutation rates.

The Chamber of Commerce has been informed that the Public Service Commission has examined the complaint and given the railroads five days to prepare an answer.

Daniel P. Hays, Chairman of the Railroad Investigations Committee informed the Directors that Public Service Commissioner Frank A. Stevens had agreed to meet the Westchester commuters informally to-day and hear their opinions. The meeting will take place at the Bar Association at 10 o'clock this morning, and it is planned that two representatives from each village, town, and city in Westchester County will attend, as well as delegations from all the civic associations.

Secretary Herbert E. Angell said yesterday that a month's delay might be obtained on the new complaint, and that this would give the Westchester commuters time to organize and decide whether they should continue the fight.

EAST RIVER FERRIES AGAIN.

Contract for a Private Company to Operate Them Is Finally Approved.

The Sinking Fund Commission finally approved a form of contract yesterday to bring about the resumption of the ferry service on the East River between Broadway, Brooklyn, and Twenty-third and Roosevelt Streets, Manhattan. The principal part of the contract provides for the acquisition by the city of the terminal property on the Brooklyn side of the river.

The ferries will be operated by a private company, however, receiving from the city a bonus of $11,000 a month. It is estimated that the operating expenses will be at least $25,000 a month. The franchise, for which the city will receive 5 per cent. of the net earnings, will run for ten years, with a ten-year renewal privilege.

The municipal ferries have cost the city a great deal of money, the entire system having a deficit of nearly $1,000,000 a year. Therefore this plan of subsidizing a private company was determined upon as cheaper.

The Mayor opposed the petition of the Justices of the Supreme Court of Kings County to the commission for room in which to hold four additional parts. He said he believed plenty of room could be found in the Brooklyn Court House for the new courts. The matter was referred to the Controller for investigation.

SUFFRAGETTES ROUT BOY AND SQUIRTGUN

A Policeman Helped, but Mrs. Montefiore Didn't Stop Her Speech for Mere Water.

GROWN-UP ANNOYER, TOO

Englishwoman Tells Harlem Crowd That Lack of Responsibility Endangers Wealthy Women Here.

Mrs. Dora B. Montefiore, an Englishwoman and a suffragette, was the centre of not a little excitement at Fifth Avenue and 110th Street last night. She had been invited by the Harlem branch of the Political Equality Association, of which Mrs. O. H. P. Belmont is President, to make the principal address at an open-air suffrage meeting, the first of a series which are to be held each week in the Summer months.

Mrs. Montefiore would have got along all right had not an east side urchin directed a tiny stream of water from a squirtgun at her shortly after she began to speak. It was disconcerting, bu tit did not prevent Mrs. Montefiore from saying what she had to say. One of the things she told the east side crowd which gathered around the speaker's stand was that the wealthy women of the United States have power without responsibility.

"It's the curse of this country," she said. "We must give these American women of wealth responsibility, and we will do so."

Miss Nettie A. Podell, head of the association's Harlem branch, arranged for the meeting. She asked Mrs. Montefiore and Mrs. Harriett Johnston-Wood, the woman lawyer, to speak, and the plaza at Fifth Avenue and 110th Street was half filled with residents of the east side out for an airing when the speakers appeared and walked to where an empty box had been placed near the curb. A dark blue banner with "Votes for Women" in white letters across it was stretched between two trees at the back of the platform, and Miss Podell began to speak. She explained the purpose of the meeting and introduced Mrs. Montefiore.

"I see by your faces that you come from almost all the countries of the world," began Mrs. Montefiore.

Oh, no, we don't," yelled a small boy on the outskirts of the crowd. "We're true born American citizens."

"But I know you do come from the other countries of the world," insisted Mrs. Montefiore, "and in those other countries as well as here the movement for woman suffrage has been started In Finland they have won it already."

It was then that the small boy aimed his squirt gun at the speaker, and she hastily clapped her hand to her cheek as the little stream of water landed.

"Will some gentle person kindly refrain from doing that?" asked Mrs. Montefiore.

Policeman Albinger of the East 104th Street Station arrived at that juncture, and chased the boy with the squirt gun away.

Mrs. Montefiore told a crowd of about 300 that the women were not getting their fair share of the wages in this country, nor fair consideration from the men. She said that while visiting a large printing house on Tuesday she was informed that the girls employed there received from $3.50 a week up. It was not a living wage, she said. She also told how she refused a few years ago in England to pay the income tax, and succeeded in standing off the bailiff for six months, until he finally got an order from the King and tore down her doors, tok away the furniture, and scld it.

Then Mrs. Johnston-Wood told the children to go home and tell their mothers to take up the cudgel for women's rights. One man in the crowd exclaimed:

"If you women want to get recognition why don't you organize in every district in the city?"

Mrs. Johnston-Wood told him they were doing so. Just then the policeman grabbed him by the collar and hustled him away.

Miss Elizabeth Mosh was another speaker, and then came time for Mrs. Montefiore to answer questions. But no one in the crowd had any to ask, so the meeting broke up.

Physician Proves a Poor Lawyer.

When Dr. Mark I. Knapp attempted yesterday to act as his own lawyer and witness in the Supreme Court, Justice Gerard dismissed his complaint and discharged the jury. Dr. Knapp was suing his wealthy father-in-law, Adolph Schlesinger, on an alleged prenuptial agreement to supply him with money.

The complete electric lighting of all Burlington Route Through Trains became effective June 1. In the history of American railroading no such extensive and costly improvement of coach lighting has even been attempted up to this time.

To inaugurate this service, it has been necessary to entirely re-equip, electrically, seventy-two complete trains and practically all the reserve passenger equipment of the entire Burlington system, consisting of locomotives, baggage cars, mail cars, coaches, chair cars, dining cars, sleeping cars and observation cars.

The dynamo system of electric lighting—the most satisfactory known—is used. An electric dynamo installed in the baggage car of each train generates the current and supplies the entire train with a brilliant, steady light, not only when the train is in motion, but also when standing still. Furthermore, a skilled electrician is on duty on each of these trains for its entire run, to see that the train is properly lighted, ventilated and heated, both by day and by night. On the trains of no other railroad are exclusive train electricians carried.

These electric lighted trains operate between Chicago, St. Louis, St. Paul, Minneapolis, Omaha, Kansas City, St. Joseph, Denver, Billings, Spokane, Seattle, Tacoma, Portland and intermediate points.

If you are going west or northwest, on business or pleasure, let me quote you rates, send you attractive folders and tell you about these splendid electric lighted trains. It is my business to assist you, and without charge. Just drop me a postal saying where you are going.

Smith Gray & Co.
Foremost Clothiers Since 1845.

From time immemorial there has always been associated with the general run of Summer clothes for men the thought of shapelessness and untidiness, the idea prevailing that of necessity appearance needs be sacrificed for the sake of comfort.

In the 65 Summers which Smith Gray & Co. have seen a degree of perfection in the tailoring of Smith Gray Summer comfort clothes has been reached which has placed their product in a class by itself.

In individuality, style and the quality of shape retention they vie with medium and heavier weight Smith Gray garments—in comfort and appearance combined they excel any lightweight ready for service garments made.

Smith Gray two-garment Suits in hundreds of exclusive designs, in the lightest woolen and worsted fabrics, are 15.00 to 30.00.

Then, too, there are complete assortments, including crash, linen, flannel and khaki suits and extra trousers in all sizes and models.

Our recent reorganization occasioned the closing of our tailor shops during the readjustment of our affairs, and, in consequence, thousands of men's, young men's and boys' Summer suits which should have been finished and on our counters many months ago are only now ready.

And so Smith Gray Summer suits are to be had at prices which have never been equaled in the Smith Gray stores in all our history.

SPANISH RUPTURE WITH VATICAN NEAR

Reply of Rome to Premier Canalejas's Proposals Believed to be Unsatisfactory.

CLERICALS THREATEN WAR

Say They Prefer to Fight Rather Than Permit Laic School System—Pardon for 1,000 Revolutionists.

MADRID, June 22.—It is believed that a rupture is imminent in the negotiations between the Government and the Vatican on the subject of the Church and non-Catholic religious societies.

Premier Canalejas has received by telegraph a summary of the Vatican's reply to his proposals, and he has had a conference with the King for the purpose of discussing future action. It is understood that the Vatican's reply is unsatisfactory.

A semi-official note recently issued intimated that if the Vatican insisted on coupling its protest against the royal decree of June 11 with the negotiations to revise the Concordat, the Government would be obliged to break off all negotiations. Prior to the issuance of this note the Premier declared in the Chamber of Deputies that the Government was resolved to live up to the Constitution and to settle the religious question from the standpoint of reform.

At a meeting of the Catholic defence societies it was announced that before the policies outlined in the speech from the throne were permitted to become law Spain would have to undergo a perilous crisis, as Catholics preferred civil war to the laic school system.

Clerical agitation is growing in Barcelona and Seville, while the Clerical party in Madrid has begun a strong campaign against the Ministry.

The Government to-day closed seven schools conducted by the Order of Christian Brothers. The action was taken in fulfillment of the royal decree of May 31, which directed that unauthorized religious orders seek immediate authorization under the law of 1887 on pain of dissolution and the closing of their establishments.

Pending the passage by the Cortes of a general amnesty measure, Premier Canalejas has authorized the repatriation, without punishment, of 1,000 revolutionary sympathizers who, following the revolt in the Catalonian provinces last year, fled from the country and found a refuge at Perpignan, France.

The misery which they suffered was so great that they decided recently to return to Spain regardless of consequences.

Since the association's law was passed in France, Spain, and Austria have been the principal strongholds of the Roman Catholic Church in Europe, and now the present Spanish Government is following the example of the Combes Ministry in France, and is introducing legislation with a view to the separation of Church and State.

At a council of the Spanish Ministers, held last June 8, the Premier, Señor Canalejas, set forth the necessity of fulfilling the undertakings given by the Government in regard to religion. King Alfonso, it is said, acquiesced in this view, and asked what steps were necessary.

The Prime Minister suggested the repeal of all decrees which interpret Article XI. of the Spanish Constitution in the sense of prohibiting non-Catholics from publicly exercising their religion. He also suggested the repeal of the decree of Oct. 23, 1876, forbidding meetings of any dissident sects.

A royal decree was issued three days later embodying these suggestions, and the Holy See immediately protested. It also insisted on coupling this protest with the negotiations for the revision of the Concordat.

TO BE THE BIGGEST SHIP.

Kaiser Sees Plans of Vessel to be Built by Hamburg-American Line.

HAMBURG, June 22.—Arriving here from Potsdam to-day, Emperor William lunched with Albert Ballin, Director General of the Hamburg-American Steamship Line, and Marine Constructor Mewes, who explained to the Emperor the plans of the new steamer which the company has decided to build immediately.

This will be the largest steamship in the world, having a length between perpendiculars of 876 feet and a breadth of 85½ feet. From keel to upper deck she will measure 64 feet. She will have a speed of 22 knots, and will be twice the tonnage of the Kaiserin Auguste Victoria.

The Emperor showed great interest in the detailed plans of the vessel, which were shown in views by the stereopticon. Later he presented to Herr Ballin a bronze bust of himself.

POTSDAM, June 22.—Emperor William started at 8 o'clock this morning by train for Hamburg on his way to attend the yachting regatta at Kiel.

He will board the imperial yacht Hohenzollern at Altona.

As his Majesty stepped out of the new palace he appeared somewhat pale, but he walked without limping. It is understood that the inflammation of his right knee joint is nearly healed.

TO AID FRENCH BIRTH RATE.

Measures Introduced in Parliament—One Repeals the Estate Law.

PARIS, June 22.—A series of measures designed to stimulate the birth rate in France was introduced in Parliament to-day.

They include the imposition of additional military service upon bachelors over 20 years of age, making obligatory the marriage of State employes who have reached the age of 25 years, with supplementary salaries and pension allowances for those with more than three children, and the repeal of the law requiring the equal distribution of estates among the children.

The dislike of Frenchmen to dividing their property is a frequent cause of restricted families, according to those who have made a study of the subject.

The proposed legislation follows the recent publication of vital statistics which showed that the births in the republic in 1909 were 770,000, against 792,000 in the preceding year, and that the population has been increased by only 3,000,000 since 1851.

Nationalists Give Dinner to Bryan.

LONDON, June 22.—John E. Redmond, leader of the Irish Parliamentary Party, and other noted Nationalists, gave a dinner to-night in honor of William Jennings Bryan at the House of Commons.

Expulsion of Jews Continues.

KIEFF, June 22.—Sixteen Jews were expelled to-day from Kieff, twelve from Solomenka, and eight from Demieffka.

Notes of Foreign Affairs.

BERLIN, June 22.—A Russian workman is ill at the Government immigrant station at Ruhleben with symptoms suggesting cholera. The Prussian health administration is detaining all of the immigrants assembled at the station for medical examination pending a determination of the character of the suspected case.

PLYMOUTH, England, June 22.—The American special service squadron, having on board 500 midshipmen from the United States Naval Academy, who are making the usual Summer practice cruise, will, it is expected, arrive here early to-morrow. The squadron is made up of the battleships Indiana, flagship of Rear Admiral Clark; the Massachusetts, and the Iowa.

VALPARAISO, June 22.—The United States cruiser South Dakota, which visited this port for a few days, sailed to-day for Talcahuano, Chile.

TRIUMPH FOR AMERICANS.

German Campaign of Slander Against Vacuum Oil Company Fails.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, June 22.—The long and venomous campaign waged by German newspapers and rival industrial interests against one of the German branches of the Standard Oil Company—the Deutsche Vacuum Oil Company—has just been brought to a victorious end for the Americans involved.

A well-known Hamburg newspaper for months printed such a series of attacks on the "American graft methods" alleged to have been practiced by the vacuum company in the conduct of its German business that the public prosecutor of Hamburg felt constrained to make an official investigation with a view to eventual indictments. The prosecutor has now concluded his investigation, especially of the work of E. L. Quarles, American manager of the German company's sales department, and announces that no necessity exists for pursuing the inquiry further.

No evidence of anything warranting prosecution was found against Mr. Quarles, and the costs of the entire inquiry will be borne by the State.

The result of the investigation constitutes a notable triumph for American interests in Germany.

It is not the first time that Germans, finding themselves unable to compete with Americans on ordinary terms, have resorted to slander.

ACCEPT BOSTON INVITATION.

International Congress of Chambers of Commerce There in 1912.

LONDON, June 22.—The International Congress of Chambers of Commerce to-day accepted by acclamation an invitation to hold the session of 1912 in Boston, Mass.

The invitation was extended through Frank D. Lalanne of Philadelphia, the President of the National Board of Trade of the United States, and was supported by Sir Alfred Edmund Bateman, representing the British Government, who said that it would be a matter of satisfaction to the Government if the next meeting were held in Boston, which they regarded as the "Hub of culture" as well as a great city of commerce.

Mr. Lalanne, on behalf of the organization of which he is President, introduced a resolution recommending the establishment of a Permanent Court of Arbitral Justice, as proposed to the powers by Secretary Knox. The resolution will be discussed to-morrow.

PLUVIOSE MEN'S FUNERAL.

French President and Premier and American Naval Attache Present.

CALAIS, June 22.—An impressive funeral service was held to-day for the crew of the French submarine Pluviose, who lost their lives when their vessel was sunk by a cross-Channel steamer off this port on May 26.

President Fallières, the members of the Cabinet, deputations from Parliament, and the foreign naval attachés, including Lieut. Commander Chapin of the American service, followed the cortège of twenty-seven gun carriages and its escort of sailors and soldiers to Notre Dame.

Following the religious ceremony, which was conducted by the Archbishop, the procession returned to the mortuary chapel, where addresses were made by the President, Premier Briand, and the Mayor of Calais.

Another Missionary Conference.

EDINBURGH, June 22.—At to-day's session of the World Missionary Conference the report of the commission on "The Preparation of Missionaries" was presented by the Chairman of the commission, the Rev. Dr. Douglas Mackenzie, President of the Hartford Theological Seminary at Hartford, Conn. The conference appointed a committee to arrange for another world conference when expedient. The committee is composed of thirty-five members, ten of whom are Americans.

THOS. F. RYAN TELLS OF HIS CONGO WORK

Also Discusses Men and Things in a Prepared Interview Given Out After He Sails.

NOT OUT FOR THE SENATE

Speaking of Mr. Morgan, He Says There's Only One Morgan and He'll Have No Successor.

Thomas Fortune Ryan and his sons, Allan and J. F. Ryan, sailed for Europe yesterday on the Cunard liner Mauretania. Before sailing Mr. Ryan answered a few questions. After his vessel sailed his press agent sent out a typewritten interview. Before the appearance of the prepared statement Mr. Ryan was asked whether Col. Roosevelt would, in his opinion, be a candidate for President. He said he could not answer that question. Col. Roosevelt would not tell what he was going to do. He thought the Democratic Party could strengthen itself if it made an effort, and as to Democratic chances of success he said: "If the Democrats show good judgment they have a good chance of success at the Presidential election."

This is the prepared interview:

"Concerning the report that I am on the verge of collapse from nervous prostration, I may say that I have not had to consult my doctor for four and a half months, and I sleep like a baby. I don't remember ever having been in better health or spirits. I like my new life since I threw off the tyranny of details. While I keep myself very busy, yet I do not permit things, either big or little, to worry me.

"Of all my business concerns that which most interests me now is the Congo development. I expect to give a great deal of attention to it. It is not at all unlikely that I shall make a visit there. The mines in which I am interested are just north of those known as 'King Solomon's Mines.' The outlook for gold there is probably unsurpassed anywhere in the world.

Social Conditions in the Congo.

"I am interested not only in the industrial development of the Congo—which country I am convinced affords the greatest opportunities now to be found in the world—but also in the moral and social conditions. The solution of the negro problem there is, perhaps, the one which deserves the greatest attention. The great exaggerations to which currency has been given have not in any way changed the firm purpose of those responsible for the future of that region to correct any abuses that heretofore have existed.

"As for politics, I have no further interest in them. I have never been a candidate for office, either by election or appointment. There is no truth in the report that I am a candidate to become United States Senator from Virginia to succeed Senator Daniel. I have never been accustomed to wait to step into dead men's shoes. I have long been a close personal friend of Senator Daniel and I hope that he will be spared for many years to serve his State and his country.

"There appears to have been some speculation as to the destinies of the Equitable since the stock control of the society changed hands. It may be regarded as certain, I think, that the management will still be conducted on conservative lines and that, under the new régime, the interests of the policy holders will be well cared for.

"I regret very much that I shall not see Mr. Morgan during the present Summer, as I am compelled to leave before he can arrive. My interest in his activities continues to be keen, and I do not fail to recognize the unique position that he holds in the business situation, not only of this country, but of the world.

"There are people who are asking who is to be the successor of Mr. Morgan. In my opinion there will be none. There has been only one Morgan, and there cannot be a second. Fortunately, there seems to be no reason to become alarmed on this point for years to come. As for the men to whom the interests of New York and the country must look in time of panic or peril in the next generation there is no occasion to go beyond the younger men now in sight. I have perfect confidence in them. I firmly believe that such men as Messrs. J. Pierpont Morgan, Jr., and Henry P. Davison of the firm of J. Pierpont Morgan & Co., Otto H. Kahn and Mortimer L. Schiff of Kuhn, Loeb & Co., John B. Dennis of Blair & Co., George F. Baker, Jr., of the First National Bank, and James Stillman, Jr., of the National City Bank may be relied upon to take care of the great banking and financial interests which lie at the foundation of American business. I look upon these as the ablest men of their time in any of the great financial centres."

Patriotic Fund Opened
More Money Needed for the Celebration of an Old-Fashioned Fourth

Mayor Gaynor in opening the Fund to pay for a "Safe and Sane" Independence Day Celebration with a check for $100, remarked that he was certain that the people of New York would respond quickly when they know that money is needed for the necessary expenses.

It is estimated that about $50,000 will be needed. Of this the city has given $15,000 for fireworks. The rest must be raised by popular subscription to pay for music, decorations, and entertainments.

The Committee appointed by Mayor Gaynor is organizing a Military and Civic Parade, District Celebrations in the Parks and Playgrounds, and appropriate exercises for celebrating the Centennial of the opening of the City Hall.

The Committee appeals to the patriotism of the citizens of New York, and requests them to forward all contributions, which will be acknowledged in the newspapers, to James S. Cushman, Treasurer Independence Day Committee, Room 611 Pulitzer Building, New York City.

"THE ECONOMIC MIND" OF THE SUPREME COURT.

"The question which, at the present moment, most deeply concerns the prosperity and business methods of the country is this, viz.: 'What is the economic mind of the Supreme Court of the United States?'" This statement, audacious as it will seem to many, striking and pregnant as it must seem to all who have studied the situation, was made by WILLIAM M. IVINS of this city last week before the Georgia Bar Association. It was based on a searching analysis of the various—and varying—decisions and opinions of the Supreme Court in cases arising under the Sherman Anti-Trust act of 1890. These decisions and opinions, the decisions embodying the common law, in this country and in England, and much of the legislation of this country, England, and, incidentally, Germany and France, are examined by Mr. IVINS in the light of the economic laws, or generalizations, accepted in the past and in the light of those by which the earlier have been, in his judgment, overturned and replaced. The statement is elaborate, logically presented, and vividly illustrated. The argument is strongly and brilliantly made; the conclusions are soberly but most courageously applied.

The whole address is a vigorous and somewhat defiant defense of practically complete freedom of contract, or, rather, it is a ringing warning that neither legislatures nor courts can really suppress such freedom, or, without great harm, endeavor to suppress it or interfere with it. The emphatic question we have quoted is suggested by the history of the action of the Supreme Court with reference to freedom of contract as affected, or as held to be affected, by the Anti-Trust act. In the course of that action the court has come to a point where neither the unavoidable meaning of the language of the law nor the legal principles previously governing the interpretation of the language used in the law can be said to have determined its decisions. It has reached a point where its decisions are closely connected with, are influenced and even shaped by, the views of the majority as to economic theory, and where, in an essential degree, the differences between the majority and minority—in most cases one vote would have changed one into the other—have openly turned upon their views of economic theory. And thus the "economic mind" of the court acquires the tremendous importance that Mr. IVINS implies.

The key to this momentous process lies in the words "trade" and "competition." The law of 1890 condemns every "contract, combination, or conspiracy in restraint of trade." The court has gradually come to pronounce restraint of competition to be equivalent to restraint of trade. It has condemned combinations which did not restrain trade on the ground that they did restrain competition. It has gone further and condemned those intended to restrain competition, whether the intent was carried out or not, and, still further, has inferred intention to restrain competition from the fact that such restraint became possible. The economic theory by which the court has most been influenced is that competition is essentially good, is, in the old phrase, "the life of trade," and, therefore, that all restraint of it or opportunity for restraint of it, is bad. This theory is adopted as that of the law, and hence is to be applied; but the words of the law do not necessarily involve that theory. The Judges have chosen to apply the theory, moved thereto largely by the strong sentiment in its favor in the public mind. Had they refrained from doing so the history of business in the United States for the last twenty years would have been very different. Whether they continue to apply it in the cases pending—the Standard Oil and Tobacco cases—will have much to do with their decision. Thus the "economic mind of the Supreme Court" becomes of such great importance.

Mr. IVINS holds, with most advanced economists, that unrestrained competition is not good, but bad, and that the restraints put upon competition by combinations of capital, energy, skill, and organization are not bad, but good. He holds that such combinations and such restraints are the logical, inevitable, and beneficent result of freedom of contract, and that freedom of contract is the actual, and ought to be the recognized legal, basis of all the business of our own country and of the world. In the long run the efforts of lawmakers or of courts interpreting the law, to limit and repress freedom of contract he believes will be futile. Enumerating the things of importance and value which the State can do, he declares: "It cannot control the aggregations of capital any more than it can the winds; nor can it control the currents that go to determine price or to make markets any more than it can the tides; nor can it determine the result of the freedom of contract any more than it can say how the hills shall gather the clouds."

In this context Mr. IVINS makes an acute analysis of the modern doctrine of price and value as the outcome; the resultant of the manifold forces of need and desire that determine exchange; a resultant which will issue most satisfactorily under conditions of the greatest possible freedom of contract. He also reviews succinctly the development of the secular contest between such freedom, on the one hand, and on the other the effort to impose "just" prices by the authority and the power of the State. It would have been interesting in connection with this review had he examined the status and future of corporations, the artificial persons created by the State, endowed with the possibility of perpetual continuation with exemption of members from the complete liability enforced as to individuals, and possessing, in a most important class, the use of the sovereign power of eminent domain. Such an examination would have made still more valuable his bold treatment of a subject as to which, in his own words, "the opinion of the competent has been less influential than the sentiment of the crowd."

THE FIRST AIR LINER.

Further than the distance from London to Paris, further than the shore line route to Boston from New York, and three times the distance between this city and Philadelphia, the express airship Deutschland bearing twelve passengers flew yesterday on a schedule from Friedrichshafen over Stuttgart, Mannheim, and Cologne to Düsseldorf in Germany. This first of the liners of the German Airship Stock Company was fitted like a Pullman palace car, including a buffet restaurant and windowed and carpeted mahogany cabins. What a panorama spread beneath its passengers as they sped de luxe above the old German villages and cities!

Count ZEPPELIN, 72 years old, stood at the helm. This was his triumph. He has made a great dirigible capable of lifting 44,000 pounds, and of accomplishing with its three motors a continuous passage of 300 miles. Strip it of its luxurious impedimenta, exclude passengers, store it with extra gasoline and provisions, and how far would it bear its crew? Across the Atlantic? The steady trade winds would help it. Within three or four days it would sight the American shore.

THE QUEENS ALDERMEN.

We hope it is unnecessary, we should think, indeed, it would be quite impossible, to tell the voters of Queens Borough anything new about Mr. JOSEPH CASSIDY'S political character or his standards of public conduct. They know that he was once President of their borough. They cannot have forgotten what kind of Borough President he was, and they must still remember the manner in which he was got out of the office. If CASSIDY is known anywhere it ought to be in Queens, a community that has suffered enough at his hands to make him a well-remembered though not an honored figure. But Mr. JOSEPH CASSIDY aspires to become again the President of Queens Borough. Events are moving rather rapidly toward the creation of a vacancy in that office. CASSIDY wants it. He is trying to get it.

Since the voters of Queens know about CASSIDY, let them turn their attention from him and fix their eyes upon the Aldermen who will choose the new Borough President should Mr. GRESSER'S term of office be somewhat suddenly ended. Upon these five Aldermen will devolve the duty of electing a successor to GRESSER:

D. ENTHOLT, Long Island City; a Democrat elected on the Harvey-Gresser ticket.

E. BRADY, Far Rockaway; a Democrat, elected on the Harvey-Gresser ticket.

A. DUJAT, Corona; a regular organization Cassidy Democrat.

FREDERICK SNELL, Bayside; a Gresser-Harvey Democrat.

W. A. SHIPLEY, Jamaica; Republican.

We believe that Mr. CASSIDY is already assured of the votes of two of these Aldermen. By what "arguments" will he persuade or seek to persuade another of them to vote for him as Borough President? Have the voters of Queens no arguments to advance in their own behalf? Are they so supine or indifferent that they are going to let CASSIDY have his own way? Their arguments, to be sure, would be different from his. But if they were put in the right way we are confident they would prevail. The decent voters of Queens must be in a majority. They know their Aldermen, or, at least, they can get at their Aldermen. These gentlemen should be waited upon by delegations representing that part of the Queens Borough citizenship that is tired of grafting, that has long enough been robbed outright for the benefit of a gang of politicians as base and corrupt as this country ever bred. There would be but one possible construction put upon the re-election of CASSIDY, only one construction upon the action of the Queens Aldermen should they re-elect him. These things should be pretty plainly pointed out to the Aldermen. The circumstances of the election are going to be scrutinized with unusual diligence. It would require a good deal of hardihood, it would be a decidedly rash proceeding, for any Alderman not hitherto committed to the fortunes of CASSIDY, to turn about now in this crisis and cast a vote for him.

But it all depends upon the decent men of Queens Borough. They have a right to go to their Aldermen and say what they want and what they do not want—particularly what they do not want. Commissioner of Accounts FOSDICK has spent a good deal of time in Queens of late, and his labors have borne remarkable fruits. He has unearthed a lot of plain, old-fashioned stealing of the Tweed type. Mr. FOSDICK may not want to spend all his time in Queens, but we venture the prediction that if CASSIDY comes into power over there the Commissioner of Accounts will find it necessary to be in pretty constant attendance upon him and his underlings. If the voters of Queens want a corrupt administration tempered by continual investigation they can have it by remaining inert and letting CASSIDY get the Borough Presidency. If they want clean and decent Government they can have that, too, but they will have to bestir themselves.

NEW YORK IN 1913.

Mayor GAYNOR'S committee of one hundred leading citizens appointed to consider whether the three hundredth anniversary of the founding of Manhattan should be celebrated with a World's Fair in 1913 has met, and its members have expressed themselves almost unanimously against the proposal. In the letters read at the meeting Tuesday the arguments in favor of the plan were fairly considered. A World's Fair would be educational; its success might be assured by the attendance of the millions within a radius of five hundred miles of this city. But it would add nothing to the prestige of the city, it would greatly disturb its business, and the benefits of the fair would be transient and profitless. Mr. GEORGE F. KUNZ is reported as saying that "it would cost at least $40,000,000 to $50,000,000 to hold a fair worthy of the dignity of the city." It would cost more than that to rival the exhibitions constantly provided for the benefit of sightseers within the city's confines. New York does not want a fair.

No expenditure upon a fair would be worthy of the dignity of New York in 1913. But another kind of celebration would ennoble it. Manhattan was founded by the Dutch of Holland. Mr. THEODORE ROOSEVELT is of Dutch stock, and New York's leading citizen. President TAFT has promised that, in case Representative BENNET'S bill passes the Senate, he will appoint Mr. ROOSEVELT head of the commission it creates "to consider the expediency of utilizing existing international agencies for the purpose of limiting the armaments of the nations of the world by international agreement, and of constituting the combined navies of the world an international force for the preservation of universal peace." The Hague should have a Supreme Court of Nations. The nations should decide on a plan to enforce its decrees.

That would require a congress of legislative bodies of the world's chief nations, 25,000 in number, or a congress of their delegates with plenary powers. Such a congress, meeting to federate the States of the world with respect to a reasonable limitation of their armaments, would be the greatest in history. Its educational influence would be vaster than that of all World's Fairs combined. Its cost would be trifling, compared with the magnitude of the interests involved. The United States, Great Britain, Germany, and France expend in war preparations yearly a thousand millions of treasure. Add to this the tremendous military budgets of Russia, Japan, Austria, Italy, and Spain, the waste and menace of which could be avoided by the establishment of a permanent and effective tribunal of the Powers. The United States, the most neutral and least entangled of the great Powers, would be chosen, as it was chosen for the Peace of Portsmouth, to provide their common meeting ground. They should meet in the greatest of its cities.

SILLY SEASON LAW.

Just as the Summer girls are changing the styles of their hats the Summer men are changing the places where they soothe their thirsts. They are in need of law to prevent their dying for lack of a drink, and his Honor JOSEPH FITCH, who graces the bench of the Jamaica Court, has handed down a decision to suit.

Other parts of the State may have other interpretations of the excise law, but the interpretation which "goes" in Jamaica is one day old, and was declared in connection with the business of the first Summer Sunday, for use on all succeeding Sundays this year. Next year there may be another style, but this year's style is admitted to be satisfactory. In the language of his Honor "A man is entitled to one drink before a meal, and to serve it is no infraction of the law"; and, moreover, "A man is entitled to an appetizer, and a waiter, knowing that, is entitled to believe he means to order a meal after a drink."

Could anything more be desired at a time when there is no necessity of life comparable to that of getting a Summer style of law compatible with laying in a wholesale stock of something cool and wet and stimulating? If a man is entitled to "one drink" it is clear that he can choose what he shall drink, and can decide that the length of it shall be in exact accord with his cubical capacity. That makes rubbish of all previous decisions which associated the lawfulness of a Sunday drink with its alcoholic contents, and which drew inferences regarding the intoxicating qualities of a drink from the degree of the resulting stimulation. The drink may be as "long" as you like—provided, of course, that it is shorter than the time between trains—and it may be of whatever you like, but you do not have to order a meal to get it. No longer will it be necessary for the waiter to jig his thumb toward the meal which makes your drink lawful. At one fell swoop the Raines law sandwiches are thrown out of a job wherever his Honor's words are law. You can order your drink if you intend to order a meal, and your intention is apparent to the waiter from the color of your hair, or your eyes, or something else.

Jamaica now has just the sort of law adapted to make the cry "all change" a summons to joy instead of wrath. By simply qualifying as mindreaders its intellectual bartenders will be able to keep their cash registers busy by supplying lawful drinks to all who intend to eat. Coney Island must go on serving unlawful drinks, at least until his Honor's decision is ratified by the Court of Appeals.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Anti-Parade Arguments the Stronger.

Discussion of the question whether the National Guard should or should not parade on Fourth of July has fortunately taken the line of bringing out the facts in the case, and though there was at first, we think, a rather general impression that the Guardsmen should be willing to take a prominent part in a sane celebration of the day, there must be by this time, it seems to us, an equally general admission that the arguments against participation in the parade are not only strong but conclusive.

This is not to say that the arguments on the other side are wholly without weight, but merely that they are outweighed by those of the objectors. Membership in the National Guard carries with it the burden of much hard work for which there is no reward except the sense of patriotic and unselfish duty well performed. That being so, it is not unnatural that the Guardsmen are reluctant to give their time and energy to a task which will neither increase nor test their military efficiency, and to compel them to do so would tend to cool the enthusiasm of the regiments and to make more difficult the filling of their ranks. It must be remembered, too, that if the Guardsmen march on Independence Day they will lose, not one holiday, but two and the greater part of another, so far as getting out of the city is concerned, and this means more, in many instances, to their wives and children than to the men themselves.

An opportunity to pass two or three days in the country or on the seashore is one which the New Yorker rightly and eagerly welcomes at midsummer, and there is no compensation for its loss in the privilege of walking for hours over the hot July pavements. The muster days of old were doubtless joyous occasions, but they were so to people for whom mingling in crowds was a rare and therefore pleasurable experience. Mayor GAYNOR, with his passionate love of pedestrian exercise, thinks it would do the Guardsmen good to parade, and the more good the hotter the day, but in this he does not reveal his familiarity—if he has any—with modern hygienics or with enlightened military opinion. It was such antiquated notions as his that sent out soldiers to the burning sands of Tampa to prepare them for a campaign in the tropics, instead of keeping them up North till the last possible moment and landing them in Cuba with strength accumulated, not exhausted.

Cooling as Easy as Heating.

Among the favors conferred by a generous Republic upon its valued servant, President TAFT, is an office room that at this season of the year is artificially cooled, just as in Winter it is artificially heated. Not only is this doubtless very pleasing to the President, since what may be called his personal architecture is such as to make him feel more than some other people the discomforts of hot weather, but it is probably a profitable use of public money, since it will enable him to do more work and better by diverting his attention from the tropic fervors of a Washington Summer.

Now, when one comes to think of it, there is difficulty in understanding why humanity has always realized the need of mitigating the severity of climate that takes the form of cold, but for the most part still assumes the impossibility of doing anything to temper heat, from which we suffer almost as much. At less expense than that by which houses are warmed in Winter they can be cooled in Summer, and, while the Winter heating, thanks to our strange refusal to learn the art of ventilation, involves the creation of conditions injurious to health, those which Summer cooling would establish would probably be in every way beneficial to us. At any rate, the thing is perfectly practicable.

Of course, if adopted, it would add to the cost of living, but it would also increase the general stock of available energy, which would mean an increase of earning power to a more than compensating degree. Not much of a refrigeration plant would be required to bring the air of a bedroom to a temperature in which sleep would be refreshing, instead of impossible or exhausting, and the wonder is that the rich and the well to do, at least, do not generally, instead of hardly at all, utilize a benefit which science is ready to give them for much less money than they pay for a thousand other smaller luxuries and conveniences.

Sullivan as a Reporter.

One of our readers very solemnly lays before us a question which more than a few others are perhaps asking, and it seems well, therefore, that he and they should be carefully answered. Here is the question as put to us:

> If, as your editorial columns inform your readers, the much-heralded fight is in violation of the law, and Gov. GILLETT is to be commended for preventing it, will you kindly inform us by what reasoning or morality you justify the engagement of an ex-prizefighter to report in your columns the details of a criminal proceeding which you officially condemn.

Underlying this inquiry is the much larger one whether a reputable newspaper should devote any part of its news columns to reporting a sport, so called, which of necessity it opposes and would gladly have suppressed. That question is answered negatively by a few newspapers, in the legitimate exercise, presumably, of a conscientious judgment, but conscientious judgments are not invariably sound, and we are nearly if not quite sure that by the adoption of that policy those papers deprive themselves of the most effective weapon that can be used against any abuse—the presentation of it exactly as it is and in such detail as is commensurate with its enormity or importance or extent. Prizefighting will never suffer anything from mere abstract—and usually exaggerated—denunciations of its brutality, and nothing would better please the exploiters of its financial possibilities than to have it entirely ignored by the papers that speak to and for the better elements of citizenship.

It has therefore seemed judicious to us to give pugilism attention proportioned to the interest, favorable and unfavorable, excited by it, and especially to let its opponents, among whom our own position was long since established, know exactly what the thing is in its modern phases and exactly where it is going on. As for employing JOHN L. SULLIVAN to report the Jeffries-Johnson fight, that was merely the getting of a particularly competent man to do the work from the standpoint of an acknowledged expert. What he writes is having and will have both evidential and psychological value. And our critical friend should remember that "boxing contests" are not "criminal" in California, or prizefights in Nevada.

HARDSHIPS OF JULY 4 PARADE.

Heat Prostrations Result and a Holiday Is Lost.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Mayor's desire for a sane Fourth to prevent accidents among the children is to be commended. But, after all is said and done, the children have no one dependent upon them. A parade in the streets of New York on July 4, with ordinary weather for that time of the year, would be a physical hardship upon every man and might seriously affect their health, and these men have people dependent upon them. The last great parade on that day was held in Philadelphia on July 4, 1876, and resulted in some deaths, and the prostrations from heat ran into the hundreds, all of which can easily be verified.

Almost all the troops in the city have a ten days' tour of field duty this Summer, and in the Fall will be ordered to Blauvelt for rifle practice. They have already paraded on one holiday, May 30, to do honor to veterans of the late war, which they are always glad to honor. In addition to all this, to give up another day and holiday seems rather hard.

The army, police, street cleaners, Fire Department, National Guard, &c., who are called upon to parade all lose a holiday, and not only themselves, but their families. It would seem that every effort should be made to keep the mothers and children off the hot streets of the city and to try and get them to the country or at least into the parks or on the piers and to supply them there with music and fireworks. I. M. SANE.

PARADES OF THE FOURTH.

The Regulars Will Not Have to March, Says Officer.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

For the benefit of Mayor Gaynor and the general public, it may be of interest to publish the fact that Gen. Walter Howe, commanding the Department of the East, has refused to allow the soldiers from the posts around New York to parade on July 4. He does not wish to deprive these men of their holiday. National Guardsmen who have been working all Winter long, however, must turn out, without pay, to make a "safe and sane" holiday.

If my command is ordered out on July 4 I shall cheerfully obey, though it deprives me of my only Summer holiday with my family. But I cannot see, if soldiers who are paid for this work will not turn out—and rightly—why men who receive nothing for their time and labor ought to do so.

I may add that the National Guard has already paraded on Memorial Day and more than half its strength must do a ten-day tour of duty either at the forts or at Pine Camp, N. Y., thereby leaving but four days of the regulation two weeks' vacation which the average guardsman receives from his employer. OFFICER.

Enforcing the Pure Food Law.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Referring to your Washington dispatch in yesterday's TIMES regarding the leniency of the courts in cases of conviction under the food law, I beg leave to make a suggestion. It is evident that the fines are too small to be deterrent, and no one is likely to remember the names of the convicted firms or persons.

Now, if I were a benevolent despot (like Congress) and wanted to stop adulteration once for all I would issue an edict that after a certain date whenever a manufacturer of food products was convicted of adulteration all his products, for one year thereafter, should bear on each individual package a conspicuous stamp, furnished by the Government, stating that "The manufacturer of this product has been convicted of adulterating his goods."

ROGER G TRACY.

Aviation News.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

It is evident that in the subject of human flight there is almost worldwide interest. There is also much interest here and elsewhere in the control of this new sport and science. Congratulations are due you for giving complete accounts not only of actual flights but also of the happenings in the Aero Club of America and in the American Aeronautic Association.

FAILURE.

Long time I watched the purple fruit
Swing high above the orchard wall;
Long time I stood in rain and shine—
Saw morning rise and sunset fall;
Heard the World in the distant streets;
Guessed Fame's banners against the sky;
Helpless, thralled, 'neath the orchard wall,
In sun and in shower stood I.

It swung so low, it swung so near,
Time and again my apron wide
I held glad stretched—it only fell
In idle folds against my side!
I heard the banners flap aloft,
But dared not turn to see who won,
For lower on the orchard wall
The fruit enpurpled in the sun!

Now, silent are the triumph streets,
And short and sharp the fast years fall,
And bright, a mass of foreign green
Sways slow above the orchard wall;
I know not if the fruit abides;
We're over-watched, my soul and I;
We think we only dreamed we saw
A purple globe against the sky—

We only dreamed it was for us,
The perfect weight on the bending bough;
We only dreamed that faith and hope
Would mold its ore to crown our brow;
We hear the triumph banners flap
'Gainst an unseen Glory sky,
But habit-thralled, beneath the wall,
We doze at peace, my soul and I.

PULLMAN COMPANY REBUKED.

Commerce Board Says It and Great Northern Have Delayed Without Excuse.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—In its report on the application for a rehearing of the cases involving a reduction of sleeping car rates, made public to-day, the Interstate Commerce Commission sharply criticises the Pullman Company for not submitting to the commission all of the facts in the cases. Two days ago it was announced by the commission that, while a rehearing of the Loftus cases against the Pullman Company and the Great Northern Railroad would be granted, no stay in the order of the commission would be allowed. The order is to become effective on July 1, 1910.

The commission, in its full report, issued to-day, points out that the orders of the commission were made on March 15, 1910, after an investigation extending over a period of nearly three years, yet the carriers involved—the Pullman Company and the Great Northern Railroad Company—the commission declares, "have seen fit to remain quiescent until within a few days of the time when the orders by their terms are to become effective.

"This method of procedure is not satisfactory, and, since the proceedings before the commission pertained to a matter of great importance and wide publicity, appears to be without adequate excuse. Nevertheless, the commission would now suspend the operation of the orders until such time as the additional evidence referred to could be introduced and passed upon if convinced that such evidence would show the pertinent circumstances and conditions to be materially different from those indicated by the evidence which was considered when the orders were made. But under the circumstances the commission feels constrained to decline to postpone further the effective date of the orders."

The report says the date for the rehearing will not be fixed "until the orders have been in force for a sufficient period of time, say three or four months, to enable the commission to obtain information concerning their effect." Then if the results under the rates fixed indicate that a mistake has been made the commission will not hesitate to make any change it may consider proper.

ROOSEVELT AS PEACEMAKER.

Senate to Favor a World Peace Body with Him at the Head.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—Senator Lodge was authorized by the Senate Committee on Foreign Relations to-day to report favorably the resolution which was passed by the House for the appointment of a commission on "Universal Peace." According to statements made in the House, this commission was designed to afford opportunities for the activities of President Roosevelt in the direction of promoting an understanding between nations looking to disarmament. It was said that President Taft would appoint Col. Roosevelt to head the commission in the event of its creation being authorized.

Members of the Senate were not informed whether Col. Roosevelt would accept the Presidency of such a commission, but from informal discussion in the committee, it can be stated authoritatively that they regarded him as the ideal man for the place. It is the theory of the framers of the resolution that such a commission would consider the feasibility of utilizing existing agreements for the purpose of limiting the armaments of the nations of the world.

NEW CUSTOMS COURT RULINGS

Grant Two and Dismiss Three Appeals in Its First Decisions.

WASHINGTON, June 22.—The new United States Court of Customs Appeals, created at this session of Congress, gave its first decisions to-day. All the cases decided were appeals from ruling of the General Board of Appraisers or from decisions of the United States Circuit Court of the Southern District of New York. The Circuit Court was reversed in two cases and affirmed in three.

Several cases disposed of were appeals from Chinese merchants in New York. Sun Quong On imported Chinese cabbage from his native Canton and rolled it up in salt. There is a difference in duty on vegetables in their natural state and vegetables preserved. Mr. Sun maintained that he put salt on the cabbage merely to flavor it, not to preserve it and thereby make it liable to a higher rate of duty. The Circuit Court held that Sun had preserved his cabbage, nevertheless, and the Court of Customs Appeals affirmed that decision.

ROCK MUST NOT BE MOVED.

Attorney General Says Forest Preserve Must Remain in Natural State.

ALBANY, June 22.—In an opinion rendered to Commissioner James S. Whipple of the State Forest, Fish and Game Department, Attorney General O'Malley holds that the lands of the forest preserve must be left in their natural state, and that not even a stone may be removed. The question was raised by the Roads Superintendent of Franklin County, who asked permission to use a stone from a ledge of rock on the neighboring State lands for road purposes, promising not to cut away any timber or otherwise damage the land. In his opinion Attorney General O'Malley says:

"It was clearly the intent of the framers of the Constitution to preserve the lands constituting the forest preserve in their natural state, and that you have no authority to permit county officials to use the stone in the ledge referred to."

YONKERS MAY RIDE TO-DAY.

Trolley Car Strikers Willing to Return Pending Court's Decision.

Another surprise came yesterday in the Yonkers strike situation when the proceedings brought by the city and backed by the strikers to compel Receiver Sutherland to operate the cars or forfeit the franchise came up before Justice Morschauser at Poughkeepsie. He sent the application back to Justice Keogh, and it is expected that it will be heard this morning in White Plains.

The strikers have great confidence in Justice Keogh, and say that they will return to work at 1 o'clock to-day pending his decision as to the justice of their demand for higher wages.

When the application came before Justice Keogh on Tuesday, the strikers paid him a compliment by saying that they were ready to return to work pending his decision, but he declined to dispose of the motion on the ground that it would not be courteous to Justice Morschauser, since Receiver Sutherland on Saturday had forwarded a report to him asking him to deal with the strike situation.

It is believed that Justice Keogh will name an arbitration committee to go over the books of the company and decide whether it is in a position to pay higher wages.

MacRae Family Litigation at an End.

Supreme Court Justice Bischoff reserved decision yesterday after hearing testimony in the undefended suit for annulment of the marriage of Rose Sprio MacRae and Gustavus Fulton MacRae. The woes of the MacRaes have been much in print. MacRae was arrested on a warrant charging bigamy and for threatening his wife's father and members of his household for alienating her affections. Mary Elizabeth MacRae of Philadelphia is mentioned by Mrs. MacRae as the legal wife of the defendant.

Urge Bridge Plaza Extension.

A large number of Brooklyn citizens and representatives of taxpayers' and property owners' associations appeared before a committee of the Board of Estimate yesterday to urge the approval of the proposed extension of the Brooklyn Bridge plaza to the junction of Washington and Fulton Streets. This would do away with a large part of the present elevated terminal. No decision was given by the committee.

$250,000 NOT ENOUGH FOR TARIFF INQUIRY

Business Men in Session Here Say the Commission Should Be Permanent.

CONGRESS "DODGED ISSUE"

Information Should Be Gathered Systematically and Continuously, Manufacturers Assert.

The Executive Committee of the National Tariff Commission Association met yesterday at the Waldorf, and considered the grant of $250,000 made in the Payne bill for the institution of inquiries into the tariff situation. After discussing reports from sections of the country it was decided that this appropriation was entirely inadequate. It was unanimously voted:

> That while appreciating that much useful information can be gathered with the appropriation of $250,000 in the hands of the President, Congress has failed squarely to meet the issue by providing for a permanent independent Tariff Commission.

In discussing this matter after the meeting J. C. Cobb of Boston, President of the association, declared that it would now carry the fight into the States, and would try to educate them to the importance of the issue in view of the forthcoming Congressional elections.

The National Tariff Commission has a membership of 71 business organizations from 41 States, of the standing of the National Association of Manufacturers, the Chicago Association of Commerce, the Philadelphia Board of Trade, and the United Metal Trades Association of Portland, Ore. Besides this its resolution in favor of a Tariff Commission has been indorsed by nearly 200 other bodies, including the New York Chamber of Commerce.

John Kirby, Jr., President of the National Association of Manufacturers, a member of the Executive Committee of the Tariff Commission Association, said:

"We want a commission as free from political bias as the Supreme Court. Its members should be appointed for life or for long terms. We want it to find out the whole truth about the tariff, so that it may be laid before the Nation. If the Republican Party had only set up such a commission it would not now have to assume its position of apology and explanation.

"It could go before the country and declare that it had done the best it could for the tariff, and that if it had made mistakes it was through lack of proper information. It would be able to point to the commission as evidence that it had provided the means of correcting any defects."

H. E. Miles, a manufacturer of Racine, Wis., declared that some of the large manufacturers of necessities had told him they were ashamed of their success in obtaining excessive rates in the present Tariff bill on the articles they manufacture. The association, he explained, does not take the stand that the tariff is either right or wrong, but that investigation is a judicial rather than a legislative function, and that it can only be performed by a semi-judicial commission.

There is an objection, according to Mr. Miles, to those who are looking into the situation reporting to the President rather than to Congress. The President has no power of initiative in legislation, and it is to the legislative authority that the information should be given. At the same time Mr. Miles feels that it is of vital importance that the voters should be advised in some authoritative way of the facts of the matter, so that they may know which rates require adjustment.

Other members of the association explained that the objection that the manufacturers have to the present appropriation of $250,000 is that there is no guarantee that it will be continued, and that its use is a purely personal question for President Taft. They believe that he is desirous of getting at the truth in the matter, but they point out that there is no guarantee that his successor may not be a high tariff man, and in this case the appropriation, if continued under the same conditions, would be useless.

They believe, moreover, that a permanent independent commission would go far to settle the present unrest. As things are there is a widespread belief that the tariff is too high in a number of its schedules, but no one would say how much. A commission would determine impartially and scientifically the facts, and would at the same time pave the way for legislation and allay the unrest.

PALMER SANITY INQUIRY.

Robert Amory Palmer, Now in Bloomingdale, Accused of Threatening Wife.

WHITE PLAINS, June 22.—Supreme Court Justice Mills to-day appointed Dr. William S. Granger of Bronxville, Howard C. Lake of White Plains, and Thomas H. Hodge of Mount Vernon a commission to inquire with a Sheriff's jury into the sanity of Robert Amory Palmer of New York City, who is now an inmate of Bloomingdale Asylum.

Palmer has an income of $7,000 per year from his father's estate. Some time ago he was sent to a sanitarium in Stamford, Conn., as a habitual drunkard on the petition of his mother. He was released from there early this year and returned to New York. On May 18 of this year he was arrested in New York and committed to Bellevue and later to Bloomingdale. He is charged with having threatened to kill his wife and with calling her names, at the same time professing undying love for her. He is said to have arisen from bed at 3 A. M. and, half dressed, to have walked down the street leashed to a dog.

The present proceedings were brought by Palmer's wife, who lives with two daughters at 110 West Ninety-first Street, New York.

NEWPORT GIRL ON LONG WALK

Special to The New York Times.

NEWPORT, R. I., June 22.—Miss Constance Warren walked this morning from the Summer home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Warren, to Tiverton and back home, a distance of about twenty-eight miles, finishing late this afternoon. On Sunday Miss Warren rowed from Hazard's Beach to a Newport wharf in a flat bottom skiff, breaking all rowing records by women here.

When she reached Middletown she took the road and at this point suffered a short delay by preventing an attack on Sport by another dog. MISS POST WEDS MONTAGUE ELIOT

The Third Anglo-American Wedding to be Celebrated in London in June.

MANY GIFTS FROM ROYALTY

Bridegroom Was a Groom-in-Waiting to King Edward—The Bride Is a Daughter of Lady Barrymore.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 22.—The marriage of Miss Helen Post to Montague Eliot was celebrated to-day in St. George's Church, where Miss Mildred Carter became the bride of Viscount Acheson yesterday. Mr. Eliot was groom-in-waiting to the late King Edward. He is the son of the late Col. C. G. C. Eliot and grandson of the third Earl of St. Germans. Miss Post is the daughter of Lady Barrymore and her first husband, the late Arthur Post of New York.

The bride was the recipient of several royal presents, including a silver bowl from the Duke and Duchess of Connaught, a Swedish gilt cup from the Crown Prince and Princess of Sweden, and a jeweled parasol handle from Princess Patricia of Connaught.

Miss Post was a charming bride in a simple dress and a train of chiffon and lace. She wore a diadem of orange buds with a lace veil, and round her neck a jeweled heart hung on a pearl chain. Lord Barrymore gave away his stepdaughter. The Rev. D. Anderson, the rector, officiated. Lady Barrymore had a happy thought, having each guest presented with a floral bouquet on arriving at the church.

Miss Post was attended by five bridesmaids, two flower girls, and two pages. The bridesmaids were Lady Gweneth Ponsonby, the bridegroom's cousin, daughter of the Earl and Countess of Bessborough; Miss Claire Frewen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Moreton Frewen; Miss Margaret Trefusis, youngest daughter of the late Col. Walter and Lady Mary Trefusis; Miss Connollan and Miss Coxwell Rogers. The two little girls, Dorothy Smith-Barry, half-sister of the bride, and Miss Nancy Cunard, daughter of Sir Bache and Lady Gunard, walked with the two pages, Lord Clonmore, son of the Earl and Countess of Wicklow, and Master Renshaw, son of Mr. and Lady Winifred Renshaw. All the bridesmaids looked charming in dresses of white chiffon and satin. Their tulle veils fell from little wreaths of silver leaves. Lord Duncannon attended his cousin as best man.

Those escorting the bridesmaids were Mrs. Moreton Frewen, with whom came Mrs. George West and Lady Barrymore, who looked remarkably well in embroidered gray chiffon. Both her sisters, Mrs. Adair and Mrs. Coxwell Rogers, were present, as were Lady Dufferin, the American Ambassador, Countess Pappenheim, Cora Lady Strafford, Mrs. Anthony Drexel, Mrs. Burns, Lady Monson, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Post.

Among the other guests were Lord and Lady Stormans, Lady Bessborough, Lady Tweeddale, Lady Kilmorey, William Gillette, Mme. Dominguez, Lady Dartrey Winifred, Lady Arran, and the mother of the bridegroom, Mrs. Charles Eliot, who wore antique lace with a smoke gray velvet gown and a bonnet to match.

Every one went to Lady Barrymore's reception at 20 Hill Street, where the wedding presents were on show.

This was the third Anglo-American wedding this month.

At the risk of offending the susceptibilities of American readers, it must be admitted that Americans are not popular at the new Court, and it is said to have been on account of their American matrimonial ventures that Sir John Lister Kaye and Montague Eliot were not reappointed to their official places at the Court of King George.

CLEARS GOOD NAME OF DEAD PROFESSOR

Impressive Protest in Education Board Against Slanders on Prof. Caswell.

THE MINUTES TO RECORD IT

Commissioner Somers Tells How an Act of Kindness by a Woman Teacher's Parents Has Tended to Hurt Her.

The Board of Education by unanimous vote yesterday adopted resolutions of regret for the recent death of Prof. Albert S. Caswell, for many years director of music in all the High Schools of the city, and also directed that an address by Commissioner Somers describing as baseless a published aspersion on his character and that of a woman teacher in the schools be printed in full in the minutes.

Prof. Caswell, who was past sixty years old, died at Echo Lake, N. J., on June 13. Published stories of his death said that he had been living there with a woman teacher who was not his wife. When Secretary Palmer had concluded reading the resolution on Prof. Caswell's death Commissioner Somers said he felt it his duty to denounce as false what he described as the "merciless slander" which had been circulated against the late music director. He said the stories must have shocked those who had known and loved Prof. Caswell throughout his life, but who did not know the circumstances.

"Dr. Caswell is dead," said Mr. Somers. "He cannot defend himself. There will be no day in court for him. His heart is past all breaking. The debt he owed to his God, in whom he always had an abiding faith, has been or will be paid in God's own way. Nothing that I might say can help him, but something that I can say will help a pure, innocent woman, whom it is attempted to destroy by the foul accusations made against her in an effort to disgrace the memory of a man who never during life defamed any mortal.

"It is true that more than twenty-five years ago there was unpleasantness in his domestic life that led to the breaking up of his home. At the time of his death this old wound was reopened and a young woman, a teacher in one of our schools, was represented as having been the cause of the breaking up of this home.

"This young woman is a Miss E. W. Burns, with whose mother and sister Prof. Caswell made his home during the latter years of his life, and it is in defense of this young woman, as well as of Prof. Caswell, that I speak to-day, because she has no opportunity of defending herself.

"Of the unfortunate disruption of Prof. Caswell's home, let me say that this young woman is as innocent as is the little, crippled, almost sightless daughter that bears my name. I have seen within the last few days documentary evidence, dated as far back as 1884 and 1886, telling the story of the breaking up of this home, and nowhere is the name of this young woman mentioned, nor is her existence even hinted at.

"Further than to make this statement in justice of Miss Burns, my lips are sealed forever as to the contents of the documents I have referred to. One day the court may be called upon to review them, and when it does the reputation of Prof. Caswell will not suffer. Judge George Freifeld, a former member of this board, joined me in the examination of this evidence, and asked me to speak for him.

"It has been charged that Prof. Caswell has been living with this young woman in Brooklyn and at Echo Lake. A baser libel was never uttered. It is true he lived under the same roof, but why not tell the truth and all the truth. Why not say that this young woman's mother, one of the finest and best old ladies that ever lived, kept house for her two daughters, one of them married, with two fine boys, and that Prof. Caswell made his home with this most exemplary family, a home that I have visited with my family many times, and a home of which I was so fond that last year my wife and my children spent the Summer at Echo Lake for the sole purpose of being near the good old lady, and nearly every day saw them all together, and I knew mine were safe. I believe I was responsible partly for the arrangement that brought Prof. Caswell to become a member of the Burns household.

"As for this young woman who lives, and must live, give her justice. She has done no wrong, unless following the example of her saintly mother in being a help and a power for good be wrong. I have known their home life. I have lived in that home life, and as God is my judge I have never seen or heard there the slightest suggestion indicating an improper relation. It did not exist. My faith in this young woman will never be shaken, though the world should turn against her.

"For the sake of the truth and in the spirit of fair dealing I make this statement, and as far as Miss Burns is concerned the matter ends."

When Mr. Somers ceased speaking half a dozen voices broke in to move that his statement be printed in full in the record.

Prof. Caswell was one of the two directors of music in the public school system. He had been connected with the schools for nearly forty years, and at the time of his death supervised the music in the High Schools of all the boroughs. He was regarded as a gifted musician and an efficient teacher.

KISSING PRINCIPAL EXPELLED.

Mr. Chase's Teachers Complained of His Acts.

On complaint of two pupil teachers in one of the two schools in Woodhaven, Queens, of which he is Principal, Edwin H. Chase was expelled yesterday from the public school system by the Board of Education.

Reports had reached the board regarding Principal Chase's conduct toward some of the older pupils and pupil teachers in one of his schools. These were regarded as gossip at first, but they become so persistent that the Committee on Elementary Schools, headed by Commissioner Abraham Stern, took the matter up.

Two girls had complained that Principal Chase had tried to kiss them, and had succeeded in forcing his attentions upon them. More serious charges were made against the Principal, Chairman Stern said last night, but were not sustained.

The two girls, however, appeared before the Elementary Schools Committee and testified that Principal Chase had kissed them. The committee recommended that Mr. Chase be dismissed summarily.

CHICAGO GETS MARY GARDEN.

Singer Also to Appear at the Metropolitan Next Season.

Miss Mary Garden cabled to Andreas Dippel from Paris yesterday that she would be a member of his Chicago Opera Company next season. This puts the finishing touch on Mr. Dippel's plan to present French opera comique, as he already has Messrs. Renaud, Dalmores, and Dufranne under contract.

Miss Garden will also appear as one of the special stars in many of the performances of French opera to be given by the Chicago Opera Company at the Metropolitan Opera House next Winter. These will be given while the Chicago company is filling its engagement at the Philadelphia Opera House. All of the performances will be under the direction of Mr. Campanini.

One new part Miss Garden will introduce on the American stage next season and that is Carmen, which she has never sung anywhere, but which she has been planning to sing for some time. Her Carmen will first be divulged to Chicagoans, but afterward New York may see it.

"Thais," "Le Jongleur de Notre Dame," and "Salome" will be sung in Chicago, but what the répertoire for the ten New York nights is to be will not be announced for several days. Later a special subscription will be opened for these nights.

Miss Garden has kept very quiet about her plans since Mr. Hammerstein quit the field of opera. To all inquiries she has said, "I shall wait until later before deciding."

However, to her father and a few friends she has confessed that she has no intention of returning to America on any other terms than those called for in her contract with Mr. Hammerstein for next season. And Mr. Dippel announced yesterday that he had concluded the engagement on these terms. It has been said that Mr. Hammerstein was to pay her $1,400 a performance. Whether that was the exact amount or not Mr. Dippel would not say.

It is not yet decided whether Miss Garden will remain for the entire twenty weeks of the Chicago company's engagement in Chicago and Philadelphia, but it is certain, Mr. Dippel said, that she will remain at least three months.

Mr. Dippel is sailing for Europe next Tuesday, but he said that before then he would announce the complete répertoire for the ten Tuesdays of French opera. When he does that New York will know just how much it is going to hear of Miss Garden.

L. H. STEVENS DIES SUDDENLY IN LONDON

WOUNDED AT GETTYSBURG

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, June 22. — Lyndon Hoyt Stevens of Greenwich, Conn., who took part in the battle of Gettysburg, where he was wounded, was found dead in bed yesterday in the Grand Hotel, Charing Cross, where he had been a regular visitor for the last fourteen years. His death is believed to be due to heart disease.

Mr. Stevens arrived in London ten months ago and recently developed influenza. With his wife he went to Paris, and Mrs. Stevens sailed from Cherbourg for New York three weeks ago, Mr. Stevens intending, if possible, to sail on the Amerika next Friday.

On Monday night Mr. Stevens went to bed at 10 o'clock, asking to be called early the next morning. When a chambermaid entered the room she found him dead in bed, with a book clutched in his hand. An inquest held to-day was adjourned in order that a pathologist might make an analysis. According to the manager of the hotel, a glass containing liquid was found near the bedside, where also was a letter addressed to Mrs. Stevens, in which Mr. Stevens said he was not feeling well, and that he would sail this week or next, and made reference to some financial matters which he wished to settle before sailing.

A physician testified that he had attended Mr. Stevens frequently in the past few years, describing him as "one of those high-strung, neurotic, hard-working Americans who simply go on working until they drop."

New York took the big end and Brooklyn the little, and that sums up the game yesterday at Washington Park, when the Superbas dropped before the Giants by a score of 6 to 3. It was a defeat served up in the daintiest style by the men from the Polo Grounds, and 7,000 loyal Brooklyn rooters expended a wealth of lung power on their pets, that only made the victory stand out the more prominently. Brooklyn was scrappy and played a losing struggle with credit, but it was something on the order of a fox terrier pitted against a bulldog.

Now don't ask which team represented the bulldog.

There was one man of philanthropic mind on the Brooklyn team yesterday, who helped McGraw's players to the best of his ability, and that was sufficient to clinch the victory. Among his teammates he is known as Mr. Bell, or perhaps plain Bell, but at any rate he is a false alarm as far as helping the home team goes. The first four runs by New York, and they came in the first two innings, were enough to win for the Giants, and all were due primarily to Mr. Bell. When Devore, the first New Yorker at the bat, slashed a neat one past Smith for a base it looked as if Bell had missed his calling. Doyle followed with a hit to centre. Credited with pitching only one inning, the pitcher was on the mound in the second long enough to do damage that "Doc" Scanlon, who succeeded him, could not eradicate before the fourth run had crossed the plate.

It was not all New York's way in the pitching line either, and after Bell had been pounded to the bench the Superbas proceeded to dole out the same sort of distasteful medicine to Ames in the fifth, and he had to retire.

Scanlon, who came after Bell, was the man who should have started the game for Brooklyn, and in such a case there might have been a different story to tell. Eight of the Giants who faced him failed to connect with the sphere, and there were only five hits for the remainder of the game. He struck out every man on the New York team with the exception of Merkle and Meyers.

Crandall, who succeeded Ames, pitched masterly ball, and held the Brooklyn men safe when they were making a strong bid to retrieve their fallen fortunes. Two runs had been made off Ames's delivery when Crandall supplanted him. Brooklyn made the final tally of the game in the sixth when Erwin scored.

Devore started the New York fun in the first by beating out a hit to short. Doyle followed with a heavy one to centre for a base. Murray sacrificed, and Seymour, who followed him, sent a long one to right that let Devore get to the plate. Bridwell drew a gift and started to steal second to draw a throw. While he was being run down between the bases Doyle crossed the plate with the second run. Devlin could not get anything and was an easy infield out.

Merkle was the man of the moment in the second. He led off with a nice single, and Meyers landed full on the ball, driving one to right for a base, Merkle getting to third. Then Ames came up and slashed another single to centre that scored Merkle. It was here that Scanlon came into the game, and he immediately proceeded to strike out Devore. Doyle, however, was capable of sending out a long fly to Dalton that scored Meyers.

The next run for New York came in the fifth. Doyle could not touch Scanlon's curves, but Murray had better luck and drew a base on balls. He stole second and went to third on a neat sacrifice by Seymour. Then came Bridwell with a ripper of a single that brought in Murray. Bridwell tried to steal, but Erwin was alert and caught him easily. The final New York run came in the eighth. Seymour singled to right and Bridwell's out advanced him a base. Devlin went out of commission on an infield fly, but Merkle's hit was enough to bring in Beck, who ran for Seymour.

The brace of runs by Brooklyn came in the fifth. Scanlon dropped a Texas leaguer back of second. Dalton then drew a pass. Burch hit one through Ames and Scanlon went out at third. Wheat then singled to centre, sending Dalton in and Burch went to third. Hummel forced Wheat at second, but Burch was able to score on the play. Then Lennox walked and Mr. Ames retired for meditation. Crandall then pulled himself out of a hole in creditable style. Erwin scored the final Brooklyn run in the sixth.

The double-header season has brought pain and much grief to the Yankees, for in the second bargain matinee with the Athletics at American League Park yesterday they dropped two more games to Connie Mack's troop and made a crowd of 10,000 groan with disappointment. It was two Athletic moundsmen who really tamed the Yanks and halted their stretching ambitions, Coombs in the first game and Indian Chief Bender in the second obituary.

There's no denying the fact the Athletics played at top speed, and in the rush of their magnificent game the Yanks seemed too pale and couldn't get started. There was no hard luck in the Yankees' defeat; it was simply the speedy advance of the Quakertown bunch advancing at a gait which pushed aside everything in its path. They took the first game in a whitewash session, 8 to 0, and the second game by a count of 9 to 2.

In the first game Chase's men were powerless before the circuitious hurling of Coombs. Five scattered singles was the total of their lumber-smashing. It wasn't at all momentous, this kind of banging, for the hits were scattered between many innings and never threatened any damage. Indeed, it was somewhat of a sad spectacle to see this Yankee team, which has been going along at such an express train gait, stopped at this point in the battle by the Athletics. And more than that. Tuesday's double downfall might have been due to a temporary ailment, and the Yank supporters looked for a recovery of form yesterday, but it did not come. The Athletics were wide-awake and took quick advantage of every opening.

The Athletics started the ball rolling in the first inning. Hartsel and Oldring singled and Eddie T. Collins of Columbia rocked the bulb a terrific smash which would have been good for the circuit, but the ropes left up from the crush on Tuesday necessitated a ground rule, and Collins got two bases on the hit, scoring Hartsel. Baker walked and Oldring went home when Davis and Baker were being made the victims of a double play. Lapp walked in the second with one down, and then Mr. Warhop played a Santa Claus rôle and presented Hartsel, Oldring, and Collins with free tickets and forced in Lapp.

Sure, and they got a couple more in the third. Davis walked and Murphy forced him at second. Barry hit out a single to left and Lapp skied to Cree. Coombs then punched one to centre, scoring Murphy. Warhop threw wild to catch Coombs and Barry crossed the platter.

Manning went to the Yankees' relief in the fourth and the Athletics did no more destruction until the ninth. Coombs fanned, and Knight threw Hartsel out at first. Oldring then smashed a home run into the jungle between centre and right fields. Collins beat out an infield hit and took second on Manning's wild pitch. Baker was safe when Manning fumbled his grasser. Davis drew a pass, filling the bases. Murphy hoisted an easy balloon to Knight and you'd bet your new straw hat that Jack would squeeze it, but he made a handsome muff and Collins and Baker scored.

It is necessary to chronicle in relation to the second game that the redskin, Bender, was distressingly effective except in the third round, when the Yankees bunched three hits and got their only two runs of the afternoon. In contrast to this hit famine it might be related that the Athletics found Tom Hughes nice picking and rolled runs over the pan on him to their hearts' delight.

In the first inning Austin threw both Hartsel and Oldring out at first. Collins bounded one to Laporte, who threw to Chase, and Chase did an unusual thing when he dropped the ball. Collins was very bold and stole second and third. Baker crashed a triple to right and Collins tallied. Davis's fly to Hemphill ended the inning.

Murphy doubled to centre in the second, Hemphill just barely touching the bat as it rushed by. Barry beat out an infield hit. Donahue grassed to Hughes, who tossed home and Murphy was nabbed. Donahue going to second on the play and Barry to third. Bender flied to Cree, and Barry raced home.

The Yankees got two runs in the third. Wolter and Chase singled. Laporte hit out a single, scoring Wolter. Cree sacrificed, sending Chase to third. Hal scored on Knight's fly to left.

Philadelphia resumed hostilities in the seventh inning. Murphy doubled and Barry sacrificed him to third. Donahue walked, and Chief Bender crashed out a three-bagger, which sent Murphy and Donahue home. Bender scored on Topsy Hartsel's single. In the eighth, Baker singled, Davis walked, Murphy singled, and Baker was nabbed at the plate when he tried to score. Davis scored on Donahue's sacrifice fly. The Athletics rubbed it in for good measure in the ninth, when they fell on Hughes with a vengeance. Hartzell singled, and so did Oldring, but Hartzell was nabbed as he was sliding to third. Collins's two-bagger scored Oldring, and Baker's safety sent Collins home. Baker stole second and scored on Danny Murphy's wicked jolt for three bases. Baker and Murphy were the hit demons in this second session, each banging out four hits.

Double Victory for Red Sox.

BOSTON, June 22.—Boston won two games from Washington to-day, shutting them out 6 to 0 in the first and taking the second by a score of 2 to 1. Bunched hitting by the locals resulted in an easy victory in the opening game, and Stahl drove in the winning run in the final inning of the second game. A wild pitch gave Washington its only run, and a similar misplay resulted in Boston tying the score. Lord was put out of the second game in the ninth inning while at bat, and Speaker, who took his place, was hit. Hooper sacrificed and McBride fumbled Engle's grounder, Speaker going to third and scoring on Stahl's drive, that was good for a home run had it been needed. Scores:

SULLIVAN SORRY TO LEAVE FRISCO

BETTING CAUSES SURPRISE

By JOHN L. SULLIVAN.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, Cal., June 22.—We are leaving this good old town for Reno to-night with a great many regrets, not because we think Reno is such a bad place, but after having made all preparations so far in advance and having so many of our old friends here, we naturally anticipated quite a pleasant little sojourn in the Golden Gate city.

Leaving here merely for the fight in Reno is, of course, not the only sad thing we have to think of in connection with Frisco, but the contemplation of seeing the old town stricken off the map as one of the best sporting cities in America, as far as climatic conditions and the temperament of her people are concerned, this is no pleasant part of our farewell.

In view of the executive happenings here in connection with this contest, there is very little hope held out by San Franciscans and those from the East who are still here, waiting to move to Reno, that this city will ever see a return to the gold old days, because it is a matter of tradition that when movements of this sort have been organized and carried through with the determination that this one has, there is very little hope of a recurrence of old conditions.

Naturally, the element that is responsible for this change regards the situation in the sense of a reformation, but the rank and file of San Francisco regard it in a totally different light. To them it has been a step backward, and their only hope is that in the change of political conditions something of the old flavor and atmosphere will come back; but never again will a sporting event of the magnitude of the Jeffries-Johnson affair be attempted unless absolute assurance from the Governor of the State down is given that there will be no interference. As a matter of fact, I am of the opinion that after the Fourth of July affair, it will be a long time before the sporting world will see a real world's pugilistic championship battle.

Events have been trending to this condition for the last ten years. Supposing Jeffries did win. In the face of his oft repeated assertion that he would never fight again, who is there for him to fight? Then, take Johnson's side of it; in case he wins, who is there for him to fight? This probably explains why so much interest has been shown in this match. Old sporting men agree almost invariably that never before has the same situation been presented as has shown itself in the before and after aspect of the Jeffries-Johnson contest, and the fight itself will probably go down in the history of sport as the one great event in pugilism.

To show you what effect the taking away of this contest from San Francisco to Reno has had on the business interests alone, I talked with several prominent men here, and I was surprised to learn from their conversation that the losses to the different hotels and other lines of business will exceed $2,000,000. I have this from reliable authority, and I am assured that it is no fancy dream. After our return from Johnson's quarters to-day we stopped at the office of an old friend of mine, and in conversation with him he stated that in his place alone it meant a loss of $25,000.

Another remarkable phase of the matter is the change in sentiment which developed this morning. All along Jeffries has been regarded by the experts, that is, those who back their opinions with money, as a 10-to-7 favorite. This morning the price has been pushed a notch lower, and the odds are 10 to 6. There is no intelligent argument given for this change, when considering the records and methods of training since the match was made, and the actual condition of the principals to-day for making Jeffries a 10-to-6 favorite. To my way of thinking and that of those whom I have come in contact with, of betting propensities, it ought to be even money betting. The reason that was given out for this 10-to-7 betting was to force the Johnson people to produce their money. Hearing little from the 10-to-7 odds, those who started these odds came out this morning and offered 10 to 6 on Jeffries to find out if possible where the Johnson money is. In fact, this part of the betting has only developed in the newspapers occasionally. No doubt there have been some wagers made, but the odds of 10 to 7 first originated with Clarence Berry, a millionaire oil man of Los Angeles.

Mr. Berry, it seems, left $100,000 around at the different sporting headquarters of the city at odds of 10 to 8, and after he could not get that the odds dropped to 10 to 7. I have been told that fifteen Johnson men with $1,000 apiece have taken some of this money. No doubt before ten days have passed there will be many more who will take the short end, and it seems to be the general opinion nowadays that short-end bettors are always the winners.

I had my theatrical manager, Mr. Hall, who is at Reno, on the long-distance 'phone this morning, and he holds out very favorable hope for Reno in so far as accommodations and preparations for handling a big affair of this sort are concerned. As a matter of fact, he is exceptionally optimistic over the whole thing. He expects as big a crowd at Reno as there would have been at San Francisco. Naturally I don't hold out any such hope. I only wish it would prove to be true, for certainly Rickard and Gleason deserve all the compensation that it is possible to get after their many troubles, and in view of the enterprise they have shown in handling such a vast undertaking.

I think these two fellows will be thoroughly satisfied with 12,000 spectators, and that is about four times as many as saw the Fitzsimmons-Corbett fight in Carson City. Of course, there are no such drawbacks confronting the promoters which stumped poor old Dan Stuart, when that old sport lost his bank roll but went through with the game to his limit.

I hope to see Jeffries go through his daily routine before another twenty-four hours pass, and I am prepared to see one of the most remarkable physical reformations that ever came under my notice, as I have heard so much about the wonders that Jeff has accomplished with himself from mutual friends I have talked to since I arrived here. Probably no fighter that ever lived had the dogged determination that Jeff has. You know it takes a vast amount of will-power for a fellow to strike out from five years of easy living and get down to the hard monotonous grind of training for a fight. To me there is nothing so unpleasant as this daily work, plug, plug, from morning till night with hardly any diversion.

Jeffries' temperament helps him a whole lot here. He is such a quiet, unassuming sort of a fellow, with none of the harum scarum ideas that I had and that almost all other pugilists have, and that alone will do more to bring him through to a perfect physical condition than anything else.

JOHNSON HAS MANY FRIENDS.

Special to The New York Times.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—One of the surprising things in connection with the coming fight between Jeffries and Johnson is the strongly intrenched place Johnson occupies in the minds of so many hereabouts. Notwithstanding the carelessness the black champion has displayed in his training, he has many friends for the big issue on July 4. Among the sports, however—those who back their opinions with money—Jeffries is the favorite.

It is common talk here that Johnson has upset all the rules and traditions of fight training. He is not at all careful in the selection of his food, and he indulges in the sweet things to eat and the tabooed drinkables to his utmost content. Not only that, but he keeps late hours, and altogether he has defied the general scheme of proverbial training. Knowing all this is what probably actuated the gamblers to raise the price on Jeffries. With the odds at 10 to 7 very little Johnson money was shown. This morning, however, the tension of the Jeffries money slackened, and odds of 10 to 6 were offered on the big boilermaker.

Those people who have insisted all along that Jeffries might invent some excuse for not fighting the black must take off their hats to the man from Southern California. He is the one who has made the first start for the country, and his actions in getting away will do more to convince people in the East, as well as in California, that the bout will take place as scheduled.

There has been absolutely no delay on the part of Jeffries and his camp. Several days ago, in fact, the order was given to pack all the gymnasium apparatus and be ready to make the start, and Jeffries, from present plans, will be installed in his Nevada training quarters fully two days in advance of Johnson. This may have been because Jeffries' advisers have urged him to become acclimated in the higher altitude of Reno, but at all events he is showing the proper spirit.

The "off to Reno" movement, which started when Tex Rickard left on Monday morning, was further augmented today. The Overland Limited in the morning carried many bound for Reno, but the big crowd left at 9 o'clock to-night.

Whether the break in the training will have done any injury to the fighters remains to be seen. The trainers in the Jeffries camp declare that it is the best thing that could have happened, as far as the big fellow is concerned. They say that he needed a rest, and that it has done more to put him in good spirits than any amount of the regular grind could possibly have accomplished. I was talking to Jim Corbett last night about the Nevada country and what effect the altitude might have upon the two fighters.

"Of course, it will make a difference," he said, "but then, it is just as fair to one as to the other. The only possible way that it could interfere with them would be in their wind, and I think that two weeks or ten days will put them in such shape that they will not notice the difference. I have trained in that country and fought there, and after a couple of weeks in training I could fight just as fast as ever.

"I have urged Jeffries to make the change as soon as it could possibly be arranged, for I want him to have the full benefit of accustoming himself to the new conditions. That is why the whole camp is on the move at the present time. I know that Jeffries's wind is in good shape, and from what I hear from the other camp Johnson will have no trouble in that regard."

In spite of the exodus across the State line to Nevada there will be considerable excitement in San Francisco until the day before the fight. Tom Corbett will handle the betting from this end, while already the men who are planning special trains are doing a world of hustling to make the proper arrangements.

Another selection made this afternoon was training quarters for Jack Johnson. Tom Flanagan, the champion's manager, after looking over several sites, finally settled upon a roadhouse three miles southwest of Reno, known as Rick's Resort. According to Flanagan it is an excellent place for a training camp and affords all the necessary facilities.

"From now on I am a miner, after this fight comes off on the Fourth of July. I will never mix into the pugilistic game again."

That was the statement made by Tex Rickard late to-night after he had seen the contract for the construction of his arena awarded to a local contractor. The setbacks and trouble that has accompanied the handling of the fight has disgusted him with pugilism and he will devote his entire attention to the development of his mines in Nevada.

Although Rickard awarded the fight to Reno in the face of a $200,000 guarantee made by the Goldfield delegation this morning, the action of the local men who met last night had a pronounced effect on him. Once when he was asked if he would give a bond for the construction of the arena Tex lost all patience, and seemed on the verge of giving up the $12,000, and constructing the arena with his own money.

Rickard and Gleason now have lawsuits on their hands in addition to all their other troubles. Ernest E. Howell, a lessee of A. B. McCreery, filed a $1,000 damage suit against Rickard and Gleason for rent on the Eight and Mission Streets property, where the fight promoters had started to erect their arena. Howell further applies for an order restraining the promoters and the Olsen Mahoney Lumber Company from tearing down the incomplete stadium, and from removing the lumber from the premises.

Around the suite of offices of Attorney General U. S. Webb on the twelfth floor of the Humboldt Building, which was the centre of excitement a week ago, quiet reigned to-day. The world had slid back into its customary groove. There was no prizefight action. Routine work prevailed and the atmosphere was as peaceful as the shady side of a farmhouse on a blazing hot afternoon.

A similar dearth of "fight news" prevailed all day at the office of Mayor McCarthy, and his secretary, F. C. Leffingwell, said they had been very busy catching up with the routine business of the city's affairs and had not taken any more fight conferences.

Jack Johnson announced after his workout to-day in the gymnasium that Billy Delaney would be his chief second in the coming battle. Prof. Burns and Doc Furey will assist. The veteran trainer and maker of champions had a long talk with the big black yesterday about the coming scrap and also superintended his work in the gymnasium. Johnson went through a heavy day's work to-day—the last to be done in his present quarters at the Seal Rock.

JEFFRIES ARRIVES AT NEW QUARTERS

RICKARD PERFECTING PLANS

Promoter Certain There Will Be No State Interference—Work on Arena Started.

Special to The New York Times.

RENO, Nev., June 22.—James J. Jeffries to-night is installed in the training camp prepared for him at Moana Springs, three miles south of Reno, and work on the arena for the fight is under way. Promoter Rickard says he is satisfied that State officers will make no attempt to intecfere with the fight. Sid Hester announced to-night that, having failed to get the use of the Jeffries and Johnson arena, he will take out a license and build an arena of his own to stage the Langford and Ketchel contest on the morning of July 4. This is the fight situation in Reno to-night.

Jeffries and his corps of trainers and sparring partners are safely housed, but the new quarters are so crowded that only those actually connected with the fighter's preparation can be with him there. Notwithstanding lack of room, however, Jeffries says he is thoroughly satisfied and will remain at the place until the day of the fight. He and his party have a rose-covered two-story cottage, similar in style but not in size to that occupied by him at Ben Lomond, Cal.

By noon to-morrow most of the apparatus for gymnasium practice will be ready for use. A straight road leading to a range of snow-capped mountains in the west pleases Jeffries. Corbett, Choynski, and others expressed themselves as well satisfied with the new camp.

An especially good point about Moana Springs, according to Trainer Corbett, is a platform just behind the Jeffries cottage. This will be used for boxing. This platform will give Jeffries an opportunity of boxing either in the sunshine or in the shade. The sun shines directly on it in the morning, while oak trees protect it during the afternoon.

While Jeffries looked longingly at the road this afternoon he did no work. After a hot soda bath and a rub he busied himself in straightening out his luggage. To-morrow he will take to the highway for a little jaunt. Jim Corbett has advised Jeffries not to undertake heavy road work, as it would only serve to slow him down.

"I am through with the long runs," Jeffries said. "When I do go on the road after this it will be for only two or three hundred yard sprints."

No reply to the telegram sent Gov. Dickerson yesterday has been received by Rickard. The promoter believes that no matter what pressure is brought to bear on Nevada's Chief Executive the Governor will not interfere with the fight. Still Rickard would rest easier if he had the Governor's personal assurance, and he is impatiently awaiting a telegram bearing the Governor's signature and promising immunity. Rickard to-day said that if the fight were stopped in Nevada he would not try to stage it elsewhere. But he felt sure that there would be no trouble in Reno.

It is said that many business men of Reno are opposed to Hester's plans for a double fight bill on Independence Day. They fear the visiting crowds will spend their time watching the two ring attractions and will have no opportunity to patronize Reno's stores and amusements.

Everybody to-night wanted to know just what Jeffries thought of Reno as compared with Ben Lomond. If his replies to questions were pieced together the composite statement would be as follows:

I wish to tell the people of Nevada, and of Reno in particular, that I am glad the fight is going to be held in Reno. I can go ahead now, knowing that there is to be no further change in plans. I am in just as good condition as I ever was in my life, or better, and I can promise the people of Nevada that the white man's end of the battle of the century will be well taken care of on July 4. There has been some talk about the high altitude affecting me. I am not worrying about that. I have always been able to stand the altitude wherever I have been. Just before I went into training at Ben Lomond I was in the mountains around the Tehachapi Pass for some time, at an elevation of over 6,000 feet. I climbed mountains and did a lot of other work, and even then it never affected me. If it did not then, it is not going to now, after the careful training I have been through. Up here in Reno, where there is plenty of warm sunshine and good fishing, I expect to round into the best form I have ever been in.

Tom Flanagan busied himself to-day preparing for the negro champion's arrival Friday. Two boxing platforms are building beside the road house picked out for Johnson's camp. One is to have a wooden floor, the other a floor of tamped earth.

According to a letter received by Flanagan, "Billy" Delaney, the veteran trainer, will not accompany Johnson to Reno, and may not come till some time next week. "I don't think anything is wrong," Flanagan said, when asked for an explanation. "Delaney knows his business, and he probably figures that Jack won't need him for a few days."

JOHNSON DEFIES POLICE.

Break Down Doors to Arrest Negro for Auto Speeding.

SAN FRANCISCO, June 22.—For a time to-day it appeared that one of the principals in the July 4 battle at Reno would be missing because Jack Johnson refused to be arrested for exceeding the speed limit in his racing automobile.

Johnson told Mounted Patrolman Lewis that he could arrest only his dead body; but when Lewis, with the assistance of two other patrolmen, battered down the door of the room in which the champion had locked himself, the fighter surrendered as meekly as an ordinary violator of the speed regulations.

Johnson had been downtown getting transportation to Reno for the members of his camp, and was speeding for his quarters at what Lewis says was fifty miles an hour. Lewis attempted to halt him. Johnson laughed derisively at Lewis, shouting, "On your way, kid," and was lost in a cloud of dust. Following as fast as his horse could carry him, Lewis arrived a few minutes after the champion at the training camp, where he told Johnson that he must be more careful of the speed laws.

Johnson then dramatically declared that an arrest could be made only over his dead body, and locked himself in his room. Summoning two other patrolmen, Lewis shoved aside some of the camp followers, who attempted to interfere, and kicked in the door. The champion submitted to arrest and accompanied the officers to the office of Chief of Police Martin, who persuaded Lewis to reduce the charge of resisting an officer to that of speeding. No charge was placed against Sig. Hart, who was arrested with Johnson. Producing $50 cash bail, Johnson was released, and instructed to appear for a hearing in the police court tomorrow morning. If the champion escapes with a fine, he will be able to start for Reno to-morrow night according to schedule.

Gans Denies That He Is Dying.

PRESCOTT, Arizona, June 22.—"I may be a has been, but I am not dead. In fact, I am more alive now than when I left the East," declared Joe Gans, veteran lightweight, who is here fighting tuberculosis. He read a dispatch from Baltimore yesterday saying that his friends in the East had word that he was dying.

"My doctor says I am improving, and I feel a great deal better than when I first came to Arizona," Gans said.

Gillett Stops Another Fight.

BAKERSFIELD, Cal., June 22.—As a result of a letter from Gov. Gillett to District Attorney Laird to stop the twenty-round Morvic-O'Neil fight scheduled for Thursday night, the bout has been called off.

THREE AUTO RECORDS.

New Figures Established for One, Two and Three Miles.

ST. PAUL, Minn., June 22.—Three world's automobile records were broken at the Twin City meet at the State Fair Grounds to-day. Barnel Oldfield lowered the one-mile and the two-mile records, and Ben Kerscher set a new world's mark for three miles on a circular track.

Oldfield, driving his 200 horse power Benz, made both of his records in the two-mile event. Taking a flying start, he made the first mile in 49 4-5 seconds and the second mile in 50 1-5 seconds, making the time for the two miles 1:40. The former mile record was 50 4-5, held held by Ralph De Palma, and the two miles was 1:44 4-5, made by Oldfield at Los Angeles.

Kerscher's new record for three miles was made in a 100 horse power Darracq, a former Vanderbilt Cup winner. His time was 2:36 1-5. The former record of 2:38 4-5 was made by Ralph De Palma on the same track a year ago.

Glenn H. Curtiss, J. C. Mars, and Charles F. Willard postponed trials for altitude, speed, and endurance aeroplane records on account of unfavorable atmospheric conditions, but they gave several exhibition flights.

ONE CAR WITH CLEAN SCORE.

Glidden Tourists in Hard Day's Run from Dallas to Lawton.

Special to The New York Times.

LAWTON, Okla., June 22.—Through excessive heat that tested men as well as automobiles, the Glidden tourists arrived to-night from Dallas, making 207 miles, the best day's record of the trip. Both the pilot and the pacemakers are slightly disabled. Fourteen cars remain in the contest.

Only one car remains with a clean score, Bolger's No. 5 Chalmers. Much sand was encountered on the day's run from Dallas, causing overheating of engines, resulting in several penalizations for taking water. The following cars were penalized to-night:

Chalmers No. 3, 3 points; Glide No. 10, 104 points for replacing broken spring; Maxwell No. 7, 43 points for replacing spring clip, putting in new radius rod, and adjusting fan belt; Chalmers No. 4, 12 points for taking water; Molines Nos. 101 and 102, 3 points each for taking water; Premier No. 1, 3 points for taking water, but as it acted as confetti car and was taken off course several times, the penalty will probably be removed.

George Watson's Chalmers No. 5, was withdrawn as a competing car to-night and will carry the confetti hereafter.

CATSKILL HILL CLIMB.

Endurance Run to be Followed with Hard Mountain Contest.

Arrangements have been made to hold a three days' run and hill climb in the Catskill Mountains July 16, 17, and 18. The Contest Board of the A. A. A. has been requested to issue a sanction for the event. The run will leave New York Saturday, July 16. The party will tour the mountains on Sunday, and the climb will be held on Monday morning. The run back to New York will be on the same day. The climb will be up Cove Mountain, and will be the hardest in the country, except that up Mount Washington.

SQUADRON A POLO FINAL.

First Team Wins Inter-Regimental Cup by 10 Goals to 9½.

By the close margin of half a goal Squadron A first team defeated the fourth team yesterday at Van Cortlandt Park in the final match for the inter-regimental cup. The fourth team received a handicap of ten goals, but failed to add any points. The team lost one-half a goal through a penalty on H. Goddard in the sixth period, while the first team tallied ten times and played a perfect game, escaping all penalties.

The winning team held a distinct advantage, in that they rode their own ponies, while the fourth team players were mounted on Squadron ponies and were not familiar with their work on the field. Even with this disadvantage the fourth team kept its opponents busy during the seven periods, and would have forced an extra period but for the penalty. The game was snappy throughout, and the shooting unusually accurate. The line-up:

FIRST TEAM.	FOURTH TEAM.
2—P. Boyer.	2—H. Goddard.
3—L. J. Hunt.	3—W. Boulton.
Back—H. Cram.	Back—J. B. Spencer.

Goals—J. H. Hunt (3,) P. Boyer (3,) H. Cram (3,) L. J. Hunt, 1. Penalties—H. Goddard, one-half goal. Handicap—Fourth Team, 10 goals. Final score—First Team, 19 goals; Fourth Team, 9½ goals. Referee—Mr. H. Holt.

Pennsylvania's Cricket Victory.

An event, unusual enough in good-class cricket to demand special notice, is the performance of the "hat trick." In the game played yesterday between All New York and the University of Pennsylvania at Bay Ridge, W. Bonnar of the Crescent Athletic Club, playing for All New York, captured five wickets in six balls, four in succession, and made a record for the local season. Even with this wonderful performance to help them the New Yorkers were defeated by a margin of 52 runs on account of poor work with the bat.

When the visitors went to bat a splendid start was made, and 160 runs were registered for the fall of but 4 wickets. E. Hopkinson, Jr., made the top score in an innings of 40, and he was materially aided by C. H. Winter, A. Hunter, Jr., G. McElhone, and E. Wood. Bonnar's advent with the ball, however, changed the complexion of the game, and the side was out for an addition of 11 runs.

W. F. Jackson and E. B. Reece started splendidly for New York, and 93 runs were totaled before they were disposed of. Jackson's score was 37 and Reece scored 38, but only J. H. Briggs and A. D. Robinson were able to play the bowling of McElhone and Hunter in the later stages of the game, and wickets fell rapidly. McElhone took 5 wickets for 58 runs, while Hunter captured 4 for 26 runs.

All New York will meet All Philadelphia today on the grounds of the Staten Island Cricket Club, at Livingston. The score:

SUBSTITUTE FOUR RACE IS ASSURED

Special to The New York Times.

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., June 22.—The race for the substitute fours in training here with the 'Varsity college crews is now assured, and it will probably take place to-morrow afternoon. Syracuse, Pennsylvania, and Columbia have consented to enter one four, while the Cornell boys will enter two. The Columbia shell will be boated as follows: Kinney, bow; Mahon, No. 2; Alexander, No. 3; and Pierrepont, graduate rowing director, stroke.

An event happened in the work of the Quaker fours this morning which made them forget the heat entirely and turn their attention to saving themselves from swamping in midstream. The two combinations had just engaged in a race and were pulling the last leg of it when one of the men in the substitute four caught a crab, which gave the light shell a terrific wrench. Before the oarsman could get his oar loose it snapped short, the strain coming on the wash box, which in turn received a smashing. Then H. P. Smith lost his head and in scrambling around to steady the shell succeeded in putting his foot through the boat. The four men yelled to the coach that they could make the boathouse, but it was a close call.

The Quakers' 'Varsity and freshman eights were taken down far below the finish mark and tried racing starts from the pistol shot during the morning. The Syracuse crews also went down that way, though they were only what Jim Ten Eyck called "paddling lazily" at a stroke of 31, according to his own figures. For most of the other crews rowing at a 31 stroke is paddling along at a pretty fast clip, especially for a hot day. This but goes to show at what a high stroke the Orange crews are trained to row.

The work in the afternoon took on a more serious hue, however, than that in the morning, Cornell rowing over the course, Penn going over with all of their crews for time trials, and Columbia and Wisconsin rowing over parts at a high clip. The only crew that took a leisurely but long pull was the Syracuse 'Varsity, which rowed some nine miles. Courtney has been pushing his boats harder than it was expected he would do in these last few days before the crucial event, and more so than he even predicted that he would do.

Columbia's work in the morning was rather light, though the Morningsiders came in for a hard pull of two miles in the forenoon, when they sprinted for the whole distance. In the afternoon they came down the full course, finishing hard. The 'Varsity eight is still working on racing starts, and it is thought that this will be about the last of the hard rowing for them.

HOT FOR THAMES OARSMEN.

Neither Harvard Nor Yale Engages In Hard Practice on River.

RED TOP, Conn., June 22.—With smooth water and a very slight favoring tide the Harvard 'Varsity fours raced upstram to-night from the Navy Yard to a point opposite the freshman crew quarters. The second four had a little the better of the start and at the end of the first mile led by a quarter of a length, covering the distance in 5:55. From the end of the first mile to the finish the boats interchanged positions, the 'Varsity four making a final spurt and winning by a half length in 12:11⅕. At no time did the stroke fall below 35, and for the first mile it was at 38.

The 'Varsity eight was towed down to the three-mile mark and paddled back to quarters at a stroke that was not higher than 30. The freshman eight paddled down stream for half a mile and the freshman four paddled around in front of their clubhouse.

GALES FERRY, Conn., June 22.—On account of the heat which continued through the day the Yale rowing practice to-night was very light. All the crews went down stream as far as the Navy Yard at a very slow stroke, and returned in a similar manner. No one was made to do any hard rowing.

Ginty Whips Steckey at Sharkey A. C.

Tommy Ginty, a lad who is gradually forging his way to the front in local pugilistic circles, completely outclassed George Steckey last night in the star bout of six rounds at the Sharkey Athletic Club. In the opening round Ginty sailed into his opponent, landing his hard left to the body in quick succession before Steckey could figure out what was happening. Steckey was cautious and danced around without landing any blows for quite a while, and then when he did land the blows had little effect. Steckey showed better form in the second round, and managed to get an even break through his standing off and exchanging at long range rather than at the close work, which appeared to suit Ginty best. The second was the only round that Steckey managed to break even, as the four following were all in favor of Ginty by large margins. The latter carried the milling to Steckey all through the fight, landing hard lefts and rights mostly to the body, with an occasional jab to the face. Both men directed the bulk of their work to the body, and at the final gong neither of their faces showed any marks. Steckey rallied for a few seconds, but was quickly forced to take the defensive side, and in the third round was sent to the canvas by a hard right-hand swing to the face. In the final round Ginty tried his best to put Steckey away by going right after him from the gong and mixing it up in a fast manner, forcing Steckey to cover. When the latter uncovered Ginty landed rights and lefts in rapid style, but was unable to finish the affair before the bell.

WOMEN'S TENNIS PLAY.

Miss Hammond and Miss Wildey Chief Victors at Philadelphia.

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—Close and hard-fought matches in all events rounded out the most successful day's play of the week in the women's National championship lawn tennis tournament on the courts of the Philadelphia Cricket Club. In the women's singles, doubles, and mixed doubles the semi-finals were reached.

In the singles, to which most of the popular interest attaches, the particular honors went to Miss Louise Hammond of New York and to Miss Edna Wildey of Plainfield, N. J. Miss Hammond defeated Miss Carrie B. Neely, the Chicago champion, in a match which attracted attention because of its intercity character.

The hardest fought match of the day was that between Miss Dorothy Green, Philadelphia's sole survivor in the third round, and Miss Browning of New York, who is a clubmate of Miss Hammond. Miss Green took the first set, 6—3, but after that her accuracy seemed to fail her, and Miss Browning's unerring steadiness pulled her out a winner. Miss Edna Wildey defeated Miss Lois Moyes of Toronto.

Miss Hazel Hotchkiss, the National champion, made her first appearance of the week in tournament play, when she and Miss Rotch defeated Miss Moise and Miss Green in the second round of the women's doubles. The scores:

Women's Singles.—Second round—Mrs. Sullivan, Richmond, defeated Miss Lucy Diaston, Philadelphia, 6—2, 4—6, 6—0.

Third round—Miss Louise Hammond, New York, defeated Miss Carrie B. Neely, Chicago, 6—1, 8—6; Miss Edith Rotch, Boston, defeated Mrs. Sullivan, 6—2, 6—4; Miss Edna Wildey, Plainfield, defeated Miss Lois Moyes, Toronto, 6—3, 6—4; Miss Browning, New York, defeated Miss Dorothy Green, Philadelphia, 3—6, 6—3, 6—2.

Women's Doubles.—First round—Mrs. Sullivan and Miss Meredith defeated Miss Wiener and Miss Tattersfield, 6—3, 6—3.

Second round—Miss Rotch and Miss Hotchkiss defeated Miss Lois Moyes and Miss Green, 10—8, 6—4; Mrs. A. J. Drexel Paull and Miss Biddle defeated Miss Merrick and Miss Ross, 6—2, 6—4; Miss Browning and Miss Wildey defeated Mrs. Sullivan and Miss Meredith, 6—0, 6—2; Mrs. W. H. Pouch and Miss C. B. Neely defeated the Misses Diaston, 6—4, 6—3.

Mixed Doubles.—Second Round—Miss D. Green and C. S. Rogers defeated Mrs. Olyphant and R. E. Townsend, 6—2, 6—1; Miss Neely and L. S. Oliver defeated Miss Isabel Sayres and W. M. Steward, 3d, 6—2, 6—1; Miss Moyes and A. D. Thayer defeated Miss Hammond and H. D. Riley, 6—7, 6—2, 6—4; Miss Hotchkiss and J. R. Carpenter, Jr., defeated Mrs. Pouch and R. Thayer, Jr., 6—2, 6—2; Miss Rotch and Wallace F. Johnson won from Miss Henry and M. W. Stroud, Jr., by default.

Touchard Defeats Alexander.

Displaying that phenomenal command of the ball, which is his greatest asset, Gustave F. Touchard defeated Frederick B. Alexander, 2—6, 12—10, 6—2, in the fourth round of the metropolitan lawn tennis championship singles yesterday upon the turf courts of the West Side Tennis Club, 238th Street and Review Place. Twice in the second set Alexander was within a stroke of winning. On each occasion Touchard whipped across the short half-volleys for which he is noted, cleanly passing his famous opponent for the ace and thus saving the match for himself. National Singles Champion William A. Larned played his usual match and reached the fifth round, defeating C. Leonard, 6—4, 6—2. The beginning of the doubles did not produce any noteworthy sport. The defaults were liberally applied, and the best contest was that in which Wylie C. Grant and Theodore R. Pell defeated Julio M. Steinacher and George P. Parkes, 6—1, 7—5. The summary:

Metropolitan Championship Men's Singles, (Third Round.)—W. Leonard defeated E. P. Fischer, 6—0, 6—4; C. R. Gardner defeated W. C. Grant, 6—3, 6—4; R. A. Holden, Jr., defeated A. Bassford, Jr., 6—3, 6—2; J. C. Tomlinson defeated W. S. Slade, 6—0, 7—5; N. H. Bundy defeated G. A. L. Dioenr, 6—4, 7—5; T. R. Pell defeated B. M. Phillips, 6—0, 6—3.

William J. Clothier, National lawn tennis singles champion of 1906, and several times a player on the American international teams, is ill with typhoid fever.

Tennis at Knickerbocker Club.

The Knickerbocker Field Club has just issued its prospectus for the annual open tennis tournament, which will be started on June 27, and the indications are that a large gathering of players from the metropolitan district will compete in singles and doubles. For a long time the club has been the social centre of Flatbush, and it is understood that this year the Entertainment Committee is to join hands with the Tennis Committee to make the tournament and attendant festivities even more enjoyable than last year. Cards extending the privilege of the house and grounds are to be issued to all contestants and their friends. Entries should be sent to H. S. Roberts, 8 Tennis Court, Flatbush, Brooklyn.

Niles Beats Champion Seaver.

BOSTON, Mass., June 22.—Nathaniel W. Niles, intercollegiate tennis champion, to-day won the Massachusetts State championship by defeating in straight sets R. C. Seaver, holder of the title for several years. The scores were 6—3, 6—0, 6—3. Niles during the past ten days had fought his way through a great field of State experts in order to challenge Seaver. The match was played under sweltering conditions at the courts of the Longwood Cricket Club. Niles's service had Seaver constantly at a loss for adequate return.

Wright Wins Again Abroad.

WIMBLEDON, England, June 22.—Beals C. Wright of Boston won another victory in the all-England championship tennis tournament to-day, defeating F. G. Lowe in the third round of the singles in three straight sets.

SHARP BREAK IN WHEAT

Rains in Spring Wheat Country Cheer Wall Street—Fall in London Discounts Points to Lower Bank Rate.

Reports of scattering rains over the Spring wheat belt, accompanied by predictions from the Weather Bureau in Washington of lower temperatures and further rainfall in the Northwest, led to sharp declines in wheat on all the leading grain markets and released Wall Street from the anxiety under which it has labored for several days. The rains which fell in the Dakotas and Minnesota yesterday were by no means general, nor were they heavy enough to make up for the long continued drought in particular sections of that territory, but they presented evidence, convincing to the professional traders, whose operations have dominated the stock market for days past, that Nature is still benevolent, although the assurance will probably have to be repeated a great many times in the next few weeks. Those who had been selling stocks short turned about, while others whose attitude had been merely a waiting one deemed the outlook so improved as to warrant moderate buying. The net result upon prices was a sustained and fairly vigorous advance all along the line. The market closed strong after a day's trading, which by comparison with the volume of earlier days of the week and of practically all sessions last week might well be described as active. A few issues stood out from the list in point of strength. This was true of American Sugar, which on unusually heavy trading rose 4 points, the improvement being not unconnected with the growing confidence in the new régime in this much investigated and litigated concern, while Reading and Consolidated Gas also rose sharply, the last named stock upon repetition of the persistent report or an approaching increase in the dividend, which is now 4 per cent., but which it will be remembered can be advanced to 6 per cent. under the august auspices of the United States Supreme Court, which ruled that such a disbursement was a fair one for a concern engaged in this line of business.

Announcement that the packing house interests of Chicago and the Middle West had come to an agreement with the railroads over the rate question was a very decided factor in the promotion of the cheerful sentiment prevalent in the financial community and concretely expressed in the strength of the stock market. In one way and another these interests controlled a very considerable amount of traffic aside from packing house products proper, and it was assumed, and very reasonably, that the understanding arrived at between them and the railroads will form the basis for agreements between the roads and other shipping interests and thus lead to the early acceptance of at least fair increases in rates with the entire sanction of the Inter-State Commerce Commission. Another matter of cheerful import was the announcement of the prompt sale of the offering of New York Central equipment certificates taken by a leading banking house on Tuesday. Some evidence of betterment in the investment market, aside from this particular transaction, is to be found, but it is confessedly slow and confined to a limited class of securities.

Open market discounts fell so sharply in London yesterday as to indicate a belief on the part of bankers of that city in a near-by reduction in the Bank of England's rate. Expectations were even entertained of such a cut at to-day's meeting of the Directors of the Bank, but in any event a lowering of the quotation cannot be far off. At the present open market rates borrowing on finance bills is encouraged and has been going forward. The foreign exchange market reflected the situation in London by a further marked decline in demand sterling, which at one time sold down 25 points and closed off nearly as much. Offerings of security bills, especially in connection with the New York Central equipment certificates, were substantial, it appearing that investment in this issue by foreign bankers has been heavy.

CONSOLIDATED EXCHANGE.

Wednesday.

Odd-lot buying by commission houses on a heavy scale was the feature of the dealings on the Consolidated Stock Exchange. The market broadened out decidedly, with fifty-seven different stocks represented in to-day's transactions. The latter totaled 60,600 shares. Floor sentiment was cheerful, with the rains in the Northwest and the break in wheat prices exerting a favorable influence.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Borrowing on Finance Bills.

The custom of borrowing money in London on finance bills, which from time to time has been practiced to so great an extent as to cause some uneasiness in the London market despite that in the very nature of things they perfectly free transactions on the part of London bankers, is again being restored to since money has become so easy in London as to induce bankers there to make use of it in loans to this market. Such loans were referred to in the financial district yesterday as having been made in London for ninety days at 1⅞ per cent., which is a very low rate compared with that prevailing here. The naming of this discount rate in London tells, however, only part of the story, for in addition those who float finance bills have to pay a commission to the London banker usually amounting to one-fourth of 1 per cent., and there are some incidental expenses which add a slight fraction to the rate. This brings the rate on these loans above the prevailing rate for call money, although it is less than the ninety-day rate in this market. As an offset to this difference, however, is the chance assumed by the New York borrower by means of these finance bills that when his loan matures exchange rates may have advanced.

Look for Lower Bank Rate.

The ease in the London money market, of which the willingness to lend money here is an indication, may lead, it is thought, to a further reduction in the minimum rate of discount of the Bank of England, which stands now at 3 per cent. That the discount rate in the open market in London is so much below the bank rate is looked upon as pointing to the likelihood of a further reduction in the bank rate.

Back Dividends Wait.

The banking interests which have controlled the policy of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company since its receivership after the panic took no action yesterday on the question of paying up the back dividends on the 7 per cent. preferred stock. There are 8¾ per cent. in back dividends due to stockholders on account of the payments passed during the receivership period. Since last Fall the company's business has increased until, as was pointed out in the annual report, issued a few days ago, unfilled orders make a larger total than at any time since the high wave of prosperity in 1907. The Directors contented themselves yesterday with declaring the usual quarterly disbursement on the preferred stock and their action was watched with interest as an indication of the conservatism with which the outlook is regarded.

Cross Currents in Steel.

The trade reviews of the iron and steel situation this week talk hopefully of the mills being in most lines "fairly well supplied with work for the Summer." The closing of the first half of the current year within another week calls out comment on the contrast between the certainty with which the trade then went ahead and the present hesitation. There is promise, however, of further railroad buying and bridge and structural work continues to hold up strongly.

THE EUROPEAN MARKETS.

Happenings of a Day in London, Paris, and Berlin.

LONDON, June 22.—Money was plentiful and easy and discount rates were weak to-day.

Although there was no increase in business on the Stock Exchange, the tone remained good, the lower discount rates and the gold influx creating the impression that another reduction in the bank rate is not far distant. Consols advanced five-sixteenth, and home rails were supported, while foreign securities and Kaffirs hardened fractionally on Continental support.

American securities opened dull and irregular. Unfavorable weather and crop news caused a decline in the morning. Trading was light until the last quarter hour, when Wall Street buying improved the leaders from a half to a full point, and made the closing firm.

Bar silver steady, 24¾d per ounce.

Money, 2@2½ per cent.

The rate of discount in the open market for short bills is 2⅝@2½ per cent.; for three months' bills, 2¼@2 5-16 per cent.

India Council bills were allotted to-day at 1s 3 31-32d.

Gold premiums are quoted as follows: At Madrid, 7.95; at Lisbon, 8.50.

Bullion amounting to £217,000 was taken into the Bank of England to-day.

PARIS, June 22.—Trading was dull and prices were steady on the Bourse to-day.

The private rate of discount was advanced ¼ to 2½ per cent.

Exchange on London, 25f 20½c for checks.

BERLIN, June 22.—Trading was light and prices were slightly lower on the Boerse to-day.

THE COMMODITIES MARKETS.

There was a complete reversal in the action of the wheat market. The official report of a few showers in the Northwest, of much cooler weather in the Canadian Northwest, private reports of showers, official prediction of showers in the Dakotas and Western Minnesota, and late in the day a special forecast of cooler weather and probably showers in the Northwest caused a heavy realizing movement which carried the market down 2 to 3 cents a bushel, with prices very unsettled late and the close near the low point. There were reports of rain in Russia and also cables of good rains in the Argentine, while in the Winter wheat belt the weather was all that could be desired for the maturing of the crop and the promotion of harvest. Northwestern advices were much more hopeful. Even the conservative reports admitted, however, that there had been considerable damage, and it would be impossible to tell how serious the injury was until after rains had fallen and there was time to see how much recovery there would be in the crop from the unfavorable positions. The excitement during the day was pronounced and trading was very active. The Northwestern and Winnipeg markets showed the greatest decline, as they the previous day showed the greatest advance. The reports from the Southwest were quite optimistic as to the Winter wheat situation.

The weather has been ideal and the harvest is making rapid advancement into the main Winter wheat belt. Cash wheat was reported very dull, and there is but little demand, while the flour trade has apparently not been influenced by the advance in futures. A special report from the Northwest on the flour situation shows that the sales the past week were less than the output of the mills. Cash wheat quoted No. 2 red Winter, $1.05 bid, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight; No. 2 red spot, nominal, free on board, afloat, for export, $1.06⅛; No. 1 Northern Spring, $1.17½, nominal; No. 2 hard Winter, nominal, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $1.02½.

Corn was weak, with other grain closing at about the low point. Weather conditions generally throughout the leading corn States were favorable, and the Iowa State report, where the weather has been dry, stated that the past week was ideal for growth and cultivation of the crop, the stand improved and the crop as a whole gained rapidly. Rain was needed, however, and rain is needed in Nebraska and throughout the Northwest. Cash corn quoted No. 2, 68c, nominal, elevator, to arrive, cost, insurance, and freight, domestic basis, and steamer, nominal, elevator, export basis.

COTTON.

The cotton market showed a slow declining tendency in the new crop deliveries, with the old crop receiving from time to time some support from the bull interests. The trade in the old crop deliveries was very slow and the new business is of extremely limited proportions. The interest in the new crop deliveries is also very small and the market is awaiting crop developments. The weather conditions were somewhat more favorable. There were showers west of the Mississippi River, and the showers east were not very heavy. Temperatures have been more reasonable of late. There are a great many complaints, however, from the Eastern district as to the effect of the cold weather and rains, while in Texas and Oklahoma there are complaints of dry hot weather. The market, however, does not seem to be materially affected by these reports in the absence of any important Southern buying on the reports. While temperatures have been high the trade is not inclined to overlook the fact that cotton is a tropical plant and needs hot dry weather for its best development.

New York spot cotton quiet, 10 decline; middling uplands, 15.20; middling Gulf, 15.45.

Lehigh Valley Railroad Company

PHILADELPHIA, Pa., June 22, 1910.

To the Stockholders:

At a meeting of the Board of Directors, held this day, the following resolution was adopted:

Resolved, That the privilege of subscribing pro rata at par for 404,411 shares of the common capital stock of this Company of a par value of $20,220,550 be and hereby is offered to the holders of the common and preferred capital stock to the amount of fifty per cent. of their holdings as they stand registered on the books of the Company at 3 p. m. June 30, 1910, subject to the following regulations:

The terms of subscription will be as follows:

Payments may be made in four instalments or they may be made in full, viz.:

The first instalment of 25%, or $12.50 per share, at the time of making the subscription between July 15 and July 31, 1910, inclusive.

The second instalment of 25%, or $12.50 per share, between August 15 and August 31, 1910, inclusive.

The third instalment of 25%, or $12.50 per share, between September 15 and September 30, 1910, inclusive.

The final instalment of 25%, or $12.50 per share, between October 15 and October 31, 1910, inclusive.

Stockholders so desiring may make payment in full at the time of making the subscription between July 15 and July 31, 1910, inclusive, but not later.

Warrants will be issued by the Secretary to each stockholder of record as of June 30, 1910, specifying the amount of stock which each stockholder is entitled to subscribe for under this privilege. Stockholders who may not desire to avail themselves of the privilege of subscribing for their allotment and who may prefer to dispose of the same can do so by executing the assignment on the back of the warrant.

The warrants with the form of subscription on the back thereof, properly executed, must be surrendered at the time of making the first payment, viz.: between July 15 and July 31, 1910, inclusive, and if not so returned and the first payment so made, the warrant shall be void and of no value.

Upon the payment of the last instalment there will be issued a check for interest at the rate of six per centum per annum on the first instalment from July 31, 1910; on the second instalment from August 31, 1910, and on the third instalment from September 30, 1910, all up to October 15, 1910, which will amount to 28 cents per share.

To subscribers making payment in full between July 15 and July 31, 1910, inclusive, and to those making payment of the last instalment between October 15 and October 31, 1910, inclusive, full paid negotiable stock receipts will be issued for whole shares, exchangeable ten days after payment for stock certificates carrying all dividends declared or payable thereafter.

For fractional shares receipts will be issued upon payments in full, or upon payment of the last instalment between October 15 and October 31, 1910, inclusive. These receipts will not carry any dividend or interest, but will be convertible into shares when the fractions presented make whole shares, provided such conversion is made on or before November 30, 1910. All such fractional receipts that have not been converted into shares and which may be outstanding after November 30, 1910, will be redeemable in cash at their face value without interest, and shall have no other right.

Fractional receipts will pass by delivery.

The right to receive stock shall not accrue to any stockholder under this privilege unless the terms of subscription are fully complied with and payments made at the dates hereinbefore stated, and no subscription or assignment of the privilege will be recognized unless made on the forms provided by the Company.

Warrants will be mailed to stockholders of record as of June 30, 1910, within one week thereafter to the address now recorded in the Secretary's office, to which dividends are mailed, and where such address is given in care of Trust Companies, or others, the warrants will be sent to such authorized address for delivery to the stockholders, unless otherwise ordered prior to June 30, 1910.

To guard against mistake or failure in such mailing, every stockholder who does not receive a warrant must call upon the Secretary to deliver the same to him and shall not be excused from not thus demanding the same because of alleged reliance upon the offer to mail the same.

Stockholders who have not authorized an address to which communications may be sent may obtain their warrants upon application at the office of the Secretary of the Company not later than July 31, 1910.

Fractions desired to complete full shares, or fractions which holders desire to dispose of, will not be sold or purchased by the Company.

Checks or drafts for payment of subscription should be drawn in favor of Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, and delivered to the Treasurer of the Company at the above address.

All communications in relation to the foregoing should be addressed to the undersigned.

D. G. BAIRD,
Secretary.

WHITE SLAVE JURY DEFIES O'SULLIVAN

Sealed Presentment to be Offered to the Judge for the Second Time To-day.

NO CHANGES MADE IN IT

And He Has Not Seen It—Two Weeks Ago He Refused to Accept It Until He Had.

The "White Slave" Grand Jury, headed by John D. Rockefeller, Jr., will go before Judge O'Sullivan at noon to-day and make another attempt to file its presentment which he refused to receive when the Grand Jury first asked to be discharged on June 9. The Judge said at that time that he would not accept the findings of the jurymen nor allow them to be filed until he was informed of the character of the document.

It was learned on the best authority yesterday that the presentment is still sealed, and that it has been seen by no one since Mr. Rockefeller put it in his pocket and left the courtroom two weeks ago.

The presentment will be the same to the letter. The Grand Jury has not met in the interval except for the hasty gathering after Judge O'Sullivan's action, when a resolution was taken that neither he nor District Attorney Whitman should have a chance to see the document until it becomes a public record, a resolution that was passed unanimously, and with some enthusiasm.

Judge O'Sullivan has had before him, however, the entire minutes of the Grand Jury meetings, and from these he is probably in a better position to anticipate the nature of the presentment than the mere outsider.

There has been no little talking behind closed doors on the matter, and much curiosity is felt throughout the Criminal Court Building as to whether the Grand Jury will have its way to-day. Neither Mr. Whitman nor those of his assistants who are interested in the investigation will talk about it. Mr. Whitman has not seen the presentment, and has announced in court that he had no intention of examining it, because he considered it the secret of the Grand Jury.

Mr. Rockefeller arrived early yesterday morning for a conference, but was obliged to leave before Mr. Whitman reached the building.

The District Attorney is still in the dark as to the plans of Harry Levinson, whose position in the Tombs is anomalous. He pleaded guilty early in May to the indictment charging him with selling two girls to George A. Miller, but last Thursday Judge O'Sullivan assigned James W. Osborne and George Gordon Battle to advise him on the advisability of withdrawing his plea of guilty, and standing trial to the indictment. He has not withdrawn that plea, and his counsel of record is still Edwin Carpel.

The District Attorney's office is somewhat handicapped in proceeding with the remaining indictments found by the Rockefeller Grand Jury. Judge O'Sullivan suggested that the investigation ought not to close until the indictments had been acted upon, and the cases cannot be tried now because they are on Judge O'Sullivan's calendar, and Judge O'Sullivan has not been sitting during the June term. It was his turn to occupy Part V. continued, which has been closed this month for the first time since Mr. Whitman became District Attorney. The cases can be transferred to another calendar only by Judge O'Sullivan himself, and he has not done so.

It is generally felt in the building that the presentment will be filed to-day, and there is the best authority for the statement that its every word will reach the public shortly, whether Judge O'Sullivan accepts it or not.

TRAINMEN REJECT AWARD.

Canadian Arbitrators Named 25 Per Cent. Increase—40 Per Cent. Asked.

TORONTO, June 22.—Announcement has been made of the Board of Conciliation's award in arbitration of the differences between the Grand Trunk and Canadian Pacific Railways and their trainmen and conductors. It provides a 25 per cent. increase in wages as from May 1 last, conductors to receive $3.35 per hundred miles traveled and trainmen $2.20.

The men asked for the standard wage of United States railroads, an increase of 40 per cent. The matter involves more than 15,000 employes.

MONTREAL, June 22.—The executive representative of the conductors' and trainmen's organizations to-day wired to Ottawa refusing to accept the award of the Board of Arbitration, claiming that its provisions are insufficient.

STEAMER OUT OF CORNFIELD.

The Packet Virginia Is Moved Back Into the Ohio River.

PITTSBURG, June 22.—The river packet Virginia was moved to-day from a cornfield, where it has lodged since the flood of the Ohio River several months ago, to the channel of the stream. A small army of men went to work with jackscrews, timbers, blocks, and flatboats. A trench was dug from the vessel to the river, and down this it was rolled by the house-moving method.

The Virginia, which is 235 feet long and 40 feet wide, is none the worse for its voyage overland. During a stormy night several months ago the pilot, mistaking a house light for a channel guide, sent the Virginia straight over the swamp lands 500 feet into a field near Willow Grove, West Va.

LEHIGH STOCK DOUBLED.

Increase to $80,000,000 Is Authorized at Special Meeting.

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—The stockholders of the Lehigh Valley Railroad Company, at a special meeting here to-day, voted to increase the capital stock of the company from $40,334,800 to $80,000,000. The vote was 601,640 shares in favor of the increase and 820 shares against it.

The Directors were empowered to issue and dispose of as many of the additional shares as they think necessary for paying the debts of the company, constructing and completing the railroad, and building branches not exceeding twelve miles in length.

Following the meeting of the stockholders the Directors met and authorized an issue of $20,220,550, to which holders of common and preferred stock may subscribe at par in amounts of 50 per cent. of their holdings on June 30.

PENNSYLVANIA DIVIDEND.

Semi-Annual One of 3 Per Cent. Declared on Lines West of Pittsburg.

PHILADELPHIA, June 22.—The Directors of the Pennsylvania Company, operating lines west of Pittsburg, to-day declared a regular semi-annual dividend of 3 per cent. The Directors re-elected the old officers of the company.

The Directors of the Pittsburg, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis Railway Company also met to-day and declared the regular quarterly dividend of 1¼ per cent. each upon the preferred and common stocks.

LATEST CUSTOMS RULINGS.

Glass Drops for Chandeliers Are Held to be Dutiable at 60 Per Cent.

Glass drops for chandeliers were held dutiable yesterday by the Board of United States General Appraisers at the rate of 60 per cent. under the provision in the Dingley tariff for articles of which glass is the component of chief value. Siegman & Weil, the importers, set up the contention that the merchandise should be returned for duty either at 45 per cent. as "strips of glass," or else as manufactures of glass, or manufactures in part of metal, all at lesser rates than those assessed.

General Appraiser Sharretts, who writes the decision for the board, says that the official samples show that the goods are strips of glass opalescent in color, 6 inches in length by 1 inch in width, flat on one side, with a rib extending lengthwise of the opposite side. The only grinding these strips have received has been done with the object of smoothing their rough edges, and they have not been ground or polished on one or both sides to a cylindrical or prismatic form.

Except for the grinding, according to the decision, the goods are in the condition in which they came from the mold, and the board therefore holds that the glass drops are not included in the provision of Paragraph 110. The board finds the merchandise to be dutiable as glass articles ground, it being held that the Collector's action was properly taken, with the result that his decision is affirmed.

PROTECTING TERMINAL BONDS

New Committee In Wabash Headed by Chaplin of Pittsburg.

The newly organized Protective Committee of the holders of Wabash-Pittsburg Terminal Railway bonds was announced yesterday. James C. Chaplin, Vice President of the Colonial Trust Company of Pittsburg, who led the movement, is Chairman, and the other members are William R. Nicholson, President of the Land Title and Trust Company of Philadelphia; Clarence L. Harper, President of the Union Trust Company of Philadelphia; Meigs H. Whaples, President of the Connecticut Trust and Safe Deposit Company of Hartford, Conn., and Richard Sutro of the banking firm of Sutro Brothers & Co.

The Columbia Trust Company has been made the depositary and Samuel Untermyer has been retained as counsel. The committee directly represents several million dollars of bonds, and the holders of many million dollars more of the bonds have assured the new committee of their support. Many bondholders who have bonds on deposit with the older committee, headed by J. N. Wallace, it is said, will ask to withdraw and will deposit them with the new committee.

SABIN IN GUARANTY TRUST.

Elected Vice President to Succeed Charles H. Allen.

Charles H. Sabin, Vice President of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank, was elected yesterday Vice President of the Guaranty Trust Company, of which A. J. Hemphill is President, to succeed Charles H. Allen, whose election as Treasurer of the American Sugar Refining Company was announced on Tuesday.

Early this year both the Morton Trust Company and the Fifth Avenue Trust Company were absorbed by the Guaranty Trust Company, which thus became the largest trust company in the country, with deposits above $140,000,000 and with total capital, surplus, and undivided profits of $26,000,000. The election of Mr. Sabin to the important post of the Vice Presidency of the country's largest trust company was looked upon yesterday as a recognition of his broad experience in banking and exceptional ability.

President McGarragh of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank said that he recognized that his bank was suffering a loss in the retirement of Mr. Sabin from its Vice Presidency, but that the opportunity offered to him was one which he could not decline. Mr. Sabin will continue to serve as a Director and as a member of the Executive Committee of the Mechanics and Metals National Bank

COTTON MEN GIVE WICKERSHAM A RAP

Denounce the Attorney General in a Circular for Acting Against Bull Pool.

SERVES BEARS, THEY SAY

Southern Growers Think Prices Would Have Gone Higher but for His Attitude.

Ever since the Federal authorities started their investigation into the operations of the bull clique in the cotton market, which began buying cotton on future contracts aggressively early last Fall, the defenders of the bull leaders have been active in suggesting political or other motives behind the prosecution.

The feeling against the Attorney General's office has been particularly bitter in the South, which benefited more directly this year than ever before from the higher prices for cotton established in the speculative markets in anticipation of the shipping season. The argument of the Southerners has been that the cotton market has been used without hindrance in the past as a means to keep the price of cotton down, and this year, when the famine crop justified higher prices and the planters were getting the benefit of the rise in options, the Government stepped in with conspiracy indictments.

The planters believe that the Government's action prevented cotton going to still higher levels, and denunciations of the Attorney General's action have been frequent. Yesterday copies of a particularly sharp criticism of the Government in circular form were received in Wall Street.

This circular, issued by Gordon S. Orme of New Orleans, is addressed to "the cotton farmers, merchants, and citizens of the South." It denounces the Attorney General's attack on the bull clique, which it says "does not look to be one of such a voluntary nature on the part of the Government; when Henry W. Taft, brother of the President, is the attorney for the New York Cotton Exchange and is particularly intimate with the bear clique who virtually control the Exchange, and is also an ex-partner of Mr. Wickersham, the Attorney General of the United States, who fails to see flagrant violations of the law taking place almost daily in nearly all of the large organized corporations that the Government has overlooked, but has wasted nothing short of a small fortune on a case that can never be sustained by any court in the land, and can only bring distress upon the Administration in the end.

"It is high time for the people of the South," says Mr. Orme, "to know what to expect whenever they attempt to protect themselves and their property from the raids of the money power of New York, who seem sufficiently powerful when faced with defeat in any of their schemes to secure the assistance of the United States Government."

Pope Company Pays a Dividend.

The first dividend on the common stock of the reorganized Pope Manufacturing Company was declared yesterday at 2½ per cent. The regular quarterly dividend of 1½ per cent. on the preferred was also declared. Both dividends are payable June 30. No mention is made of the period to which the common stock dividend applies, but it was declared out of the earnings of the current year, which closes July 31.

IRON AND STEEL NOTES.

Few Shutdowns in Prospect—Record Output of Structural Steel in June.

Commenting on the outlook in the trade The Iron Age says:

The iron trade approaches the end of the half year with none of the decisive indications in view that have been expected. In most lines the mills are fairly supplied with work for the Summer, and the prospect is that there will be few shutdowns except for repairs or pending the adjustment of wages.

The present scale of operations is from 10 to 20 per cent. less than in the first quarter, and prices, particularly plates, structural steel, sheets, and wire, have yielded as demand has fallen off.

The conditions in the wrought pipe trade are plainly indicated in the shutting down of the Riverside mills of the National Tube Company at Wheeling.

The way demand has kept up in the structural branch is still a feature of the trade in finished steel. Bridge work has been an important factor this month, and the June total will probably exceed 150,000 tons, making the best month of the year.

The wage demands of the sheet and tin plate workers, involving nearly 10 per cent. advance, have been refused by the independent manufacturers, and prospects are not bright for an early settlement.

Pig iron is drifting into dullness. The few sales accentuate the weakness of recent weeks, and point to a dragging market. Production is still excessive.

The Iron Trade Review says:

Car builders anticipate that the paying of the $22,500,000 equipment trust with J. P. Morgan & Co. by the New York Central lines will be followed within a reasonable period by the awarding of some large car and locomotive orders.

One of the largest contracts for structural work ever awarded was that for locks at the Panama Canal. The McClintic-Marshall Construction Company was awarded the contract for $5,574,474. It is probable that the shapes and plates amounting to 58,000 tons will be furnished by the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company, but a part of the tonnage may go to the Carnegie Steel Company. The first shipment will be made about Jan. 1.

METAL MARKET REPORTS.

On the Metal Exchange in London yesterday spot copper at the close showed a decline of 1s 3d from the initial price of the day, and of 8s 9d from the final figure of Tuesday; futures also noted a recession at the close of 2s 6d from the opening quotation of the day, and of 12s 6d from the closing price of Tuesday. The market finished easy, closing prices ruling at: Spot, £54 13s 9d; futures, £55 7s 6d.

Pig tin ended steady, but spot and future deliveries each showed a loss of 10s, to £148 17s 6d, respectively. Spelter was steady and 2s 6d higher, at £22 2s 6d. Cleveland warrants were quoted at 49s.

CITY OF NEW YORK.
BOARD OF ESTIMATE AND APPORTIONMENT.

PUBLIC NOTICE IS HEREBY GIVEN that at the meeting of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment held this day the following proceedings were had:

Whereas, The Electric Protection Company of New York in a petition dated September 15, 1909, made application to this Board for a grant of the right, privilege and franchise to lay, erect, construct and maintain wires and other conductors with the necessary poles, pipes, conduits and appliances in, over and under the streets, avenues and highways within the City of New York for the operation of electrical call boxes in connection with telephones, telegraph and other systems for providing wires and signals for protection service; and

Whereas, Sections 72, 73 and 74 of the Greater New York Charter, as amended by Chapters 629 and 630 of the Laws of 1905, provide for the manner and procedure of making such grants; and

Whereas, In pursuance of such laws this Board adopted a resolution on October 8, 1909, fixing the date for a public hearing thereon as October 29, 1909, at which citizens were entitled to appear and be heard, and publication was had for at least two days in the "New York Herald" and the "Morning Telegraph," newspapers designated by the Mayor, and in the "City Record," for ten days immediately prior to the date of hearing, and the public hearing was duly held on such date; and

Whereas, This Board has made inquiry as to the money value of the franchise or right applied for, and proposed to be granted to the Electric Protection Company of New York, and the adequacy of the compensation proposed to be paid therefor; now, therefore, it is

Resolved, That the following form of the resolution for the grant of the franchise or right applied for by the Electric Protection Company of New York, containing the form of proposed contract for the grant of such franchise or right be hereby introduced and entered in the minutes of this Board, as follows, to wit:

"Resolved, That the Board of Estimate and Apportionment hereby grants to the Electric Protection Company of New York, the franchise or right fully set out and described in the following form of proposed contract for the grant thereof, embodying all of the terms and conditions, including the provisions as to rates and charges, upon and subject to the terms and conditions in said proposed form of contract contained, and that the Mayor of The City of New York be and he hereby is authorized to execute and deliver such contract in the name, and on behalf of The City of New York, as follows, to wit:

PROPOSED FORM OF CONTRACT.

THIS CONTRACT, made this day of 19 , by and between The City of New York (hereinafter called the City), party of the first part, by the Mayor of said City, acting for and in the name of said City, under and in pursuance of the authority of the Board of Estimate and Apportionment of said City (hereinafter called the Board), and the Electric Protection Company of New York (hereinafter called the Company,) party of the second part, witnesseth:

In consideration of the mutual covenants and agreements herein contained, the parties hereto do hereby covenant and agree as follows:

Section 1. The City hereby grants to the Company, subject to the conditions and provisions hereinafter set forth, the right and privilege to lay, construct, maintain and operate suitable wires or other electrical conductors in conduits under the streets and avenues within the Borough of Manhattan and the portion of the Borough of The Bronx lying west of the Bronx River, for the purpose of electrically connecting, detecting and signalling apparatus to be located upon the premises of subscribers with signal recording apparatus located at some suitable point or points where such signals are to be received and thereby maintaining and operating burglary and fire alarm systems for the protection of the premises of subscribers and for no other purpose whatsoever.

Sec. 2. The grant of this privilege is subject to the following conditions, which shall be complied with by the Company:

FIRST—The said right and privilege to lay, construct, maintain and operate wires or other electrical conductors in conduits for the purpose aforesaid shall be held and enjoyed by the Company, for the term of fifteen (15) years from the date when this contract is signed by the Mayor, with the privilege of renewal of said contract for a further period of ten (10) years upon a fair revaluation of said right and privilege.

If the Company shall determine to exercise its privilege of renewal it shall make application to the Board, or any authority which shall be authorized by law to act for the City in place of the Board. Such application shall be made at any time not earlier than two (2) years and not later than one (1) year before the expiration of the original term of this contract. The determination of the revaluation shall be sufficient if agreed to in writing by the Company and the Board, but in no case shall the annual rate of compensation to the City be fixed at a less amount than the sum required to be paid during the last year prior to the termination of the original term of this contract.

If the Company and the Board shall not reach such agreement on or before the day one (1) year before the expiration of the original term of this contract, then the annual rate of compensation for such succeeding ten (10) years shall be reasonable, and either the City (by the Board) or the Company shall be bound upon request of the other to enter into a written agreement with each other fixing the rate of such compensation at such amount as shall be reasonable, but in no case shall the annual rate so fixed be less than the sum required to be paid for the last year prior to the termination of the original term of this contract, and if the parties shall not forthwith agree upon what is reasonable, then the parties shall enter into a written agreement fixing such annual rate and at such amount as shall be determined by three disinterested freeholders selected in the following manner:

One disinterested freeholder shall be chosen by the Board; one disinterested freeholder shall be chosen by the Company; these two shall choose a third disinterested freeholder, and the three so chosen shall act as appraisers, and shall make the revaluation aforesaid. Such appraisers shall be chosen at least six (6) months prior to the expiration of this original contract, and their report shall be filed with the Board within three (3) months after they are chosen. They shall act as appraisers and not as arbitrators. They may base their judgment upon their own experience and upon such information as they may obtain by inquiries and investigations, without the presence of either party. They shall have the right to examine any of the books of the Company and its officers under oath. The valuations so ascertained, fixed, and determined shall be conclusive upon both parties, but no annual sum shall, in any event, be less than the sum required to be paid for the last year of this original contract. If in any case the annual rate shall not be fixed prior to the termination of the original term of this contract, then the Company shall pay the annual rate theretofore prevailing until the new rate shall be determined, and shall then make up to the City the amount of any excess of the annual rate then determined over the previous annual rate. The compensation and expenses of the said appraisers shall be borne jointly by the City and the Company, each paying one-half thereof.

SECOND—The Company shall pay to the City for the privilege hereby granted the following sums of money:

(a) The sum of five thousand dollars ($5,000) in cash within three (3) months after the date on which this contract is signed by the Mayor, and before anything is done in exercise of the privilege hereby granted.

(b) During the first term of five (5) years an annual sum, which shall in no case be less than twelve hundred dollars ($1,200,) and which shall be equal to two (2) per cent. of its gross annual receipts, if such percentage shall exceed the sum of twelve hundred dollars ($1,200.)

During the second term of five (5) years an annual sum, which shall in no case be less than twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500,) and which shall be equal to two and one-half (2½) per cent. of its gross annual receipts, if such percentage shall exceed the sum of twenty-five hundred dollars ($2,500.)

During the remaining term of five (5) years an annual sum, which shall in no case be less than forty-five hundred dollars ($4,500,) and which shall be equal to three (3) per cent. of its gross annual receipts, if such percentage shall exceed the sum of forty-five hundred dollars, ($4,500.)

The annual charges shall commence from the date upon which this contract is signed by the Mayor.

All annual charges as above shall be paid into the treasury of the City on November 1 of each year, and shall be for the amount due to September 30 next preceding. Provided that the first annual payment shall be only for that proportion of the first annual charge as the time between the date upon which this contract is signed by the Mayor, and September 30 following shall bear to the whole of one

IN THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Jacob Rothschild Rounds Out Fifth Avenue Block Holdings by Purchasing Northwest Corner of 16th Street—Grant View Apartment Resold—Big Bronx Deal.

The Hudson Realty Company (Jacob Rothschild) has purchased from Mary P. Satterlee the property at 108 Fifth Avenue, on the southwest corner of Sixteenth Street, on lot 37 by 80, adjoining its present holdings at 2 West Sixteenth Street. This purchase completes a plot of over 7,000 square feet, and it is the only unimproved corner on the west side of Fifth Avenue between this location and Twenty-third Street. The broker was the Charles F. Noyes Company.

Mr. Rothschild now owns the entire block front on the west side of Fifth Avenue, between Fifteen and Sixteenth Streets. He purchased 106 at private sale a short time ago, and recently acquired 102 and 104 at auction. The old residences on these two latter plots have just been torn down and the United States Worsted Building, an eighteen story structure, with a seventy-five-foot frontage, is to be erected on the site. Adjoining this, occupying the northwest corner of Fifteenth Street, is the Stuyvesant Building, finished about three years ago.

Grant View Apartment Resold.

The Grant View Apartment House, a six-story structure recently completed, at 122 to 128 Claremont Avenue, adjoining the new Musical Art Building on the northeast corner of Claremont Avenue and 122d Street, has been resold by Julius Scott for the Mannados Realty Company, (Samuel H. Stone.) The purchase of this house by the latter from the Gray Realty and Construction Company (O. D. Gray) was reported May 24 last.

The new owner is James C. Crawford, who gives in part payment 142 and 144 West 118th Street, two four-and-a-half-story American basement dwellings, 16 by 100 each, and two modern dwellings at Mount Vernon, 53 and 55 Elm Avenue, on plot 72.6 by 115, facing the contemplated plaza of the new City Hall.

The combined deal represents approximately $400,000. The Grant View occupies a plot 100 by 100, and is directly opposite Grant's Tomb.

New Office Building on 4th Avenue.

The development of Fourth Avenue into a high-class commercial centre with an imposing array of modern office structures from Union Square to Thirty-third Street seems by no means to have reached its limit, despite the predictions in some circles that the lott building has been somewhat overdone. Announcement was made yesterday of the immediate erection of another Fourth Avenue commercial structure, a twelve-story building to cost about $450,000, on the southwest cernor of Thirty-first Street.

The property to be improved is owned by the De Forest estate, being 456 to 460 Fourth Avenue and 48 to 52 East Thirty-first Street, which have been leased to th Quondam Realty Company (Louis Steckler, President) for twenty-one years at an aggregate rental of about $700,000, with the usual renewal privileges.

The Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company effected the lease, and Hertz & Tallant are preparing plans for the new building.

The site has frontages of 63 feet on Fourth Avenue and 115 feet on Thirty-first Street, with an "L" extending to the centre line of the block. A loan for the new operation has been procured, and the lessees will get possession of the property on on before Aug. 1. The Corrigan-Gorman Construction Company has the contract for the building.

Investor Buys Eight Bronx Flats.

Toel, Brett & Co. have sold for Ferdinand and Nathan Marx, to an investor, 854 to 864 Hewitt Place, Bronx, eight five-story triple-flat houses on plots 40 by 100 each. The buildings were erected by George F. Johnson & Sons about four years ago, and are located between Longwood and Westchester Avenues, within two blocks of the Prospect Avenue Subway station. The houses were held at $50,000 apiece, and it is understood were sold at very near that figure.

The fact that such firms as the American Real Estate Company, the Henry Morgenthau Company, and the Johnson-Kahn Company have built and sold in the immediate vicinity over fifty houses of the above type within the past year shows a decided tendency on the part of the conservative investor to seriously consider flat house offerings in this section.

Sale on Mercer Street.

E. H. Ludlow & Co. have sold for a client to Simon Meyers 81 Mercer Street, old frame buildings, on a lot 25 by 100. The property is on the west side of Mercer Street, about midway between Broome and Spring Streets.

Mr. Muller will not improve the plot for the present.

A. Phillips has sold for Isaac Polstein to Elias Zenft 108 and 110 East 111th Street, a six-story new-law house, on plot 52.6 by 100.11, adjoining the southeast corner of Park Avenue.

D. & W. Mullins have sold for Francis O'Neill the five-story tenement 47 Essex Street, 75 feet south of Grand Street, on lot 25.3 by 87.6.

Important Deal on East 76th Street.

The F. Dornberger Realty Company has bought from Uhlfelder & Weinberg the four three-family houses, on plot 80 by 100, known as 1,067, 1,069, 1,071, and 1,073 Teller Avenue.

John J. Danaher is the buyer of the southeast corner of Eleventh Avenue and Fiftieth Street, 75.5 by 100, sold some time ago by P. A. Geoghegan for the Hildebrand estate.

Loans $1,200,000 on Fifth Avenue Building.

The Metropolitan Life Insurance Company has made two loans, one of $1,200,000 on the property situated at the northwest corner of Fifth Avenue and Twenty-sixth Street, a plot with a frontage of 56.4 feet on the avenue by 127.6 feet on the street, where a nineteen-story modern fireproof office building is to be erected by the Croisic Realty Company. The second is for $700,000 on the property situated at the southeast corner of Riverside Drive and 100th Street, being 101.5 feet on the drive by 150 feet on the street, where the West Side Construction Company is to erect a twelve-story modern apartment house.

A Bush Terminal Lease.

A lease was made yesterday between the Inter-State Pneumatic Tube Company at 200 Fifth Avenue, Manhattan, and the Bush Terminal Company, which will bring the manufacturing and office plants of the former concern to South Brooklyn. The lease is for 9,840 square feet of floor space in Bush Model Loft Building No. 4, at the foot of Thirty-fifth Street, South Brooklyn. The company will hereafter conduct all its shipping operations over the steamship and railroad lines terminating at and near the Government channel piers. About 100 workmen will be added by this removal to the population of the industrial colony which has grown up around the Bush development.

JANE ADDAMS GETS DEGREE FROM YALE

Head of Hull House, First Woman So Honored by That University, Made Master of Arts.

J. J. HILL GETS AN LL. D.

John Burroughs, Kenyon Cox, and Simon Flexner Also Honored, and President's Son a Graduate.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., June 22.—Miss Jane Addams, President of the National Conference of Charities and Correction and head of Hull House, Chicago, was one of the recipients of the honorary degree of Master of Arts conferred at the 209th annual commencement at Yale today. Miss Addams is the first woman upon whom the university has conferred an honorary degree, and in presenting her to the President and Fellows Prof. Bernadote Perrin of the university referred to her work at Hull House as "the most extensive and important social settlement in the United States," and continued:

"She has had a prophetic vision of what might be done, and militant courage, united with a high order of administrative, social, and political capacity, in doing and getting it done."

At the same time, in a notable list of such honors, Yale conferred upon James Jerome Hill, Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Great Northern Railroad, the degree of Doctor of Laws, and upon John Burroughs, the naturalist and Mr. Roosevelt's good friend, the degree of Doctor of Letters.

Others Who Got Degrees.

Besides Miss Addams the recipients of the honorary degree of Master of Arts were Truman Handy Newberry, Yale, Ph. B., 1885, Secretary of the Navy in President Roosevelt's Cabinet; Kenyon Cox, artist and art critic, and William Bradley Coley, Yale, B. A., 1884, specialist in malignant diseases. The degree of Doctor of Divinity was conferred upon Melancthon William Jacobus, acting President of the Hartford Theological Seminary, and that of Doctor of Science upon Thomas Burr Osborne, Chemist at the Connecticut Agricultural Institute, and Simon Flexner, Director of the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, while in addition to Mr. Hill Charles Doolittle Walcott, Secretary of Smithsonian Institution, and Walter Francis Frear, Yale, B. A., 1895, Chief Justice and present Governor of Hawaii, received the degree of Doctor of Laws.

Among those who received their diplomas from the academic department was Robert Alphonso Taft, son of the President, and of the third generation of the family to receive a Yale degree. His college course has been one of honor, winning for scholarship, following in the footsteps of his father, his grandfather and his uncles. Miss Helen Taft and Master Charlie Taft sat with the family of Prof. W. W. Farnam throughout the exercises.

The absence of President and Mrs. Taft was a disappointment to the entire college body. Many did not give up hope of seeing the President until the exercisps began. A report had spread that President Taft was on his way, and Chief Cowles was about to send a squad of officers to the station to meet the President's train, when inquiry was made and the report proved false.

The total number of degrees awarded was 838.

The Award of Prizes.

Prize awards were announced as follows:

The John Addison Porter prize of $450, the largest prize in the gift of the university, to William Smith Culbertson of Emporia, Kan., a student in the graduate school, for his essay on "Alexander Hamilton."

The Andrew D. White prize in history, to Joseph Shelnitz, '12, of New Haven, and the Cobden Club medal, to Percy Wells Bidwell, '10, of South Manchester, Conn.

The Phelps Montgomery prize for the highest marks in examinations at the law school to Meyer Merwin Shapiro of New York.

Announcement was made this afternoon that Otto T. Bannard, '76, recently candidate for Mayor of New York City, had been elected a member of the Yale Corporation to succeed Judge Henry E. Howland, '54, who declined re-election. The balloting took place yesterday. Mr. Bannard's vote was 3,016. J. V. Farwell of Chicago got 2,087; W. W. Skiddy of New York, 1,190; Henry T. Rogers of Denver, 978; Samuel P. Brooks of Waco, Texas, 70; scattering, 48.

The total vote cast was 8,753, but of this number 1,500 were thrown out, having been cast by Bachelors of Arts or Bachelors of Philosophy of less than five years standing and therefore not eligible by law to vote.

At the alumni dinner, which closed the commencement this afternoon, President Hadley in expressing regret at the enforced absence of President Taft said: "Bill Taft of '78 is in the second mile of the race, and he is in the eel grass. Brethren, some of the best Yale victories have been won over the third and fourth miles." Great applause greeted this sally. A little later the following message was read by President Hadley:

"It is the best eel grass we ever saw.
WILLIAM H. TAFT."

The alumni were told that the past had been the banner year in university gifts and in alumni contributions, the former totaling $2,232,000, and the latter a little over $150,000, these not including the Sloane laboratory and other gifts to the scientific school.

RUTGERS COMMENCEMENT.

Special to The New York Times.

NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J., June 22.—Sixty-eight degrees were conferred and a number of changes in the staff and several benefactions were announced to-day at the annual commecement of Rutgers College. Supreme Court Justice Willard P. Voorhees, '71, and Duncan Dunbar Sutphin of New York, '83, took the oath as Trustees. Dr. Walter T. Marvin, assistant professor at Princeton, was appointed Professor of Mental Philosophy and Logic, and Dr. Jacob G. Lipman, Associate Professor of Agriculture, was made Professor of Soil Fertility and Bacteriology.

At the annual meeting of the alumni at noon two portraits were added to the collection in Kirkpatrick Chapel. Dr. Edward G. Janeway of New York, '60, presented on behalf of Miss Helen H. Janeway, a portrait of her father, Henry L. Janeway, '44, who was a Trustee from 1862 till his death last year. The Rev. Dr. Pockman, '75, also handed over to the college on behalf of Mrs. Drury a portrait of her husband, the Rev. Dr. John B. Drury, '57, who was a Trustee from 1887 till his death last year.

It was announced that the college is the residuary legatee under the will of V. M. W. Suydam, and probably will receive $15,000. It has also received under the will of Prof. E. A. Bowser his books and copyrights of an estimated value of $25,000. Among other gifts announced were $2,000 from Mrs. Robert F. Ballantine of Newark, N. J., for improvements to the gymnasium, $1,000 from Mrs. Morris K. Jesup toward the endowment fund, and $500 from Anthony Dey of New York, '50, toward the same object. A large collection of German books for the library has been received from Mrs. Franz M. Schneeweiss.

WOMEN LOSE AT CORNELL.

Their Candidate for Alumni Trustee Defeated by Ira A. Place.

ITHACA, N. Y., June 22.—Ira A. Place, Vice President of the New York Central Railroad Company and a member of the Class of 1881, was elected an Alumni Trustee of Cornell University at a meeting of the alumni to-day. Mr. Place will fill the vacancy caused by the death of Charles C. Dickinson, the New York banker, who was elected last year.

The women of the university had nominated Miss Isabelle Howland of Sherwood, a suffragist of considerable wealth, and an active campaign has been conducted in the last two weeks. Franklin Matthews of New York, '81, who was in the chair, ruled that the vacancy would be filled by nomination and election at the meeting to-day. The vote gave Ira A. Place, 148; Miss Howland, 105; with the rest scattered. Thus the women lost their fight to regain representation on the board, which they lost when Miss Ruth Putnam's term expired last year.

Two candidates were up for election, John H. Barr of Syracuse and Dr. Robert C. Morris of New York City. Both were elected without opposition.

ANOTHER DEGREE FOR HUGHES.

Williams College Also Honors George Kennan and Francis E. Leupp.

WILLIAMSTOWN, Mass., June 22.—Honorary degrees were conferred by Williams College to-day on Gov. Charles E. Hughes of New York, George Kennan of New York, the traveler and author; Francis E. Leupp, formerly United States Commissioner of Indian Affairs, and Francis Cabot Lowell of Boston, Justice of the United States Circuit Court. Mr. Kennan received the degree of Doctor of Letters and the others that of Doctor of Laws. Gov. Hughes now holds the honorary degree of Doctor of Laws from Brown, Columbia, Knox, Lafayette, and Williams.

PROBE ELLIS'S STOCK DEALS.

Other Clairvoyants Suspected of Handling Worthless Stocks.

Assistant District Attorney Turnbull and Coroner Holtzhauser say they are coming into possession of evidence tending to show the extent to which stock manipulations were carried on in the office of Charles Samri Ellis, the Hindoo magnetic healer, at 9 West Forty-fifth Street, where Paul Hamburger, the young German, was found shot to death last week. It was learned yesterday that the Grand Jury has begun investigating clairvoyants who are believed to be inducing credulous people to buy poor stocks in which they are interested.

Mr. Turnbull and Coroner Holtzhauser had before them yesterday Laura Stewart, who lives in Fortieth Street, near Sixth Avenue, and who is said to be a friend of "Jack" or "Frank" Dempsey, an employe in the Hindoo healer's place. Neither would tell afterward what she said, but it was learned that she had testified that there was a Blue Ridge Mining Company, capitalized at $50,000, in which Charles Samri Ellis was interested; that patients who visited the house were "tipped off" about the "excellent character" of the Blue Ridge stock; that she herself had turned over $380 to be invested in it, but had got the money back, and that about $1,300 worth of the stock had been sold already.

A notebook found among Hamburger's effects showed that he had bought $500 worth of Blue Ridge stock. A stock certificate in his name also was found among his things. Several other names appear in the book as persons who had bought some of the stock.

Miss Lulu Small, the stenographer in Ellis's office, who was examined last Tuesday, was heard again yesterday. She said she had drawn up the constitution and by-laws of the Blue Ridge Mining Company.

Booker T. Washington Sees Gaynor.

Booker T. Washington called on Mayor Gaynor yesterday with Charles W. Anderson, the negro Collector of Internal Revenue, and asked him to address the convention of negro business men which will be held in this city in August. The Mayor told them that he would do so if in town at the time. He has not yet made his vacation plans.

Magistrate Commends Whitman.

Magistrate House wrote to District Attorney Whitman yesterday applauding the new system which places a prosecuting officer in each of the Magistrates's Courts. It has been found to work to the interest of all concerned, expediting the court business, and condensing the material that must be sent to the Grand Jury.

CONEY RIDE LOSES LICENSE.

Rough Rider, on Which 17 Were Hurt, Is Called Unsafe.

Francis V. S. Oliver, Jr., a Commissioner of Licenses, inspected the Rough Rider Coaster at Jones's Walk and the Bowery, Coney Island, yesterday Afterward Commissioner Oliver left a memorandum for Capt. Michael Galvin of the Coney Island Police stating that the license of the Sea View Amusement Company to operate the roller coaster on which an accident in which seventeen persons were injured occurred early early yesterday morning was suspended.

Commissioner Oliver said he did not believe the structure was safe and added that he would withhold permission to operate the coaster until such time as its fitness and safety might be determined officially.

John Thatcher, Brooklyn Superintendent of Buildings, and Chief Inspector Matthew Kennedy also inspected the coaster. They stated that there was a great probability that the accident of yesterday morning had been due to reckless operation of the wrecked cars. They said that many of the operators of cars on roller coasters at Coney Island were inclined to speed them beyond the limit of safety. Supt. Thatcher and Inspector Kennedy visited all the other roller coasters and scenic railways in the Coney Island territory and found that they were all in a safe condition, so they said.

Four of the victims of yesterday's accident were still in the Coney Island Hospital last night. None of the four was in a dangerous condition, it was said. Manuel de Cola of 620 Sixty-second Street, Brooklyn; Richard Reddemacher, Theresa Ericson of 353 Chauncey Street, Brooklyn, and Minnie Colbalt of 291 Marion Street, Brooklyn, are those who are still in the hospital.

WARRANT FOR A MAGISTRATE.

Servers Looking for Higginbotham Under Order of the Surrogate.

Because of his failure to obey an order of the court a warrant of attachment and arrest was issued yesterday for Magistrate E. Gaston Higginbotham by Surrogate Ketcham of Brooklyn. It is in connection with the estate of the late J. A. Dorsez, of whose will Mr. Higginbotham was the executor. It is charged that the Magistrate neglected to pay over money due.

So far as could be learned last night the warrant was not served. It was believed that the Magistrate would present himself before Surrogate Ketcham this morning. The Magistrate could not be found at any of his usual haunts in Brooklyn last night. He did not appear in the Bedford Avenue Court, where he is sitting, yesterday morning. Magistrate O'Reilly was there in his place.

It was the second time within a few days that the Magistrate had offended a court. On Tuesday he failed to respond to a subpoena to testify in a case before County Judge Humphrey in Queens, and the Judge threatened to issue a warrant for him for contempt of court. Later, however, Magistrate Higginbotham appeared and explained that he had made a mistake as to the date of the trial. Judge Humphrey accepted the explanation.

An amended order of the Surrogate, dated April 9, 1909, required Higginbotham, as executor of the Dorsez estate, to pay $294.60 to Eli P. Moniot, administrator under the will of the late Annie L. Moniot, an heir of Mr. Dorsez. When it was represented to the Surrogate that Mr. Higginbotham had not obeyed the court's order the warrant of attachment and arrest was authorized.

We thank you for your appreciation of our efforts to serve you honestly and well, and again assure you that our guarantee of satisfaction protects any purchase you make during this sale just as fully as if you paid the regular price.
